

Churchyard Epitaphs.

As the minds of many are at present occupied with the death of the late Lord Beaconsfield, it will be of interest to some to read an epitaph taken from the churchyard at Highgate. The epitaph is to the memory of John Guy, who died 50 years ago, and who was buried under somewhat extraordinary conditions, as the following lines testify:

THE WORLD OVER.

Mr. James Bethune, Q. C., is off to England to argue a case before the Privy Council. Many old ladies assume the gay dress and manner of young girls. Nothing of them is old except themselves. Archdeacon Murray, of Niagara, states that of the 1,600 children brought out by Miss Rye not three per cent. have gone astray. The law is no respecter of persons. Rev. Josiah Henson (Uncle Tom) drove over Dresden bridge faster than a walk, the other day and Squire Chapple made it three dollars, with costs. New IBERIA, La., June 17.—A negro, arrested for wife-beating, assaulted his wife in Court and knocked over the Magistrate and attacked a constable with a razor. The latter shot the negro dead. Mr. Goldwin Smith thinks Upper Canada college has been superseded by the High Schools, and suggests that it be turned into a college for ladies, with a special course of instruction suited to the requirements of the female sex. Old London has gained 500,311 inhabitants in ten years, and now has a population of 3,814,571. The percentage of increase for the present decade, was in arrears of the preceding one one per cent. Lady Allan, wife of Sir Hugh Allan, died suddenly at Montreal on Saturday night of paralysis of the heart. The deceased lady, whose husband is now in England, had only just returned home from a visit to Niagara. The official return of the damage caused by the recent fire at Quebec gives the number of houses destroyed at 642. Twelve hundred and eleven families, or 6,028 persons in all, have been rendered homeless by the disaster. On Wednesday evening a man named Hill was stopped in London East by a man named Wood, who asked for the settlement of an account. Hill said he had not the money, when Wood snatched a parcel containing dry-goods from the debtor and walked off. Hon. Mr. Mowat has been under medical treatment for a failure of voice, and has made some progress toward recovery. Otherwise his health gives no cause for anxiety. He is in expectation of being able to return to Canada along with Mr. Mackenzie in August. The Presbyterians of Wingham have purchased from Mr. T. Gregory, a lot on Main street, adjoining the residence of ex-Mayor Wilson, on which they will erect a church. The site is a very desirable one price $1,300. Building operations will begin at once. Hon. Mr. Mackenzie, after spending some time in London, has gone north to visit relations in Perthshire and Renfrewshire. It is his intention to sail for Canada by the end of August. He is greatly improved in health. Mr. T. C. Patterson, who has just returned from inspecting the New York postal system, believes Toronto should have more steam letter boxes and more frequent collections, better facilities for sorting on trains, and free trade in the sale of postage stamps. HUSBAND DESERTION.—Lavinia Williams, wife of James Williams, of Listowel, left her husband on June 1st with a man named Truckel, and they have been living here as man and wife for the past week. She was arrested here to-day and lodged in the lock-up, charged with husband desertion. The man Truckel has a wife and six children living in Guilford, Trickett, the Autralian carman has arrived at New York. He states that he expects to remain in this country three or four months, and would run any man in a race except Hanlan. He has not yet been entered for any races, but expects to make engagements shortly. He brought two of his shells with him.

David Bouffard, 60 years of age, hanged himself in his barn in Malben township on June 16. He was missing since noon on the 16th and was found on the morning of the 17th. He had taken a barrel in the left and stood on it, and then kicked the barrel away. Sir John Macdonald anticipates being able to return to Canada by the Allan Line steamer Parisian, which leaves Liverpool on July 21st. It is his intention to stay at the Riviere du Loup until the end of August, when he expects to be robust enough to proceed to Ottawa and resume active political life. Two young men, unmarried, and having money to squander, promised to give a Ladies' Sewing Circle in Frankfort, Ky., $10 if its members would keep absolute silence at its meeting for the space of one hour. The ladies took ten minutes to express, all together, their opinion of these young men, and then resolutely set to work and actually won the money. Edmund Burke and Waller, the poet, both lived in the little town of Beaconsfield, in Buckinghamshire. The portrait of Beaconsfield was first designed by George III. for Burke. The name in Beaconsfield is a modern introduction, and no native ever pronounced the name otherwise than Beckensfield. It is thought that the word has no connection with the site of a beacon, but going much further back, like Oakfield, Ashfield, etc., indicates a clearing in the dense beech woods (beechfeld) which once covered the Chiltern range. A member of the Pennsylvania Legislature named Hardison was fool-hardy enough to say that if he were Speaker he would never allow the house to act as disgracefully as the Speaker, Mr. Hewitt, did. So the other day Hewitt called Hardison to the chair. He had scarcely taken his seat when cat-calls, shouts of derision and loud laughter greeted him on every side; a paper ball struck him in the eye and he called on the Sergeant-at-Arms to help him preserve order. Hewitt was one of the most disorderly. Hardison felt relieved when he was relieved. That was a strong temperance sermon preached by an unfortunate wife in an American city recently to her husband and his chums in a bar-room. Setting a covered dish, which she had brought with her, upon the table, she said: "Presuming, husband, that you are too busy to come home to dinner, I have brought you yours," and departed. With a forced laugh he invited his friend to dine with him; but, on removing the cover from the dish found only a slip of paper, on which was written: "I hope you will enjoy your meal; it is the same your family have at home."

The enterprise and liberality of the American firm which not long ago set on foot a competition of prize designs for Christmas and similar cards, have again provoked English imitation. This year Messrs. Hildesheimer & Faulkner, of London, propose to hold an exhibition which is to be open to all the world, and they especially invite American and Canadian artists to contribute. The designs are to be within the limits of 10 inches by 7 and 5 inches by 3, each in one frame of plain oak, not more than 1 inch wide, and the mount not more than 2 inches in width. There is one prize of $1,000 and one of $750; two other prizes are of $500 each, six of $375, twenty of $250, twenty-five of $125, and fifty of $100. In addition to this, the publishing firm propose purchasing designs to the amount of $7,500. The scope allowed for subjects is quite wide, including figures, landscapes, animals, birds, butterflies, insects, flowers, grasses, leaves, ferns, humorous subjects, and winter subjects adapted to Christmas, Easter, birth-days and valentines. The judges are W. P. Frith, R. A.; J. E. Millais, R. A.; and Marcus Stone, A. R. A. The Montreal Star, in an editorial says:—"The Blue Book containing the reports for 1881 of the chairman of the boards of steamboat inspection, etc., has just been published. We were curious and anxious to see the rating of the ill-fated Steamer Victoria, of London, Ont., at page 118 of the report we read over the name of W. J. Menicelly, steamboat inspector, that her horse power was 8,644, her gross tonnage 43 and her registered tonnage 27 tons. Therefore we had a vessel which would have been fairly filled by 100 persons, carrying about 600. It was highly culpable to even start with such a number on board, and there can be no excuse for the want of knowledge."
