THE TEACHERS INSTITUTE WAS OPENED THIS MORNING

Large Number of Delegates Were Enrolled at the First Meeting.

Interesting Paper by President Dykeman on Factors of Education - - - From Home Training Until Final Graduation Day.

The St. John County Teachers' Institute opened its session in the High School building this morning. A. Lindsey Dykeman, president, presided. There was a very large attendance and after a musical number by the High School Orchestra, Miss A. M. Hea, secretary of the institute, read her report which showed a balance of $13.50.

A second number was rendered by the orchestra and after Mr. Owen, principal of St. Patrick's school, Carleton, announced that the teachers would be given a social evening in the High School building tomorrow, Mr. Dykeman read an interesting and instructive paper on "Factors of Teaching."

Mr. Dykeman said in part: "Education has been defined as comprising all the influences which tend to form the character. The influence in the complex phases of life as it now is the strenuous life must be of such a nature as will thoroughly implant in, or strengthen or both, in the child, those elements which tend towards the best of his nature and thereby fit him to most successfully execute his manhood, the duties of a good citizen.

"I have spoken of education as though it were the work of the child only to receive or require it. This is not true, however, the child receives his first impression under the supervision of the family circle, secondly under the influence of the schools. Then comes the education of the man, carried on by himself in maturity, which determines his character and position in life.

"Thus we frequently hear of self-made men and the statement that, if the schools have not had part in the education of such a man, that so much training in school is wasteful of time and a source of unnecessary expense. Who has not heard the parent, when urging someone to pay more attention to the mental welfare of the pupil, say, 'I don't know how to spend much time at school and see what I have come to.'

"Mr. Dykeman pointed out that they failed to see that many things which brought success in their training were obtained through contact with the schoolmen. Further, the education of child and youth prepare the way to that of the man. Without this preparation then, by their force of mind and exceptional personality, the difficulties thereby presented must be met and overcome if success be the goal. Finally, accompanying all that obtained by personal contact with all his fellows.

"As the first and most important factor, impressions made in childhood are more easily made and retained, may be reinforced, the home and family training. It is said that the future destiny of the nation lies in the home training, especially that given by the mother.

"The younger members of the family should be brought up with good sentiments and habits. The commandments, what not, should be inculcated, and the child enters upon a new period of experience. He attends school—first impressions are lasting—much of his future may depend upon his view of surroundings, whether pleasant or the reverse. Upon his conduct depends the development or retarding of his latent capabilities. The local school board has done much to provide buildings that are attractive to the pupils.

"The thoughts of class, however, centre upon the teacher and rightly so, for there they instinctively feel must be the living, inspiring, dominating force that means so much to them.

"Upon the personality of the teacher the welfare of the school mainly depends. The teacher can develop in his pupils habits of truthfulness, kindness, diligence and honesty. Great effort and sacrifice are necessary, but it must be done if the influence of school life is to be beneficial. Reference was also made to the necessity of competent instruction in connection with the study of texts.

"The speaker next dealt with the preparation of home studies and the means that teachers should employ to see that the study is properly carried out. The misuse of questions implying the answers 'yes or no,' in school examinations was pointed out.

"Mr. Dykeman also spoke of the motives that should inspire the student, the parents' approbation, the establishment of a school opinion in his favor, and the desire of distinction.

"In conclusion, the speaker made reference to the two motives of rewards and punishment in school work, and stated that both ought to be given with the object of awakening and developing in the pupil the highest of all motives, 'Do right because it is right.'

"Joseph Harrington then read a short but interesting paper, 'An Introduction to a Period of History.' This he said, depended to some extent on the grade, for each teacher has a separate method. His

THE RHONE VALLEY SWEEP BY WORST FLOOD FOR YEARS

Trains Derailed, and Bridges Swept Away--Much Damage Done.

PARIS, Oct. 10.—At Avignon, the river Rhone has risen twenty feet, and the waters continue to rise at the rate of an inch an hour. The rushing flood has carried away everything in its path.

At St. Etienne a train has been derailed and at Baliz 230 yards of the track was swept out. A number of bridges have been swept away.

At Poussin a horse and a silk mill situated near the river bank collapsed, killing five persons.

Reports received from St. Etienne say that the valley of the Loire is one vast lake. The flood is the worst since 1846. Many villages have been hastily abandoned by their inhabitants.

Petition in Circulation Asking That Death Sentence be Commuted to Life Imprisonment.

CRIB SUNK LAST NIGHT

No. 2 Crib of Clarke & Adams Wharf is Now in Position and Pronounced Satisfactory

MONCTON, Oct. 10.—(Special)—A petition asking that the sentence of death on Thomas F. Collins, sentenced to be hanged on November 15th, for the murder of New Ireland Mary Ann McAuley, be commuted to life imprisonment is being circulated and largely signed in Albert county.

This cause is the only one left open to the friends of the condemned young man as the decision of the jury in the last trial was final so far as the courts of law are concerned and no action was taken by the defence counsel to have the case reviewed. The petition has been gotten up by persons in the county who have been interested themselves in Collins' case ever since the beginning. The petition will be laid before the governor in council by Collins' attorneys, H. A. McKeown, of St. John and J. C. Sherrin, of Moncton. Collins still protests his innocence of the crime.

WHAT PULP AND PAPER MEN ASK

Full Text of the Resolution Presented to the Dominion Government by the Paper and Pulp Manufacturers.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 9.—(Special)—The following is a copy of the resolution presented by the paper and pulp manufacturers to the government today:

"Whereas it has been the policy of the federal government to encourage and promote manufacture within the bounds of the Dominion by duties sufficiently high to protect home manufacture, and by bounties to encourage the use of home raw material, and

"Whereas the federal government has expended large amounts to promote agriculture and to encourage immigration from the most distant and foreign countries, and

"Whereas we have within the bounds of Canada a natural product, spruce pulpwood, capable of providing employment for a large number of our present people, and for many who may come, to find homes here, and

"Whereas this wood is being raised in Canada and shipped as pulpwood to the United States to keep pulp and paper mills in that country running, and

"Whereas our present national advantage should make pulp and paper our greatest industry, and

"Whereas the exporters are stripping the lands of wood, while those with permanent interests in the country are striving to conserve the forests, and

"Whereas the free export of pulpwood to the United States combined with the tariff against our pulp and paper favors the development of the paper industry in the United States rather than in Canada;

"Therefore, your petitioners humbly pray that the exportation of pulpwood be prohibited by the federal government."

The Canadian Club here has declined to cooperate with the South African Veterans in asking Rudyard Kipling to give a public address here. They think this would be too much to ask of Mr. Kipling.

A military order issued today announced the appointment of the following board of directors to keep pulp and paper mills in that country running, and

"Whereas the free export of pulpwood to the United States combined with the tariff against our pulp and paper favors the development of the paper industry in the United States rather than in Canada;

"Therefore, your petitioners humbly pray that the exportation of pulpwood be prohibited by the federal government."

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY

Prominent French Physicians Have Succeeded in Removing unsightly Birthmarks.

PARIS, Oct. 10.—Two prominent French physicians, Drs. Wickham and Degrais, have caused a sensation at the Academy of Medicine by a report that they had succeeded in many cases in removing the birthmarks known as portwine stains, by a method known as the "Wickham-Degrais" method. The new method has proved equally successful in the cases of adults and children.

The marks are effected by the simple application of a plane surface covered with varnish containing radium. The action is regulated by the length and frequency of the applications.

The doctors showed a series of photographs illustrating the method and the final treatment which left the skin in its normal condition. The application they stated, was absolutely painless and the treatment could be applied to an infant during sleep.

Mr. Kipling dwelt on immigration and concluded: "It is possible that in your strength you may think that this is not an urgent question but the time is coming when you will have to choose between desired reinforcements of your own stock and blood and undesired races to whom you are strangers, whose speech you do not understand and from whose instincts and traditions you are separated by thousands of years. That is your choice. For myself I think the time for making that choice is now."
