Gordon Melvin Takes Charge of Chalmers' Presbyterian Church.

Rev. J. W. Graham. M. A., of Toront

Rev. J. W. Graham, M. A., of Toronto, who was assistant secretary of the Educational Society of the Methodist Church during Dr. Potta' time, and who succeeded him as General Secretary, was in Hamilton yesterday conducting educational Society in the morning he preached in First Methodist Church, and in the evening in Simcos Street Church. Large congregations are present at both Mr. Graham is a goverful speaker and presented the claims of the Educational Society in an able and interesting way, incidentally laying stress upon missions as well and generally convincing the people of the two churches that the mantle of Dr. Potts haid fallen upon worthy shoulders. In speaking upon national building and the need of national education, he said that the churches, in a large measure, are deepening lines while, the should are depening lines while, the should are depening lines while, the should are depending and the need of national education, he said that the churches, in a large measure, are deepening lines while, the should are depending to the community of the schools while the community of the schools of the part of the proper of the schools of the part of the public schools because it would be come of the nation if the very book was to be baniched from the curriculum of the schools of the schools of the public schools properly guided are the best thing in our land.

Graham said: There is one thing we, as a church should do. We should have a residence for our young men in every university city in the land—a home where our young men, 400 at Toronto University this year, can dwell together. Then we want a theological school near the provincial university. There was a time when parents were afraid to send their sons to the universities for fearthey would come back drunkards, but thank God that time has passed, and now I have heard of parents expressing a fear about sending their boys and girls too, to our colleges lest they, in a few years, should be going into the foreign mission fields.

Mr. Graham made a very strong plea for trained preachers, trained teachers and trained missionaries and gave a brief outline of the work being done by Victoria University, Mount Allison, Wesleyan Theological College, Wesley University at Winnipeg, Alberta College at Edmonton, Columbian College at New Westminster, and Albert College. He mentioned, incidentally, the winning of Rhodox Scholarships and of many other scholastic honors by boys of the Methodist Colleges, and also told about the new system adopted for helping students by sending them out as paid missionaries in the summer months to enable them to earn enough to put them them the money. This year the department will require $44,000 from the various circuits where it got only $27,000 last year.

Wesley Sunday School.

The celebration of the 66th anniversary of the Sunday school of Wesley Church was held yesterday, morning, afternoon and evening. There was a very large attendance of the congregation and scholars of the Sunday school, and the proceedings were bright and instructive. Rev. A. E. Lavell, of Niagara Falls, occupied the pulpit at the morning and evening services, and Rev. I. Couch and Rev. Dr. Nelson spoke at the afternoon session.

At the morning service the entire Sun At the morning service the entire Sunday school occupied the centre pews. Rev. Mr. Lavell confined his remarks almost totally to the younger portion of the school, and his clear, simple, and forceful remarks were easily understood. By means of a number of illustrations, which he drew himself, Mr. Lavell brought out the meaning of his text in a very interesting manner. His text was: "Blessed are they that do hunger and thirst after righteousness, for they shall be filled."

and thirst after righteouaness, for they shall be filled."

Rev. Mr. Couch spoke in a very instructive strain to the children at the afternoon open meeting, which was held in the church. He took as his subject a watch, and then divided the word to make each letter represent something that would apply to daily life. For the letter "W" Mr. Couch asked the children to watch their words, and see that they are always kind words and not ugly, disagreeable words that would likely cause anger. For the letter "A" he advised them to watch their actions. The letter "I" called for them to watch their actions. The letter "I" called for them to watch their thoughts, and to see that only pure thoughts were in their minds. If a bad thought crept in, its influence would spread to others and be disastrous. For the letter "C" Mr. Couch asked the school to watch their character, as it was the most important thing in one's life. The letter "H" called for them to watch their honor.

Rev. Dr. Nelson congratulated the school on its attainment of the 86th anniversary, and said he considered it an honor to speak before such an old established school. In a short address, Dr. Nelson spoke of the necessity of keeping our lives clean and to be gentle and kind at all times, that everyone might be honored among each other.

The church was filled at the evening service to hear Rev. Mr. Lavell. He dealt with the life of Peter, contending that he did not comprehend the power and the renounced Him. Peter was a good man at heart, as was shown by his great works after Jesus had assenced to heaven, but the, trouble lay in the fact that he had been brought up under the strict Jewish doctrine. In referring to the Sunday school work, Mr. Lavell laid particular emphasis on the need of the parents to assist the teachers in the Sunday school. He contended that the theological world was undergoing a greater change than in the days of Martin Luther. There is nothing that will hold the boy and girl of to-day to the faith of Jesus Christ like a clear, intelligent appeal to them to accept the religion of Jesus Christ.

During the offertory Miss Estelle Carey sang with admirable expression, "Th: Shepherd of the Fold," by Barnard.

This evening the anniversary enter-tainment is being held in the church. It is given by the scholars of the Sunday school.

But there was sufficient revelation to serve them in this life. They knew of sin that dragged them down, and if their eyes were opened they knew of saving grace.

Mr. Melvin is a good speaker. He preached a fine sermon, and will no doubt be able to do much good on the mountain top.

To-night, Prof. McKellar, the well-known phrenologist, will give a lecture on phrenology in the church, which will likely attract a crowd.

Grenfell, Sask., Nov. 24.—The inquest following the death of Robert Braithwaite, who was fatally wounded by Corporal Dann, of the Mounted Police, while resisting arrest, was concluded here yesterday. Evidence showed that Braithwaite had fired three times at the policemen, as they were approaching him. Afterwards he barricaded himself in the house, and was deliberately aiming at Constable Moses, who accompanied Corporal Dann, when the latter shot Braithwaite, inflicting a wound from which he died a few hours later.

The Coroner's jury returned a verdict to the effect that Dann had fired in solf-defence while performing his duty.

At the last regular meeting of the Guelph Trades and Labor Council a resolution was passed, to be forwarded to the Government, condemning the bonuses now paid to various societies in the old country for the encouragement of emigrants.

to higher things through teaching them how to help those who could not help themselves, and in doing so their sympathies were broadened, and they were obeying the command of God. The highest type of goodness was that which placed men at the service of their fellows.

Because of the high purposes of the order he felt honored by their presence and extended to them a hearty welcome on behalf of the officials and himself. His purpose was to speak on the origin, principles and aims of the order, as amnounced by its founder. Its principles embraced the purest and sincerest motives that men could have. These were to wait at the bedside of the sick to comfort the dying, to help the needy and sustain the orphan and the widow. These were spoken by the founder of the order at Washington, and he made friendship its keynote. Aristotle said friendship was the ideal of the individual life, and if this were taken into the hearts of men many of the problems of the day would at once be settled. One could not read the classic story of Demon and Pythias without being thrilled by the beautiful friendship of these men. Selfishness was false to nature and to history, and society refuted it, It was man's duty to give and to serve, and the members of the Knights of Pythias should rejoice that they had the opportunity of disseminating these principles. The men who loved and should rejoice that they had the op-portunity of disseminating these principles. The men who loved and served received a blessing better than life could give, and it seemed as though the garment of Christ had touched them. True friendship was stronger than death. God meant all men to be friends and had established numberless relations between men, but of life.

Mr. Russell then spoke on the limitations of friendship. Each person, he said, had his own path to follow, his own burdens to bear, and these raised barriers that his fellows could not pass. Friendly intercourse could not be permanent because death interveged and the human heart had a relationship which could not be met by man. God only could enter there, and He was the friend of all who took Him into their hearts.

THREAT TO BLOW UP HOUSE

Resident of St. Lambert Finds Letter

Mailed to Verandah-post.

Montreal, Nov. 25.—One of the prominent citizens of St. Lambert found a slip of paper nailed to his verandah post on Saturday night on which was written a threat to blow up the house with nitro-glycerine. The citizen was blamed for informing on a band of robbers who were captured there last Sunday, and the communication is thought to be from one of the band. The matter has been turned over to the police, and a close watch is being kept on the movements of strangers around St. Lambes.

Kenora, Nov. 23.—O. P. Ross, engaged at rock contracting work for the C. P. R. Telegraph Company, was instantly killed by a dynamite explosion some miles west of Ingolf, Ont., this morning. The unfortunate man was loading a hole with powder, when the explosion unexpectedly occurred. Deceased was some twenty-six years of age and unmarried.

man has once gone down in the social scale to the lowest strata, it is then that he needs the symapthy of kind friends to throw about him the manule of chartity and in some way be a help for him to get on his feet again, and to ever show forth the spirit of forgivenesas to those who have rallen into sin and disgrace. In speaking of the criminal classes in Canada he showed that the methods adopted in our prisons were a stimulus to improve the lives of those in them. They have trades, industries, and educational and religious training, all of which have a distinctive helpfulness in making men and women better. He spoke of the encouragement that should be given to criminals on their release from the prison life, not the "frosty mit." as the criminals call it. The speaker pointed out the good done through the parole system, which many thoughtlessly were inclined not to favor. When a person is given a ten-year sentence, he may be released in seven years, or on a five-year sentence in three years. During eight years 1,645 were out on parole, and of this number only thirty-two had been sent back to prison, showing that only two per cent, of this large number had been returned, which speaks well for the parole system. The child question, said the speaker, is one that should interest our minds and hearts. The neglected children get much of their education on the streets. They are given their own way, because their parents are lax in requiring obedience. There is always danger ahead to the parents who have no control over their boys and girls when duty demands it, so that evil tendencies may be controlled. He gave illustrations of the interest of self-preservation and of the noble impulse of self sacrifice. The true Christian takes his life into home and duty.

CONVENT SCHOOL BURNED.

Two Hours After School Was Dismissed Building Was Found in Flames.

Belleville, Nov. 24.—The Convent School, the chief Roman Catholic school in this city, was gutted by fire this evening. It was used as a Sunday school for the children of St. Michael's Church, and this afternoon the classes met as use. 19. When they left at 4 o'clock things were apparently all right, but shortly before 6 fire broke out. In about two hours the building was completely gutted. The loss will be between $20,000 and $25,000, with an imsurance of $7,500.

It is reported that the fire started from the furnace, but the authorities say the furnace was first class. The school, while controlled by the separate school trustees, was in charge of the Sisters of Loretta Convent.

Dear Sir,-I believe that it is the inention of the Waterworks Committee to bring in a by-law again on Monday evening meeting of the City Council pretty much on the same lines as before. I would like to submit a few reasons why it should not pass without considerable modifications, If manufacturers are to receive water at 8½ cents per 1,000 gals. There should be considerable reduction to household users, the great majority whom at least are paying four times that price. The great majority of the manufacturers are also enjoying special privileges in fixed or reduced assessment, whereas the great majority of houses are assessed to their full value. I have before me a water rates paper of Toronto upon a dwelling that is assessed at $3,500; rates are payable half yearly.
