AFRICAN CHIEFS ON A VISIT TO PARIS

Each of Picturesque Group of Sovereigns of French Colonies Has Two to Five Wives.

Paris, July 12.—Twenty-seven African chiefs, the sovereigns of various French colonies or protectorates in the Sudan, Senegal, Dahomey, Mauritania and the Ivory and Guinea coasts, arrived in Paris this week. The huge black chiefs, dressed in multi-colored silk gowns, some of them carried immense spears, and all wore swords. Many of them had been decorated with the Legion of Honor for distinguished services on behalf of France during the war. The chiefs presented a picturesque appearance as they faced batteries of photographers at the Gare de Lyons. Chiefs Baloum Naba, conqueror of Topolandi, and Adadji Abdoukane of Senegal, who were active in the enlistment of their followers and in the preparations for fighting them out for service in the European war, were most prominent. The chiefs were accompanied by their wives, each having from two to five. All of the men were more than six feet tall, muscular and fine specimens of the hood, especially the younger among them, any of whom seemingly would be qualified pugilistically to become a "black hope." The chiefs ranged from aged white-haired men to youths in their early twenties.

HOOPER A CIVIL ENGINEER.
Is 26 Years Old and Began Rowing Career at Age of 17.

Duluth, Minn., July 12.—Walter Hooper, winner of the Diamond Sculls event, is twenty-six years old. He is a civil engineer and began his rowing career at the age of seventeen, training with the Duluth Boat Club crew in the spring and summer of 1913. He took up sculling the following year and won his first honors at the Northwestern-International regatta at Kenora, Ont. In 1918 Hooper rowed with the Duluth Boat Club senior eight which won the national championship. He was out of the rowing game in 1916, having been stationed on the Mexican border with a local National Guard unit. His rowing during 1917 and 1918 was confined to local regattas, in which he worked in the senior eight.

In 1921 Hooper took up sculling in earnest. He swept the Philadelphia regatta on July 4 and earned the right to enter the national championship races held at Buffalo a month later. There he defeated the pick of North American scullers. His victory over Paul Castello of Philadelphia and Hilton Bell of St. John, N. B., the Canadian champion, at Philadelphia last month entitled him to the gold challenge cup emblematic of the American championship, and gave him the right to represent the United States in the Diamond Sculls event.

DEATH HOUSE HIS STUDIO.
Condensed Artist Sends Sketches to Friends Who Helped Him.

Oswego, July 12.—Herbert Smith, the artist imprisoned in Sing Sing's death house, has, according to prison attaches, sent drawings to friends outside to repay them for assistance and sympathy given him in his fight for life. Smith has twice been sentenced for the murder of Postmaster Lewis Johnson at Nineveh Junction. An appeal from his second conviction at Norwich, N. Y., is now pending before the Court of Appeals. Some of the sketches are said to be remarkably well done. They are crayons, showing forests, streams and landscapes. Paints have been refused him for fear he might make a poisonous solution of them and attempt suicide. The crayons were found to be harmless before Warden Lewis let Smith have them.

The New Garden Sandwiches

To cut fifty slices neatly and without waste get the special sandwich loaf of Butternut—it's baked square. To cut 100 get the double loaf.

Next a small head of lettuce. Spread a leaf on the buttered bread and cover with thin slivers of native tomatoes—they're ripe and cheap now. Top off with a cup of boiled home-made mayonnaise; and you've enough for a dozen guests.

To get the slices to cut without crumbs, to keep fresher and give you the richness of the finest flours and milk—Butternut Bread every time.

MONTREAL MAN FINDS BUSINESS IS IMPROVING

Alexander Prud'homme, Head of Large Concern, Discusses Conditions Here and Elsewhere—More Immigration Needed in New Brunswick.

One of the prominent merchants of the province of Quebec arrived in the city yesterday on a short vacation trip to the Maritime Provinces and is registered at the Royal. He is Alexander Prud'homme, head of the large wholesale hardware establishment in Montreal of A. Prud'homme & Sons, Ltd., with head offices at 10, Rue DeBresles. He is accompanied by his son, Rev. J. Prud'homme, D. D.

The distinguished visitor expressed himself as being charmed with the climate in the eastern provinces. Like so many in Quebec he speaks English fluently and proved a very interesting personage.

"This is the first time I have ever been down this way," he declared, generally, last evening, "and I must say that I do like your climate. I had planned on going to Vancouver for my vacation period this summer but my physician advised against it. So, I suggested Halifax and he agreed that that would be all right. I left Montreal on July 8 in company with my son, who is on his vacation as well."

They made the jump to Halifax first and spent several days there on sightseeing trips. He mentioned particularly visiting Grand Pre, the home of Longfellow's immortal creation, Evangeline. The magnificent orchards appealed to him greatly and he said the visit was a real tonic to him.

Father and son spent Sunday in Moncton and both were greatly impressed with that busy place. Although this was his first trip, the Quebec merchant's discerning judgment easily located the reasons for Moncton's great building activity.

As to St. John, he said he had read much about St. John and its many fine industries.

vertising campaign to place your advantage in their proper light. St. John has several fine industries and it was a real treat to go through several of them this morning, particularly the McAvity plants. They are excellent.

St. John's climate is fine and I greatly enjoyed my sightseeing jaunt around your city. It reminds me a great deal of old Quebec, with its many hills."

Business Conditions.
Turning to business conditions, Mr. Prud'homme expressed the opinion that conditions in his province were gradually picking up. He had heard similar reports in Moncton, Amherst and St. John, but declared that Halifax trade was not very good. He believed St. John was a far busier city than Halifax. "I see twice as many people on your streets and all seemingly so much more busy than they are in Halifax," he added. His interviews with business leaders in the city led him to think that conditions here were as good as any place in Canada.

Montreal was doing very well. He spoke with pride of the great Canadian metropolis. When a boy of fourteen, he said, he had gone to Montreal to learn his trade and at that time the city's population was about 180,000. Today the population, he said, was estimated at nearly 800,000 and he predicted that within a few years the million mark would be reached. There are a great many suburbs, he explained, that were still fearful of being neglected should they amalgamate with the city. He felt this fear would die out soon and that they would unite with the metropolis and thus bring the population to a total of a million.

He spoke particularly of the great many buildings being erected in Montreal. This prompted him to remark about the many wooden buildings he had seen in St. John. This wooden type of construction had not been allowed in Montreal for the last forty years.
