

hope and love. It is the process by which integrity of moral character and conduct are realized. 2 Pet. iii. 18; 1 Pet. i. 15, 16; 2 Pet. i. 4-8.

4. It is completed in an important sense when the believer is made holy in heart and life. 1 Pet. i. 15. This state of grace is sometimes called "Entire Sanctification" 1 Thess. v. 23, 24; Col. i. 22. Sometimes it is called "Perfect Love." 1 John iv. 16, 17.

5. We may be made perfect in love or wholly sanctified in this life. Eph. v. 25-27; 1 John i. 7; Matt. v. 8; xxii. 37-40; Ezek. xxxvi. 25.

6. Entire Sanctification in its attainment is usually gradual—it may be instantaneous, as, like Justification, it is received by faith. Acts xv. 9.

7. This state of grace is both attained and maintained by faith in the atonement. Heb. x. 10, 14, 22, 38.
