A French teacher of boxing points out that the art of self-defense approximately equivalent to jiu-jitsu was known in Europe in the seventeenth century. Its principles are expounded in a work by one Nicholas Peters, published at Amsterdam in 1674.

Lord Kitchener's father, who was rather a Spartan parent, was also soldier, but in Ireland he turned his attention to breeding pigs as source of income. Kitchener and his prother had to drive the pigs to market. They were sent off without breakfast and had to do without that meal on their return if their pigs remained unsold.
