

THE CHINESE AS CONQUERORS.

Since we drew attention in these columns to the strange revulsion of energy in an empire...

The successful result of the invasion of Kashgaria has at length brought the Chinese...

We are now confronted with Chinese, in addition to Russian aggression, and we cannot fail to recognize the fact that while on her seaboard China assumes towards us a friendly attitude...

But we have now to consider the chances of an overflowing Mongol population discharging itself wherever a sufficiently attractive outlet may be found...

As we cannot rely on international good faith, or the forbearance of those of our neighbors who may at any time recognize our opportunity to take advantage of our weakness in speculating upon their powers of mischief...

THE INDIAN TROOPS AT MALTA.

The days of magic, we are assured, have gone by, otherwise it would certainly be believed that the magician of old, who troubled Aladdin and his palace with a change of situation...

The native troops cannot be otherwise than gratified at the reception they have experienced at the hands of the English troops in Malta. The first ship especially which entered the harbor...

Great care is taken by the Indians troops to remove the false impressions they conceive to be abroad concerning them. But one of the illustrious visitors could not have exactly created his intended impression when, visiting the Black Watch in Fort Manoel...

So after all Lord Dufferin is not to remain in Canada. Rumor has it that on his return to England he will be created a Marquis. With his learning, his large knowledge of Colonial affairs...

THE FAMINE IN CHINA.

From the London Times we find the following with regard to the Chinese famine...

The famine seems now to be at its worst. The impoverished country consists of the greater part of the Province of Shansi, part of Szechwan, Western Chihli, Western Szechuan, and the northern districts of Honan...

We mentioned in my last that the heated term was upon us. Alas! for poor sweeling humanity it is here yet, and shows no indication to bid us adieu...

On Tuesday afternoon a violent rain-storm, accompanied by heavy thunder and lightning, and again yesterday afternoon heavy showers of rain, followed by cooler westerly winds...

In the Prefecture in which the capital or Shanyi is situated the population has diminished from over one million to 100,000, and the number of people who have died of starvation...

The utility of machinery. The following is translated from a paper published in France by M. Menier, entitled "The Tax on Capital, furnishes some suggestive facts for the consideration of those who are questioning the utility of machinery..."

A phenomenon. If anybody wants to live long, he must not be too much of it. He must not be too fat. He must not be too rich. He must not be too powerful. He must not be too ambitious.

It is stated by the authority that Hon. E. B. Chandler is a long and honorable career in Provincial politics and a three-severed respect. Many years above the three-severed and ten, he is yet as hale and active as most men of sixty.
