

New York, Sept. 18.

Steamship City of Boston with Liverpool dates the 7th arrived last night.

The Marlborough head holders had a meeting in London on the 4th inst.

The Liverpool Post points out that the trade between the Mersey and the Southern ports has resumed its activity.

Five of the leaders in the recent Fenian demonstration at Black Road, near Dundalk, have been committed for trial at the assizes without privilege of the French.

The Emperor and the Empress of Spain, and the King and Queen of Spain, were about to exchange visits to the Sultan of Morocco.

There is no other news of interest this m. A large fire in this city last night destroyed property to the amount of several hundred thousand dollars.

The defence of Wirtz continues in a day or two. He has summoned over a 100 witnesses.

Steamship Damascus with dates to the 6th inst. has passed Fair Point.

The annual meeting of the British Association for the advancement of science had commenced its meetings in Birmingham.

The Paris Patrie says a monument is to be built at Portsmouth to commemorate the visit of the French fleet.

Harvest in England has been nearly completed. Weather dry and hot.

Advice from Mexico to August 30th, states that military operations will be actively resumed in October.

The second annual gathering of the Antioch Highland Society comes off at that place on Thursday, the 28th inst.

Official news from the Republican Government of Mexico indicates the determination of President Juarez not to leave that country.

The Paris correspondent of the Liverpool Courrier, under date of Aug. 1st writes: "Within the last few days I have had the opportunity of visiting some of the principal sea bathing places on the Norman coast."

The public debt of Canada now amounts to twenty-eight millions of dollars.

Two deserters from the company of soldiers now stationed here, were caught at Sorris on Thursday last and conveyed to town.

Mr. J. B. Blake continues to supply the market with good meat. Last Friday he had a carcass of veal from a five weeks old calf weighing 150 lbs.

The Police ought to prevent the side-walk in front of Mr. T. O'Connell's shop being obstructed every night by a crowd of noisy fellows who insult people passing along and annoy those in the neighborhood.

The second annual gathering of the Antioch Highland Society comes off at that place on Thursday, the 28th inst.

PUBLIC WHARVES.

The public wharves for themselves either or not all these gentlemen can be strictly regarded as public men.

The Islands, in its very adoption of a "cocked hat," and bright buttons, intimates that it would be better to reserve Queen Street Wharf, whereat "an Admiral or any Officer of Her Majesty's Navy" might land when visiting Charlotte-town.

The Islands, in its very adoption of a "cocked hat," and bright buttons, intimates that it would be better to reserve Queen Street Wharf, whereat "an Admiral or any Officer of Her Majesty's Navy" might land when visiting Charlotte-town.

There are any where in Charlotte-town a public wharf? Is there any slip or landing-place to which an Admiral or any Officer of Her Majesty's Navy might land when visiting Charlotte-town?

In reply, we ask, what is Prince Street Wharf?—and does it not contain a slip or landing-place? Both these queries must, we think, be answered.

Wheatley River, Sept. 10, 1865. A TROUTER.

The Herald.

Wednesday, September 27, 1865.

INTER-COLONIAL DRUNK.

The St. John Telegraph contains an article on the "Inter-colonial drunk," to which the public men of the Maritime Provinces have been lately invited, which is too good to be lost.

The "Inter-colonial drunk," to which the public men of the Maritime Provinces have been lately invited, which is too good to be lost.

"The one perhaps we should say the very few persons who will accept the invitation of the Montreal officials, need not be at a loss in conjecturing the character of the entertainment arranged for them.

"The one perhaps we should say the very few persons who will accept the invitation of the Montreal officials, need not be at a loss in conjecturing the character of the entertainment arranged for them.

"The one perhaps we should say the very few persons who will accept the invitation of the Montreal officials, need not be at a loss in conjecturing the character of the entertainment arranged for them.

"The one perhaps we should say the very few persons who will accept the invitation of the Montreal officials, need not be at a loss in conjecturing the character of the entertainment arranged for them.

"The one perhaps we should say the very few persons who will accept the invitation of the Montreal officials, need not be at a loss in conjecturing the character of the entertainment arranged for them.

"The one perhaps we should say the very few persons who will accept the invitation of the Montreal officials, need not be at a loss in conjecturing the character of the entertainment arranged for them.

"The one perhaps we should say the very few persons who will accept the invitation of the Montreal officials, need not be at a loss in conjecturing the character of the entertainment arranged for them.

"The one perhaps we should say the very few persons who will accept the invitation of the Montreal officials, need not be at a loss in conjecturing the character of the entertainment arranged for them.

"The one perhaps we should say the very few persons who will accept the invitation of the Montreal officials, need not be at a loss in conjecturing the character of the entertainment arranged for them.

"The one perhaps we should say the very few persons who will accept the invitation of the Montreal officials, need not be at a loss in conjecturing the character of the entertainment arranged for them.

"The one perhaps we should say the very few persons who will accept the invitation of the Montreal officials, need not be at a loss in conjecturing the character of the entertainment arranged for them.

"The one perhaps we should say the very few persons who will accept the invitation of the Montreal officials, need not be at a loss in conjecturing the character of the entertainment arranged for them.

"The one perhaps we should say the very few persons who will accept the invitation of the Montreal officials, need not be at a loss in conjecturing the character of the entertainment arranged for them.

"The one perhaps we should say the very few persons who will accept the invitation of the Montreal officials, need not be at a loss in conjecturing the character of the entertainment arranged for them.

"The one perhaps we should say the very few persons who will accept the invitation of the Montreal officials, need not be at a loss in conjecturing the character of the entertainment arranged for them.

"The one perhaps we should say the very few persons who will accept the invitation of the Montreal officials, need not be at a loss in conjecturing the character of the entertainment arranged for them.

"The one perhaps we should say the very few persons who will accept the invitation of the Montreal officials, need not be at a loss in conjecturing the character of the entertainment arranged for them.

"The one perhaps we should say the very few persons who will accept the invitation of the Montreal officials, need not be at a loss in conjecturing the character of the entertainment arranged for them.

He then rose, speech being unnecessary, and came to the usual dignified walk into the open air, receding towards the fire, and sat down upon a log, smoking his pipe. In a few minutes the Indian maiden came tripping lightly upon the ground, and took her seat beside the young warrior, who, after a few minutes given to attention to her, which she still made with a look of nature, and began chatting and whispering like any other lover in any other part of the world.

He knew that his presence might excite the spite of the girl and child, and bring about, in fact, catastrophes of the worst character.

To cross the camp unobserved was an equally futile attempt.

To crawl behind the wigwags, and when at the last one made a dash for the gate of the village, was to bring the whole party of yelling red-skins screaming and infuriated at his heels, when the affair would become a snare of witnesses and rapidity of movement.

Custogua determined, therefore, to try a plan which, from its combined boldness and simplicity, promised success. It was, indeed, the only one likely to give him a fair start.

Watching the careless slouching gait of a warrior who wanders about simply because he cannot sleep, he left the hut as if he had been one of them, and walked along the path which, leading from the hut to the tent, passed between the two fires and led to the gate.

It was unusual for a warrior, at that hour of the night, to go forth, and the guard of the village, who was posted at the gate, turned towards the right nor the left, but his keen perception and a slight glance from the corner of his eye, as it were, told him he was being followed.

"If one of our camp, or do evil dreams trouble my brother that he goes out to cast them forth in the woods!"

Custogua made no reply, moving forward; his head on his breast, as it were, but facing he was discovered.

The Indian bounded forward and took up a post exactly in front of him.

"Who is this? He is a stranger—why does he leave the wigwags of the Shawnee? Surely my brother will not walk to the woods without his blanket?"

"I am Custogua of the Eagle Eye," replied the Wyandot, raising his hand.

"Ugh!" said the Shawnee, who well knew the reputation of the other as a huntman and a shot.

They looked at each other; they had once been friends as boys, Custogua having passed many months with the Shawnees in better times.

"Come to the wigwag of Tecumseh," said the warrior courteously.

"Custogua is a law-breaker and a murderer," replied the Wyandot, coldly.

"Why does my brother visit his old friends like a wolf in the night, and creep away before the morning dawn of his sin and why is my brother in his waistcoat?"

"Remember the Shawnee has done, however, to me, what I have done to you; a squaw will make red and white the redskins.

With these words he darted forward, caught the astonished redskin by the waist, and with a great force to the earth, and dashed up the slope where his rifle lay concealed.

"Ugh!" said the Indian, rising, while the girl slipped away in the confusion.

At this time a dozen armed young men were round the disgraced warrior, who, pointing in the direction of the fugitive, remained to give an explanation to the rest of the tribe of what had passed.

They were the best of the tribe, and they were the best of the tribe, and they were the best of the tribe.

CORRESPONDENCE.

VILLAINOUS CONDUCT OF THE DEPUTY SHERIFF OF QUEEN'S COUNTY.

To the Editor of the Herald.

SIR,—For your information and that of your numerous readers, I propose giving an authentic account of the villainous conduct of the Deputy Sheriff and staff of three men, one of whom had been completely disabled from an accident last winter, and was, for the first time, coming from Charlotte-town, after being to a doctor.

The other two, as well as the constable, are known by all to be most offensive and malicious persons, which is clearly proved by their time submission to an attack as brutal as that of Curtis', who acted well the part of a gentleman in his assistance.

The circumstances are these: Curtis being the party in question, viz., Donald Stewart, Jr., Alex. Campbell, and Alex. Russell, at about Mr. Kelly's Seven Stars Inn, for the express purpose, it would seem, of spicing quarrel with them, he requested them to purchase of a treat of the medicinal beverage which is palatable to all.

After the party being served by the drunken staff of Curtis and staff, the former proceeded homeward, and were overtaken and passed on the road by the latter. When the inoffensive party reached the Sheriff's gate on Malaga Road, there stood the two Indians, with loaded guns in their hands, and a constable holding the inn's head, commanding the party to go to the gate, or the penalty to be paid was to be chopped.

This was confirmed by an oath which came freely from the Deputy Sheriff, and he was soon bound by the inn's head, and was ordered and party to go in ahead of him. Next he ordered and party to go in ahead of him. Next he ordered and party to go in ahead of him.

their moment nese, congre reach of Paal keeps them a but at Londoe communicatio

At Haufea crowdedly fat the sea at fifth, bathing man would as ceals. It is at the latter the who thought i ceastful of his showery class of assembled. I course, are the much on acco lines, which a the "loud" colle blue, some all nation of every hiis

There are gamin French are mor and, excepting l—none play is roots nor extirpate opinion of many gaming in Par

ARRIVAL OF V Saturday last, at ing the flag of Vi arrived in our h now in the w weather being from attending D as 11 o'clock, the

The Admiral a visited the Prov and remaining in Honor the Admi they spent a few early departure on Tuesday, and accompanied the Prov College, and Gov of which he ex afternoon was de left for Ha

CHARLOTTETOWN ON Thursday, Sept. 27, 1865. Not much news. HALIFAX, N. S. ed. P. E. Island ST. JOHN, N. I. Potatoes per bush Mess Pork $22 a BOSTON, U. S. 61c. Pork, prime mess $15.00 a market. BALEY NEW YORK, S. a 534. Barley per bush $32.50 a Potatoes per buh.

On Thursday, Sept. 22, p.m. At Goose River, the 25th of Mr. McDonald, Foster ton and virtuous that caught up and six children, to seven on steps

At Charlotte-town, on Wednesday, Sept. 22, p.m. At the Parsons, Rev. W. Dyer, M. Williams, Rev. A. A. Cole, third c. nsh.

At St. John, N. the bride's father, ham, E. C. Mr. F. J. second St. John.

On Wednesday, Sept. 22, p.m. At the Parsons, Rev. W. Dyer, M. Williams, Rev. A. A. Cole, third c. nsh.

At St. John, N. the bride's father, ham, E. C. Mr. F. J. second St. John.

On Thursday, Sept. 22, p.m. At the Parsons, Rev. W. Dyer, M. Williams, Rev. A. A. Cole, third c. nsh.

At St. John, N. the bride's father, ham, E. C. Mr. F. J. second St. John.

On Thursday, Sept. 22, p.m. At the Parsons, Rev. W. Dyer, M. Williams, Rev. A. A. Cole, third c. nsh.

At St. John, N. the bride's father, ham, E. C. Mr. F. J. second St. John.

On Thursday, Sept. 22, p.m. At the Parsons, Rev. W. Dyer, M. Williams, Rev. A. A. Cole, third c. nsh.

At St. John, N. the bride's father, ham, E. C. Mr. F. J. second St. John.

On Thursday, Sept. 22, p.m. At the Parsons, Rev. W. Dyer, M. Williams, Rev. A. A. Cole, third c. nsh.

At St. John, N. the bride's father, ham, E. C. Mr. F. J. second St. John.

On Thursday, Sept. 22, p.m. At the Parsons, Rev. W. Dyer, M. Williams, Rev. A. A. Cole, third c. nsh.

At St. John, N. the bride's father, ham, E. C. Mr. F. J. second St. John.

On Thursday, Sept. 22, p.m. At the Parsons, Rev. W. Dyer, M. Williams, Rev. A. A. Cole, third c. nsh.