

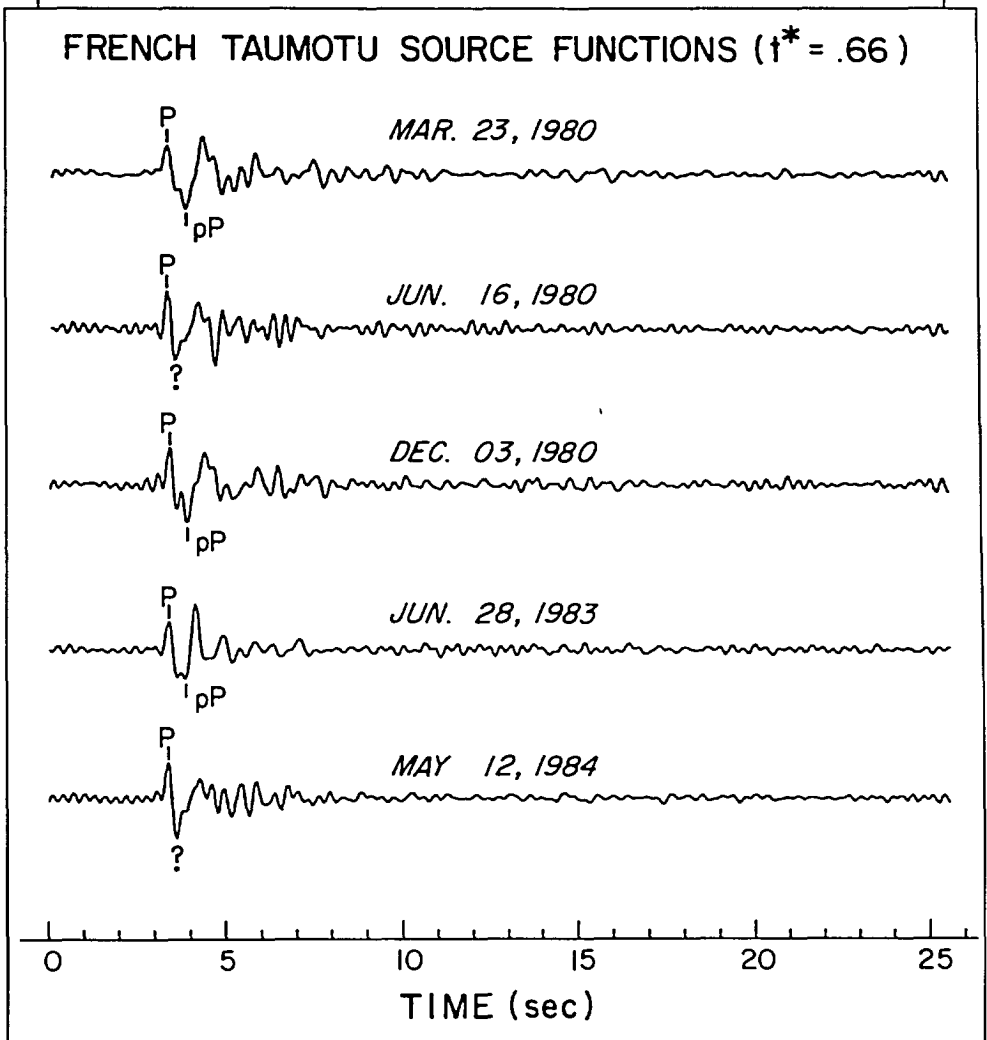

Figure 11: Nuclear Explosion Source Functions for Tuamotu Tests

These functions are extracted from the records shown in Figure 10. A secondary signal pP is seen following shortly after each direct P wave onset time. The time separations suggest that the seismic sources are merely a few hundred meters deep.