valescents to follow her, went straight to the store house, had its doors forced open and carried away the necessary articles.—The storekeeper stood aghast at such unceremonious infraction of his authority and of all official routine, but the lady said, coolly: "Report to head quarters that Miss Nightigale has forced open the door and carried away what was wanted for the protection of the life of her Majesty's sick soldiers, on her own responsibility."

Arrival of the Africa.

HALIFAX, April 25th, 1855

The R. M. Steamer Africa arrived at this port last night en route for Boston, where she was due at noon on Thursday.

She left Liverpool on the 14th inst., and brings the news of her own arrival on the 7th.

The latest dates from Sebastopol are to the 6th April, and although skirmishes were still constantly taking place, the condition of affairs had undergone no change.

The Vienna conference reassembled on the 19th, but with what result, had not transpired. It was not known when another meeting would take place.

Further complications in regard to the attitude of Prussia are reported.

The American steamer North Carolina, came into collision with another vessel off Holyhead and sunk. No lives lost.

United States.

Eorrible Disclosures: a Family of Seven Persons Murdered.

We learn from the Indianopolis Sentinel of the 13th, that last week suspicious were revived against several persons named Hubbard in jail in that city, for the murder of a man named Boyles, that they were also the murders of a poor family named French, who last Fall lived in a hut on the canal, and with whom the Hubbards boarded at that time. They suddenly disappeared, and when questioned on the subject, the Hubbards said they had removed to this State. It was determined to search the hut, when the most horrible attrocities were brought to light by the investigation of a coroner's jury. We quote:

"In the presence of a large company they proceeded to examine the place where the infant had been discovered, and, horrible to relate, found seven bodies, consisting of the entire French family! Their skulls were all broken in, and the legs of the old man French, and his wife, were broken, so that they could be doubled up and forced into the hole, which was three or four feet deep! They were laid in a heap; the father and mother at the bottom and the children on the top. The babe was about fifteen months old, and the oldest child about fifteen years old.—There were three guls and two boys—The children were much decayed, but the parents were still sound and were easily recognised by those who had known them.

There is not the least doubt but what the Hubbards are guilty of this wholesale and damning murder. It is almost too horrible for belief, but are the above stated, and the conclusion is irresistable. The Hubbards are in jail. Mrs. Hubbard will be examined to-day. There seems to have been no other motive than the obtaining what few worldly goods this poor family possessed, which were not worth fifty dollars.

She succeeded in poisoning her husband after several efforts, and testified that Mowery had repeatedly urged her to commit the deed, with an understanding that they were to leave for the West together soon after Ragin's death. A letter from Mrs. Ragin directed to Mowery was read in court the substance of which was, that Mowery should persuade Ragin to go out West with him, and, while there, he was to get rid of him by shooting or by poison, and suggested that oyster soup was a good thing in which to put the poison; and that when the plan was fully carried out, he was to telegraph her of Ragin's death, when she could draw her funeral benefits ($30) from the Temple of honor, and then there would be no difficulty of there joining him and of their living together. All the parties implicated are respectably connected.

FELONS FOR THE PENITENTIARY.—Yesterday morning seventeen prisoners were removed from the gaol of the United Counties, for transportation to the Provincial Penitentiary, to undergo various terms of imprisonment. They were heavily ironed and were escorted by a large posse of constables down to Browne's Wharf, where they were placed on board the steamer Magnet. Amongst the number was Matthew Gleason, the murderer of Sheppard, and a little coloured boy who is laboring under consumption, and was carried from the prison in the arms of two turnkeys. The poor lad was unable to raise his head from weakness and will scarcely outlive his removal to Kingston. The names of the felons are Michael Crone, Joseph Jackson, Edward Short, Amos Blythe, Constantine Maguire, a grey-headed old man upwards of 60 years of age, Matthew Gleason, James Adams, Michael Rodgers, James Walsh, Alfried Davis, Michael Keating, Patrick Maskill, Nathaniel Berry James Smith, Patrick Ford, John Turner, and William Whitney. A force of eight constables accompany the party to Kingston.—Globe. 24th.

☞ A person named Westcost, living near London, committed suicide a few days ago, while in a state of insanity, caused by intemperance.

St. George's Day.

This grand festive occasion with all true-hearted Englishmen, was celebrated in this place with becoming hilarity. About fifty sat down to dinner. The repast was of that substantial character for which Mr. Taylor is so justly celebrated. The chair was occupied by the Reeve, Wm Gray, Esq., supported on his right by our unworthy self, and on his left by Col. Ingersoll. Dr. Turquant filled the vice-chair. Col Whitehead presided at one of the tables.

Our space prevents us enlarging on any part of the exertions of the worthy host; nor do we think it necessary. Where there was such abundance, and that abundance of the description which the occasion required, it is enough to say that Mr. Taylor did his part, and did it well; and the best evidence of this is to be gathered from the justice done to the dinner, the desert, and the liquors.

On the removal of the cloth, the usual toasts were given and the pleasure of the evening kept up by appropriate songs, and music by the band.

Altogether it was a very agreeable evening, and we hope not the last time we shall meet with the generous and loyal sons of merry England.—Woodstock Times.

Loss of the Propeller "Oregon:" Twelve or Fifteen Men Lost.

Yesterday morning, about half-past seven o'clock, the propeller Oregon burst her boiler when near the foot of Peach Island, seven miles above this city. She sailed from Cleveland on Thursday, and was bound for the St. Clair Flats, to bring down the brigs N. M. Standard and Flying Cloud, which have remained in the river during the winter. She had on board, besides her own crew of ten or twelve men, that of the Standard of nine men, and of the Flying Cloud of eight men, also provision for each of their vessels, to supply them in their passage down. Of the twenty-five or thirty men on board, only ten or twalve have reached this city. Eight poor fellows, badly scalded or bruised, were brought and taken to the hospital for care. Three of the Oregon's crew, both engineers and the cook, were instantly killed, and their bodies went down with the propeller, which sank in a very few moments after the explosion. We could not learn there names.

Captain Stewart, of the Oregon, and Captain Glazier, of the Standard, were standing on deck at the time, and were thrown high into the air. In their descent, Captain Stewart fell through the deck and broke his leg, and sustained some severe bruising. Captain Glazier was slightly bruised by his fall, but says he shall go to his vessel to-day. Mr. Clark, the mate of the Oregon escaped unhurt. Of the remainder of the Oregon's crew, we could learn nothing.

Of the Standard's crew three were lost. The cook, Coffinger, had his leg broke—Christie, a deck-hand, had his leg broke, and was severely injured otherwise. The mate, James Marten, escaped without a scratch.

The captain of the Flying Cloud escaped unhurt, but four of his men are missing. The propeller went down so suddenly, and the confusion was so great, that it was almost impossible to know the fate of those on board. She was blown into worthless fragments from stem to stern, and in half-an-hour afterwards not a vestige of her was to be seen,

She was owned by Captain Jones, of Cleveland, and was one of the staunchest propellers on the lake. We understand that there had been some difficulty in making her pumps work, and that in the passage from Cleveland, the engineer had been obliged several times to overhaul them. No blame is attached to any one. —Detroit Inquirer, 21st inst.

A TALE OF LOVE AND CRIME.—Mr. Arthur Ragin, a well known citizen of Piqua, O., came very suddenly to his death last week, and investigation detected the presence of arsenic. The wife had procured this poison, and being suspected of the crime, was arrested, and the examination also led to the implication of a Mr. James Mowery, of Troy, heretofore of good standing.

The Columbus Journal says:

Mrs. Ragin has made a full confession of the whole affair. She has acknowledged that
