

of Man in Canada illuminated by a summary survey of Man's history in general, should be attempted; into such a synthesis the History of the Book and of Record-Keeping (the Library Museum) will naturally fit, and valuable nuclei presenting other facets of general history exist in the series illustrating the Evolution of Man in the Anatomical Museum; that illustrating Palaeolithic Man in the Museum of Paleontology (Peter Redpath Museum); the Garstang Egyptian (loan) collection and other historical material from Greece and Carthage now in the Ethnological Museum: the Peterson Collection of Coins.

14. These proposals involve the resumption by the University of effective control over the disposition of the collections belonging to it, whether these are Departmental or general. The haphazard development of the collections has resulted in disharmony in distribution which must be corrected. I am convinced that though some inconvenience may temporarily be caused to certain Departments, they, as well as the University in general, will benefit by a development which will bring isolated groups of museum objects into a systematic and organized whole.
15. The problem of the Peter Redpath Museum and its collections in connection with this scheme has yet to be dealt with, Though drastic elimination of redundant and second-rate material would relieve the existing congestion, the building cannot be regarded as adequate for the permanent housing of the Palaeontological, Mineralogical and Zoological collections, and it provides no adequate workroom, reserve and storage accommodation for these collections or for the student collections (Entomological and Conchological). Suppose it were decided to leave all the Geological material in the Museum in view of its association with Sir William Dawson, and to remove all the Zoological material to the new Museum Building which is envisaged; we are still faced with a serious difficulty - the
