This little incident is only one of the many which are often of nightly occurrence on the western front, says the London Sphere, which writes: - "The British have surprised and carried a German trench; some of the enemy are only half awake and unprepared as our men come surging over the parapet. A few offer desperate resistance, but the majority hlod up their bands with the usual cry of "Kamerad." A bursting star shell throws its vivid light over the scene as the visitors help a wounded German over the parapet. The officer switches on his electric torch and discovers another "Kamerad" lying on the bottom of the trench.

spent quite an inconsiderable time in talking, and if the war should end by next late spring or summer New Brunswick will be ready with her scheme. Can any other part of the Empire say that?

How the Scheme Works

Setting to work at once, the Provincial Government established an Advisory Settlement Board, which was soon about the country looking for the land most suitable for the purpose, and in a marvellously short time such land was discovered. Some of us who belong to that very live Empire rendezous, the Royal Colonial Institute, had a little talk the other day with Hon. J. A. Murray, the very able Minister of Agriculture in New Brunswick, and we heard a good deal about this excellent proposition. The scheme briefly," he said, "is the establishment of community settlements to accommodate from one hundred to two hundred and fifty families, depending on the size of the holdings available for each settler will range from 10 100 acres. Part of each let will be cleared and cultivated, and a cheap but comfortable set of buildings crected sufficient for the weeds of the settler for a numbe of years. Ultimately he will build a larger and more permanent home perhaps in corporating in it this trapporary awelling. Fences are to be erected and a water supply provided. Each settlement also lies close along a nailway line, so that nobody will feel too restote or lonely. That has been the cause of many colonization failures in the pact it does not matter living in a quiet place if we are measy reach of the great world closed for the settler for a numbe of years.
