

Mexico is playing a larger role in the United Nations, taking a seat on the security council for the first time. Mexico is also very active in the North South Dialogue, working to revitalize the global negotiations.