BOOM IN HOSIERY

World-Wide Rush for British Goods Is Reported.

(Leicester, Eng. Mail)

At no time in its history has the British hosiery trade occupied such a world-wide pre-eminence as it does today. This is due to a number of causes. First of importance they are (1) the trend of fashion; (2) the increased purchasing power of the public in almost every civilized country; and (3) the temporary elimination of the competition of the United States. The most potent is unquestionably the first.

For several years before the war a steady increase was observable in the use of all knitted and woven fabrics—a tendency which has been enormously accentuated since. The growing popularity of women for outdoor amusements, such as golf, hockey, tennis, and tennis, has created a veritable rage for sports coats, knitted jerseys, heater tweed mixtures in hose, tans, ties, scarves, sweaters and other wearing apparel of the same kind. The movement, at first confined to Great Britain, has now spread not only to the United States and the dominions, but to other countries as well, until orders for this class of goods are pouring in from every quarter of the globe. It is significant that where anything is needed for sport is concerned all nations turn to Great Britain, whose products dominate the market as decisively as Paris does that of dress. Time was and that not so long ago, when the term "hosiery" connoted little besides underwear, socks and stockings, whereas today it covers a multitude of articles undreamt of until a few years ago.

Our manufacturers have not been slow to realize what a magnificent field this healthy desire offers for their enterprise, and to improve upon it. The more or less unsightly jersey in every conceivable variety of shape and shade, which was formerly fashioned out of wool, is now made of cotton and even the grace of much daintier materials.

Now that people have more money to spend, they are more ready to pay for quality. It is enabling her to reap a wonderful harvest. Our hosiery policy has been to satisfy the demands of his customers, who are everywhere clamoring for goods of a finer quality than they have been accustomed to, to be must look to England.

This universal rise in the standard of taste, which is showing such manifold advantage on its own commerce, is re-
