FUNERALS.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary J. McCarthy took place yesterday morning at half-past eight o'clock from her late residence, Harrison street, to St. Peter's church, where Requiem High Mass was celebrated at nine o'clock. P. O'Hare, C. S. S. R., was the celebrant, Rev. B. Horgan, C. S. S. R., deacon, and Rev. Father McDougall, C. S. S. R., sub-deacon. Relatives bore the pall. The service was largely attended and many floral tributes were received. The interment was in the old Catholic cemetery.

The funeral of Richard Walsh took place yesterday afternoon at two o'clock, from the residence of Mrs. Boyle, 190 Union street, to the Cathedral, where services were read by Rev. Dr. Bourgeois. Interment was in the Golden Grove cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Campbell took place Monday afternoon at three o'clock from her late residence, 52 Forest street. Rev. J. H. A. Anderson conducted the services. The interment was in the Church of England burying ground.

The funeral of Miss Mary Evelyn Lynch took place Monday morning from her parents' residence, Mr. and Mrs. David Lynch, City Line, West St. John, to the Church of the Assumption, where Requiem High Mass was celebrated by Rev. J. J. O'Donovan. The remains were laid to rest in Holy Cross Cemetery. Numerous floral tributes were received.

WORKING WITH THE WOUNDED
AT THE FRONT

Corporal W. R. Allen
writes from the battlefields of France.

L. D. Allen of 36 St. Andrews street has received two interesting letters from his son Corporal W. R. Allen, who is the doctor's orderly with the 26th Battalion now fighting in Belgium. The first letter was written on October 17th and in part the young corporal said he has seen pictures and heard about war but they have nothing on the real thing. The doctor with Corporal Allen and two other A.M.C. men of the battalion have been working hard day and night, and it started like this: "I went to bed at 11 p. m. Tuesday night and slept till three and then got up for a wounded man and all the time the shells were dropping around and the noise was enough to deafen anybody. You just had to yell if you wanted to speak to any person. It was sure great while it lasted but I would not want it every day. Anyway the Germans lost about five hundred men."

"We are now out of the trenches until Wednesday when we go back again. You wanted to know if I wanted socks, well I'll tell you I have one pair which I am saving until I have to put them on; the pair that I am wearing is a fright, the whole foot is out of one and the leg is torn, and the other sock is nearly as bad. As far as sending me anything for Christmas, well some cake and cigarettes would be put them send over some candy as I have not had since I left England. I would like to tell you a lot about the last scrap we had but all our letters are censored. I went up to a farm house and just got in when a big coal box came over from the Germans, hit one corner of the house and blew it all in the air. It sure was hot work getting out of there. Then I stood up alongside of a pile of bricks when a damn shell had to come along and blow the bricks up and I was forced to dive head first into a trench. I thought for about ten minutes that I was killed in a thousand and ninety different places, but I didn't get hardly a scratch."

In a letter written on October 20th Corporal Allen says that the 26th Battalion had on the 13th was great while it lasted. "We lost most of our men in about two hours of fighting on last Wednesday afternoon and there must have been ten Germans killed to every one of our men. Well at the first of the scrap the big guns started and after everyone was so dead that you could hardly hear, the machine guns started. Then a company started to the crater, or what you would understand as a big hole in the ground between the lines of trenches. Well, it was all right getting there, but when the men got there the hole was empty. The men all ran out again just as the Germans blew the place up. Then it was everyone in again and they gave the Germans some iron rations. Then our fellows came back to the trenches, or all that could get back and then we had to start to work on the wounded. We worked all that night and the next day and night, and we had it easy the following day when we came out of the trenches for a rest. You don't mind it at all after the first week as we got used to it. There is some talk of sending us to the Dardanelles. Well I hope they do as I have started in to see things and I want to see as much as I can while I'm at it, so I would like to go there and see what kind of a place it is."

St. James Scouts.

The St. James Boys' Scouts opened the season with a bean supper and rally last evening. After full justice had been done to the supper there were speeches and a round of toasts. Those who addressed the boys were Colonel Wedderburn, A. C. Skelton, Commissioner Ingleton, Mr. Turnbull and Messrs. Teed, Allan and Murray. Rev. H. A. Cady acted as chairman. There were about 30 boys present and they took forward to a busy season. Already twenty-seven have passed as second class scouts and these will try for a higher step this season.

Recruiting Meeting

Recruiting was brisk at the rooms, Mill street, yesterday. Twenty-eight men were present, and a strong appeal for the 104th Battalion. There was a well attended meeting in the rooms last evening at which E. L. Rising presided. Rev. P. S. Porter was the chief speaker and made a strong appeal for men. He pointed out that if the men of the Maritime Provinces did not respond to the call they might find it necessary to do the fighting here at home. Rev. Mr. Porter volunteered his services to his country after a year ago, but has not been accepted yet. He is handicapped by weak eyes. W. Brindle, who has enlisted, and also has three sons in khaki, sang a song. John Kelly, two sons and P. Johnston delivered an able address.

The members of the 52nd Battalion are rapidly settling down to life in their quarters at the Exhibition building and army. The bunks in the sleeping quarters are being placed in position and it is expected to have all the carpenter work completed within a day or two.

Mattresses were issued to the men yesterday and it is expected that the whole equipment will be ready for the men today. On Sunday night they were compelled to sleep on the boards but there was no fault finding and every member of the battalion took the matter in good part and felt that their condition was particularly hard. In fact some of the soldiers were heard to express themselves as well pleased with everything.

The best part of yesterday was spent in getting settled. The men got their kitbags in order and prepared to make themselves comfortable. The battalion was drawn up for drill during the day and about half an hour was spent in this work on the Barracks Square. The heavier work of training will not be taken up for a few days. The men are all in pretty good shape and they have passed the earlier stages of their training.

The men of the battalion were yesterday in evidence about the streets much later afternoon and evening but the soldiers went back to barracks early in the evening. All seem to be real soldiers and there was a certain lack of horsiness on the part of any of the men.

A Field Kitchen

The 52nd Battalion is to have a fine large field kitchen of the same type as those supplied to the 6th C. M. R. and 26th and the 25th Battalions. The kitchen is the gift of the people of Fort William, Ont., and is being forwarded immediately by the McNary Mfg. Company to St. John so they may have the use of it on the route marches as well as when they get the other side.

A Soldier's Funeral

The funeral of Driver James Brown, a member of the 52nd Battalion, who died in the General Public Hospital shortly after the arrival of the soldiers here Sunday, will take place this morning with military honors. The body of the soldier was placed in the 52nd Battalion church last night and the funeral will take place from there this morning at nine o'clock. Rev. J. A. MacKeigan will conduct the services. A detachment of men from the battalion will act as a firing party and it is expected that other members of the corps will be in attendance.

The death of the soldier far from his home and natives has aroused much sympathy among the people of the city and it is expected that many citizens will be present at the services this morning in St. David's church.

Wreaths from the Women's Canadian Club and the Citizens' Recruiting Committee were sent to the church last evening to be placed on the casket.

SERGEANT STOKES
SENDS OUT CALL FOR MORE MEN

Baudmaster of the 26th Battalion writes to

Sergeant William G. V. Stokes, bandmaster of the 26th Battalion Fife and Drum Band has sent an interesting letter to one of his former music pupils in the city. The letter is dated October 21. Sergt. Stokes says: "We are going back to the trenches tomorrow, having been in the rest billet since last Friday. Before this reaching you you will have seen an account of the lively scrap the 26th had with the Germans. The censorship is very strict, so I cannot give you any names, but A Company led the attack, which was a success, and our casualties were about thirty. The Germans gave us a taste of all their stock except gas. They would have given us that, only the wind was not favorable. They sent us all kinds of shells, from 'Whistling Willies' to 'coal boxes' and the machine gun and rifle fire was certainly hellish. They also treated us to liquid fire, which is about the limit. Well 'A' Company is certainly a bunch of fighters, and I am very proud of them. Every man of them went and came back and acted like veterans taking into consideration the heavy fire we were exposed to. Our casualties were very light, though of course we all had narrow escapes from shell fire."

"The coal boxes are the shells to try one's nerves. Three came over my head and burst only ten yards on the other side of me. The concussion is very heavy, and twice I got literally covered with mud and dirt from the explosions of them. However, I know you and my other friends will be glad to know that I came out with a whole skin from my first scrap."

"Lon Kierstead is about eight miles from where I am now, and he is in no immediate danger. There seems to be quite a lot of correspondence lost, but of course that is to be expected in a big mix up like this. One of my regiment just brought me a card from Lon, saying he would like to see me. I am going to the trenches tomorrow, but I will try to see him when I come out next week. Last Sunday I went to service conducted by Rev. Mr. Hooper, which I enjoyed very much. We are beginning to lose the run of the days and dates. We are beginning to feel the cold now at night."

"Send us more men from New Brunswick. We need all you can send."

"An revoir and God bless you always."

"Your sincere friend and music teacher."

"W. G. V. STOKES."

tion socials the Y. M. C. A. forms a kind of home. There they find social amusement and in the secretaries many an errand boy has found a friend and helper. No form of service is more real and none more important than that which the Y. M. C. A. is performing among the troops.

A. S. McAllister of Halifax, the maritime secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was in Sussex on Saturday making arrangements for the work of the association with the 104th Battalion in Sussex during the coming winter. Through the co-operation of M. Garfield White and Lt.-Col. Fowler the new store of Mr. White's in the Empire building has been placed at the disposal of the Maritime Department of the Y. M. C. A. With this as a centre it is intended to conduct the customary work of the association.

Mr. McAllister is also making preparations for the carrying on work at Fredericton and Woodstock, where companies of the 104th will be located.

During the past summer the Y. M. C. A. has rendered very efficient service to the troops quartered on the camp grounds. The marquee with the Y. M. C. A. sign have been the centre of the social and religious life of the men during their stay in camp. Some idea of the work being done may be gathered from the figures of the last week by report. During the last week of October it is estimated that over 3,000 visits were paid to the marquee, 2,500 letters were mailed and 1,000 were received for the men. An abundance of writing material and reading matter was distributed free of charge among the men. At six meetings of different natures during the week there was an attendance of over 1,000. Express packages and telegrams were handled for the men, while during the month of October 8888 was deposited in the Y. M. C. A. Savings Bank. Regular visits were paid by the secretary to the hospital and "clink" where magazines and writing material were left.

The citizens of Sussex have greatly supported the work of the association by providing entertainment and supplying magazines.

The work of the Militia Field Service Department of the Y. M. C. A. has now become almost essential feature of the Militia Department. For the lads who gather at the mobilization socials the Y. M. C. A. forms a kind of home. There they find social amusement and in the secretaries many an errand boy has found a friend and helper. No form of service is more real and none more important than that which the Y. M. C. A. is performing among the troops.

Several matters of interest to the whole division were touched upon by the president, including the Canadian standard efficiency tests, which have been adopted as a basis of the work in the whole association. These tests call for the attendance at practical talks on various subjects besides certain percentage gained in tests along physical, educational, social and religious lines. Medals and diplomas are given for a seventy per cent. standard. The religious work committee reported commencement of the Sunday morning meetings at the second of which cups and diplomas of last season were presented by W. C. Cross. The Educational committee report the commencement of the Saturday night talks on November 13, the speaker being Wm. McIntosh. The secretary stated that a campaign to raise funds for the support of the National Boys' Work would commence November 21 and urged that every member should get behind the scheme and make it a success.

W. B. Hurd, Y. M. C. A. secretary with the 52nd Battalion, was a visitor to the meeting and gave a brief outline of the work being done among the members of that battalion.

The Y. M. C. A. Senior Leaders' Corps organized last night under the National Y. M. C. A. Leaders' Corps of Canada. At the present seven young men constitute the membership. The object of this leaders' corps is to assist the physical director in the development of the Christian manhood and the promotion of physical education in general and among the members of Y. M. C. A. in particular. This meeting is held every Monday evening starting at 6.30 with a tea which the young men provide themselves.

ADDRESS TO PUPILS

A large number of pupils of the city and west side schools with many of the teachers gathered in the assembly hall of the High School last evening to hear Rev. Alfred Hall of Toronto speak of Britain's sea power and kindred subjects. Mr. Hall had already addressed St. John audiences consisting mostly of adults and it was thought that opportunity should be afforded to the young people of the public schools to listen to his interesting descriptions of the power of Britain, both on sea and land, and of the way in which that power has been used. The lantern views shown added much to the value of the speaker's remarks and throughout the evening his hearers listened to him with evident pleasure.

Rev. Mr. Hall, who is senior chaplain for Canada of the British and Foreign Sailors' Society, referred to the work being done for the men of the sea in all parts of the world by providing for their material and spiritual welfare both at sea and on land. He urged greater interest in institutes for sailors such as we have in St. John and pleaded for more help generally for a class that had always been grateful for aid and encouragement.

In a clear way the speaker pointed out what the navy had done in the past and what is doing today and also drew attention to the achievements of the British, particularly in the cause of freedom and righteousness. The meeting closed with three cheers for the navy and the national anthem.

Suffered Constantly

FROM HEADACHE.

To suffer from headache makes life miserable, and it takes a person who has been or is subject to headache to describe the suffering and agony that goes along with it. The dull throbbing, the intense pain, sometimes in one part of the head, sometimes in another, is caused by some disturbed condition of the system. The stomach may go wrong, the bowels become constipated, the blood may not circulate properly, but whatever the cause, the presence of headache clearly shows that there is something wrong somewhere, and unless the cause of the headache is removed, some serious trouble is very liable to assert itself.

The fact that Burdock Blood Bitters reaches the seat of the trouble, and banishes the headache is due to its success in first relieving, and then permanently curing the cause of the trouble.

Mrs. Wallace J. Boyd, Milton, N.B., writes: "Several years ago I was a constant sufferer from headache. I was all run down, and nothing seemed to do me any good. I read of Burdock Blood Bitters, and decided to give it a trial, and the result was marvelous. The headache stopped at once, and I feel better in every way since. I recommend it to all sufferers."

B.B.B. is the oldest and best known blood medicine on the market to-day, having been manufactured for the past forty years by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.
