BRITISH TROOPS IN ULSTER TO PREVENT OUTRAGES TODAY

Government Fears Irish Volunteers May Make Trouble on Boyne Anniversary—Numerous Outrages Occur in and Around Cork—Several Constables Are Wounded.

Belfast, July 11.—On the eve of Ulster's greatest holiday, the 12th of July, anniversary of the battle of the Boyne, its municipal buildings for the first time in recent history are occupied by troops, while contingents of soldiers on the various roads into the city prevent any one from entering or leaving without a search for arms.

This display of force, however, seems to weigh lightly with the crowd, and in Belfast's streets tonight, bent on starting the holiday early, and keen observers say that the precautions taken to forestall a Nationalist outbreak far surpass the danger.

Some of the Ulster leaders, fearing that the Sinn Feiners might seize the occasion of the Orange holiday to open hostilities, sent a declaration to the cabinet requesting augmentation to 350 troops stationed here. Apparently the call was answered well, as more than 3,000 men were sent.

Several speakers are on the program with the interest centering on Sir Edward Carson. He has not yet intimated his own attitude toward the Sinn Fein. Sir Edward will speak to the following resolution:

"We desire again to record our faithful remembrance of the deliverance granted our country in the past, and our firm determination to defend the civil and religious liberties for which our ancestors fought at the Boyne. Confident in the goodness of our cause, we ask God to enable us to meet successfully the difficulties and dangers of the present time."

Another resolution appeals to the government to deal resolutely with the cruel and treacherous warfare which is being carried on in Ireland, involving the sacrifice of lives and senseless destruction of property.

An Act of Revenge. Londonderry, July 11.—The attack on the party of police, in which Sergeant Mooney was wounded, following from the postoffice to the barracks at Dungloe, is attributed to an unpleasant experience of three Irish-American, Michael Eugene and Neil O'Donnell of New York brothers, who are now visiting Donegal.

The O'Donnells attended a fair at Dungloe a few days ago, and while returning to the residence of their uncle, the same evening met a party of police on the road some miles from Dungloe. In passing, a policeman coughed, and Michael O'Donnell, who was driving, also coughed. The police resented this, and one of them, alleged to have been Sergeant Mooney, struck Michael O'Donnell with a rifle, knocking him down and fracturing his jaw. Michael was carried unconscious by his brothers to a neighboring house, where, it was declared, he now lies in a critical condition.

The news of the assault created indignation at Dungloe, according to the report, and the following day following was shot by a person stationed in an unoccupied house in Dungloe, whether Mooney will recover from his wounds is considered doubtful.

Troops Sent North. Dublin, July 11.—The Cork court-house was occupied yesterday by troops, which erected barbed wire entanglements, sand bags and other defenses. The troops removed a requisitioned trolley which had floated over the building for several weeks.

Several Constables Wounded in Outrages Around Cork. Belfast, July 11.—Numerous outrages occurred in and around Cork today. Sergeant Seery is dying in the Cork Military Hospital from several bullet wounds received in an attack upon him while he was carrying the post office mail to the Great postoffice near Cork. His assailant seized the mail and decamped.

PLAN OF REPARATION PROPOSED BY GERMANY AT SPA CONFERENCE

Spa, Belgium, July 11.—After some hesitation, due to the coal question, the German delegates today produced their plan showing how Germany would deal with reparations, but they specified that the decision reached regarding the coal would modify their proposal.

The allied experts had declared they did not consider that even the figures submitted by the Germans would justify modification of the protocol signed July 9, but admitted the justice of the German experts' plea on two points, first, relieving Germany of the obligation of repaying the reparations contract regarding the distribution of coal within Germany; and second, approving the proposal to increase the output by improving the food and welfare of the miners, and suggesting that the German and allied governments discuss means to this end.

The German reparations plan is in three parts. It was submitted to the conference with the understanding that it must be accepted as a whole. The plan follows:

Part 1, section 1.—The German government considers that the purpose of the present negotiations is to make a final settlement of their entire obligations for reparations.

Section 2.—The German government, knowing that it is obliged, under the treaty, to pay on May 1, 1920, 20,000,000 gold marks, considers that it has already paid not only that sum, but a much higher one, according to its accounts.

Section 3 sets forth that, in providing for the future, the German government would be unable to fulfill its obligations unless the German budget can be balanced.

Section 4 provides that the measure of Germany's ability to pay, owing to her weakened economic structure, requires that she should have necessary food, fodder, fertilizers and other raw materials.

Section 5 names the principles upon which the German government considers its payments should be regulated (a) by annuities, (b) annuities to be limited to thirty years.
