The municipal election inquiry was proceeded with at the court house this morning, before Judge Edward Elliott. The morning session was devoted to the taking of evidence from various deputy returning officers and poll nesses had been summoned by Detectives Rider and Egelton, and most of them were in attendance. Those taking part in the inquiry were City Solicitor Meredith, Barristers McEvoy, Judd and Moore, Acting City Clerk Bell and Stenographer Coo. Detective Egelton was in charge of the ballot boxes in an adjoining room. Half a dozen spectators were present.

Squire J. B. Smythe, deputy returning officer at subdivision 1 of ward 1, was the first witness called. He identified the poll-book produced, and swore that to the best of his memory he had handed out 68 mayoralty ballots, while 73 were found in the box. He rejected six of them, two as having forged initials, both marked for Parnell, one uninitialed ballot marked for Beck, one ballot marked for two candidates, and two other ballots un-marked. He also believed seven other ballots to have had forged initials.

To Mr. McEvoy, Squire Smyth said that he had known cases where two ballots would be handed out by acci-dent and the voter would return one. The witness told Mr. Meredith that he was positive that he had given out no ballots that did not bear his sig-nature. W. F. Howell, deputy in No. 3, ward was next called. His poll-book showed that 128 persons had voted, while 133 initialed ballots were found in the box, three of them apparently rejected because unmarked for any candidate. Witness could not remember rejecting any ballots, and could not see why he should do so. He would not, he said, have rejected the three unmarked ballots, because he considered that being unmarked, they were not ballots at all.

Witness told Mr. Meredith that on going home with his ballots on Saturday night he had opened his ballot box, taken out the ballots and initialed with pen and ink what he considered a quantity sufficient to supply all the voters in his division. Nobody but himself saw the ballots.

Witness could not explain to Mr. Meredith the discrepancy between the number of initialed ballots in the box and the number of voters on the poll-book.

Robert J. Southcott, who was deputy returning officer at No. 8, ward 1, swore that to the best of his knowledge the poll-book was properly kept. The poll-book showed 179 names as having voted for mayor while the fied statement of the city clerk showed a poll of 183. The poll clerk called witness' attention to the discrepancy between the number on the poll-book and the number of ballots, and on going over the ballots five were found uninitialed. He did not look for fic-

Witness had no idea that there was going to be trouble in the way of sur-plus ballots. Witness did not open his box till the morning of the election, in the presence of the scrutineers. He did not give any ballots save to qualifled voters. Witness examined half a dozen ballots and pronounced that the initials were not his, still he hesitated to class them as forgeries. To Mr. McEvoy witness said he had received no ballots save those which City Clerk Kingston sent. He did not know that the city clerk recorded the number of ballots given him as 200. and if 231 were found in his box he must have received nine pads of 25 each from the city clerk.

Witness said he was a member of South London Reform Club, but had not been present at a meeting for over a year. He was not present at a meeting when he and other persons were named to be deputies. Poll Clerk James McCormick, of the same division was called and corroborated in the main Mr. Southcott's

James S. Shaw, deputy returning officer in the 9th subdivision of ward 1, followed Mr. McCormick. In his division were found 101 names on the pollbook, while 102 ballots were counted. Witness did not examine the ballots on election night to see if they bore his genuine initials.

Witness, in his evidence, three ballots, which he said did not appear to bear his initials. To Mr. McEvoy, witness said he supposed he got 200 ballots, but by the number found in the box—227—he must have received 225.

Wm. Kennedy, who officiated in the 10th subdivision of ward 1, was next called. He said he had given his poll clerk, Harry Pope, instructions to check off the ballots cast opposite the names of voters. He did not know why the clerk did not do so. The names entered on the poll-book numbered 195. Witness identified all the ballots ounted as bearing his initials. uninitialed ballots were found which had been counted, one marked for Beck and the other for Parnell. plained the surplus of two ballots in the counted vote. Two other ballots were rejected, being marked with two crosses each. Harry Pope, polling clerk, said Mr. Kennedy instructed him to put down the name and addresses of each voter, but did not tell him to check off the ballots taken by each voter. Witness could not say from recollection how many had voted for mayor. At 1 p.m. the inquiry was adjourned for an hour.

the head consul commander. Sovereign were present Sheriff Cameron, Mr. and about one hundred representatives Thomas McCormick, Mr. M. D. Fraser and Mr. J. H. Chapman. The need of a building, complete in its appointments, consisting of large lecture Fitzgerald, of the board of sovereign room, boarding home, gymnasium, lunch room, etc., was presented by the general secretary and indorsed by further developing the work, and meeting the increasing need, felt in every department, in the limited space now at the association's disposal, was also commented upon and the conclusion reached that a new building was most necessary. It was stated that a building properly equipped, would, in the course of a year or two be self-sustaining, Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa being cited as cases where such conditions now exist. Montreal, last year, after paying all expenses, had a surplus of $1,600, and Toronto a surplus of $2,532 58. Brantford with a populaion of only 18,000 had a building cost-with boarding home with a capacity of 32. After an examination of plans of proposed building and discussion of canvass now being made in the city it was unanimously decided to immediately prosecute the canvass as systematically as possible. Mr. W. E. Saunders has kindly consented to act as treasurer of the building fund, and the above-named gentlemen, with others, have consented to act as an advisory board. Already over $3,000 has been promised. A detailed statement of amounts received will shortly be sent to the daily papers.

TO THOSE OF SEDENTARY OCCU-PATION.—Men who follow sedentary oc-cupations, which deprive them of fresh air and exercise, are more prone to dis-orders of the liver and kidneys than those who lead active, outdoor lives. ## The Work is Better Done by DIAMOND DYES And at a Much Smaller Cost.

Such people should at once give the Diamond Dyes a trial, and they will quickly find that these great home coloring agents give brighter and more endurcharged by the dye-house. Many letters have come from ladies

It states that the natural gas fields of Essex are confined to a strip of land about seven miles in length and two miles wide, adjoining Lake Erie, in Gosfield and Mersea townships. Replying to a letter from J. K. Cartwright, deputy attorney-general, asking if this was true, Police Magistrate Bartlet, of Windsor, says the pipes have been tapped several times, and no gas was found to be going over. He adds that there is no gas to be sent, as it is daily getting less and less, and expects that there will not even be any gas for Windsor people after this year.
