

A MADMAN'S TERRIBLE ACTS
—SEVERAL PERSONS SHOT BY HIM.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 2.—Henry C. Neal, of Troy, N. Y., ran through the streets here this morning naked, shooting at everyone he met, mortally wounding two and dangerously wounding three other persons. Neal, who is a young grocer's clerk, and never regarded as quite sane, roomed at No. 262 South Clark Street with Rodrick Fagin, a cook. This morning, at one o'clock, he awoke, waked Fagin up with "Help me, protect my wife and children," placing the revolver by Fagin's ear and fired, the ball entering the brain. He then started down stairs in his undershirt, caught the night watchman, William Springfield, threw him around and fired, the ball entering midway between the shoulder blades and passing through the body. Neal fell down the last flight of stairs, and hurt and bleeding he went into the street, running north. At the first corner he caught hold of William Johnson, colored, shot him in the breast over the heart, holding the weapon so close as to burn his coat. He then ran up Polk street and into the Rock Island freight depot, shot Thomas Flynn the flagman in the neck, and John Wolf, the night clerk, in the breast. He rushed out of the depot, and in turning the corner ran into the policeman Boutil. Both men were knocked down by the collision. Boutil grappled with the maniac, who succeeded in firing the last shot, emptying the revolver without effect. Boutil shot him in the neck, and he was captured and sent to the hospital.

TRAIN ROBBERS.

An attempt was made to throw Wednesday's east-bound express from the track, near Colfax, California, for the purpose of robbery. A rail was removed and two engines and one car thrown from the track. When the engine left the track, the fireman, upon jumping to the ground, was confronted by a man with a shot-gun, who ordered him not to move or give an alarm. At the same time the man presented his gun at the express messenger, opened the door of the express-car and ordered him to surrender. At this time the highwaymen, supposed to be five or six in number, became alarmed and started to run in the bush, leaving lanterns, masks, cartridges, Hercules powder, fuse, axes, sledges, picks, etc.

Liver Complaint and Indigestion.
Dear Sir,—My business has been that of an engraver and cutter in wood. Owing to confinement to ill-ventilated rooms my health gradually declined when I was unable to prosecute my business. At this time I was suffering from great prostration of strength, extreme indigestion and disordered liver. My usual weight was 135 lbs but I had become so much emaciated that I weighed but 109 lbs. In the early part of May last I commenced using the Peruvian Syrup and almost immediately felt its tonic and invigorating influence. In the course of four months I used four bottles. My weight is the day 149 lbs. I have neither liver complaint nor indigestion, but consider myself in a perfect health and in good spirits. James Moore No 43 Pleasant St. Sold by all druggists. REST AND COMFORT TO THE SUFFERING
Brown's Household Panacea has no equal for relieving pain, both internal and external. It cures pain in the side, back or bowels, sore throat, rheumatism, toothache, lumbago and any kind of pain or ache. It will most surely relieve the blood, and has as its soothing power is wonderful. Brown's Household Panacea, being acknowledged as the great pain reliever, and of double the strength of any other Elixer or Liniment in the world, should be in every family handy for use when wanted, as it really is the best remedy in the world for cramps in the stomach and pains and sores of all kinds and is for sale by all druggists at 25c per bottle.

How Wistar's Balsam cures.
From Seymour Hatcher, M. D., of Herman, N. Y.

"WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY gives a liberal satisfaction. It seems to cure a cough by loosening and cleansing the lungs, and allaying irritation, thus removing the cause, instead of drying up the cough and leaving the cause behind. I consider the balsam the best cough medicine with which I am acquainted." 50 cents, and $1 a bottle. Sold by all druggists.

A simple, pure, harmless remedy, that cures every time, and prevents disease by keeping the blood pure, stomach regular, kidneys and liver active, is the greatest blessing ever conferred upon man. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is the only medicine being used by thousands who have been cured by it, and who try it

Mr. Blake in Chatham.

A Gigantic Collapse.

NO ENTHUSIASM, NO CHEERS.
A CRIT WATERLOO BY THEIR OWN ARMS.

MR. BLAKE'S SPEECH.

We shall endeavour now as we promised in our last, to lay Mr. Blake's leading points before our readers adding to each point a note of our own. After Mr. Burchill had finished reading the address Mr. Blake began— He said he was thankful for the personal allusions made to him in the address, and expressed the pleasure he felt at addressing such a fine audience as those assembled around him. He said his voice was not very strong, but he would do his best to make himself heard. He said he had to talk upon an important matter, one that concerned every one who listened to him, just as much as it concerned him.

[Yes, but is not Mr. Blake looking for a premiership?] He said it was his business there to keep his mouth open for an hour or so, and it was the business of the audience to keep their shut. [This is the eighth time Mr. Blake has repeated this joke in the Maritime Provinces. The joke comes down from the time of Swift.] He then stated what he conceived to be the people's duty in informing themselves intelligently on the public questions of the day, thinking for themselves and going to the bottom of the questions before them, and when they go the polls, voting on their intelligent convictions. He likewise discoursed with happy ease, and logical accuracy on the principles of responsible government, and what constituted it from the elector up to the elect, and after subscribing to the hoary doctrines of the old Free Trade schools said we were now engaged in this country in a struggle for freedom, not of religious or personal freedom, but of

FREEDOM OF PROPERTY.

The greatest attribute of value of all these things which we are engaged in producing from year to year is their power of being exchanged for these things which we do not produce, but which we yet require. Any limitation which is not required for governmental purposes upon that freedom of exchange is unquestionably a restriction injurious to the individual whose right is restricted, and those who propound to a free people a policy of restriction must be asked to give a satisfactory ground why that liberty, which but for the law proposes to be enacted would exist, should be restrained. I want you to recollect that a protective law which is really a protective law is a law designed to prevent us from doing what we will with our own, to prevent us from trading where we otherwise would trade, and from purchasing from the person in the market, the article we would purchase if we were free to purchase where we chose.

[This is the doctrine of Bright and Cobden, and of John Stewart Mill, as regards countries in their manhood. This principle is correct enough, applied to a country whose manufacturers are rival those in a neighbour state, but Mill who is the philosopher of Free Trade says that he will not deny that protection in an infant state of ample natural agents is good. Mr. Blake
