Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—The telegraphic despatches yesterday state that one of the reasons why Newfoundland is not participating in the reciprocity treaty with Spain is because that country cannot make arrangements with regard to the sale of her wines with a country which has a Prohibition Law. I ask, Mr. Editor, why should we be handicapped in selling our fish by the absence of a law which is not enforced and cannot be under present circumstances, at least, in this country. Why lose the substance for a shadow? Spain will not make a treaty with a country whose law prohibits the carrying out in full of that treaty, even though the law, in practice, would not affect the treaty. What guarantee would the Spanish authorities have that a Government would not arise and enforce the law? We know that it will not happen, but how is Spain to know?

It is quite time for us to wake up and have the law put upon a basis that will allow it to be enforced. The following are the only classes of persons who will make any real objection:—(1) The dyed-in-the-wool prohibitionists, including both those whose religion or training has prejudiced them, and those who have personally suffered by abuse of alcoholic beverages on their own part, or that of others; these hang on for dear life to the Prohibition Law, hoping that the time will come when it may be enforced. (2) The drunkard and heavy drinkers, who say "let well enough alone." (3) The Controller, who very naturally fears that any change may weaken his position or curtail the wealth and influence of his department. Would you blame him? (4) The smugglers, whom the excessive duty—ranging from nearly 100% to over 1,000% in the case of spirits alone—encourages to compete with the Controller and undersell him. (5) Those lucky ones who are able to obtain all the liquor they want at very little above cost.

Why should the people of this country receive less for their fish in order that the prejudices of some and the profit of others of the above category should not be interfered with?

Yours truly,

WARWICK SMITH.

Struck off the Rolls.HOW ERRING SOLICITORS ARE PUNISHED.

Many people imagine that "striking a solicitor off the rolls" is merely a figure of speech, and that there are no rolls from which his name can be struck. They are quite wrong. In the office of the Incorporated Law Society, which is the governing body of the solicitors calling, there are several massive volumes in which are written in alphabetical order the names of all qualified solicitors.

These volumes, or rolls, may be inspected by any duly authorized person. When it becomes necessary to remove a name from the rolls a pen is drawn through it, and a marginal note is made to the effect that the name has been "struck off the rolls by order dated so and so."

This simple proceeding records the close of an erring solicitor's career, and for him is fraught with grave possibilities.

When the charge has been formally made—it is usually one of defrauding a client, or some similar form of professional misconduct—a trial is held before a committee of the Incorporated Law Society. This committee consists of not less than three and not more than seven members of the council of the society.

The trial is carried out on the lines of proceedings in the High Court, and the result is actually communicated to the High Court.

If expulsion from the society is recommended, the accused solicitor's outlook is a black one. There is no hope of reinstatement, and he is faced with the terrible prospect of beginning life all over again, most likely in uncongenial work and surroundings.

College Football.

ST. BON'S 2-B.F.C. &

The St. Bon's football team, champions for the season of 1922, defeated the Bishop Field College eleven yesterday afternoon by a score of two goals to all in a game of football that proved highly interesting. Both teams entered the enclosure at 8.30, a half hour earlier than usual. There were no apparent changes in either line-ups, only that Barrett replaced Donnelly at centre forward for St. Bon's, the latter player, who shone during the series being confined to his home owing to illness.

THE GAME.

The St. Bon's defended the western goal in the first half. In the kick-off the leather was confined to mid-field for some minutes, a few sops dashes being exchanged by both sets of forwards, but the shot on goal was very wild, though Barrett for St. Bon's all but scored on one occasion, the ball just grazing the crossbar. The Fieldians enlisted matters and forced the ball in their opponents territory, when Press missed a good chance to score. It was not until after some ten minutes of play that the Green and Gold, by a determined attack, succeeded in scoring, Barrett doing the needful. Play for the balance of the period was of a give and take nature, both goalies putting up a creditable exhibition.

SECOND HALF.

Upon the resumption of hostilities the Fieldians blues kept up a determined attack on the St. Bon's defence lines, but try as they would the ball was always cleared out of danger. Flynn, Halley, and McGrath, for St. Bon's, each putting up a stellar game. The big play was controlled by St. Bon's for some minutes when Gerald Halley from the right wing made a dash west, and passing in a beauty at the opportune time, Fraser shot, Smith cleared but Nikosey dashed in and scored number two from a rebound. The honors were evenly divided during the balance of play. For the Fieldians, Withers, Lloyd and Press made vain efforts to score, but erratic shooting followed. The game ended in favor of St. Bon's by a score of 2 goals to all. The St. Bon's have gone through the season's games without a loss, which makes their championship win all the more creditable. The Fieldians have a splendid aggregation but there are one or two weaknesses in their forward line, which had they been overcome in time would very probably have made the result altogether different. Mr. Eric Churchill, refereed the game to the satisfaction of all.

Wedding Bells.

PARSONS-GUY.

On Wednesday, November 1st, at 7 a.m. a very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Matthew's Church, Bay Roberts, when Miss Gladys Susie, elder daughter of Capt. and Mrs. John Parsons of Bay Roberts, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to William Frederick, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Guy of Carbonara. The bride who looked charming in a brown travelling costume, entered the church leaning on the arm of her father. (The wedding march being ably rendered by Miss M. Fraser.) She was supported by her sister, Ada, and Miss Jennie Guy, sister of the groom, while the groom was supported by Mr. E. J. Weaver. After the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. E. M. Bishop, the bridal party proceeded to Mrs. Dorcas Taylor's where breakfast was served, after which the happy couple entrained for Holyrood where the honeymoon will be spent. The groom's present to the bride was a set of brown furs, to the bridesmaids brooches, and to the best man a set of gold cuff links. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Guy unite in wishing them a long and happy wedded life.—Com.
