BRITISH GUIANA
MISSIONARY HEARD

Rev. J. A. Scrimgeour, M. A., Occupied Pulpit of First Presbyterian Church Last Evening—Discourse Instructive and Pleasing.

The pulpit of the First Presbyterian church, West St. John, was occupied last evening by the Rev. J. A.
Scrimgeour, M. A., one of the staff of missionaries engaged in the Foreign Missionary Field of British Guiana under the control of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

There are three different fields of operation in this field. There is the work of the missionaries, who are Carpenter, the work in Essequibo, administered by Mr. Fisher, and the work in Berbice, administered by Rev. Mr. Scrimgeour. Of this work Mr. Scrimgeour said:

The work has gone on comparatively smoothly in Berbice field throughout the year. The regular evangelistic work has been well maintained and important district was organized early in the year at Plastation Abiton and Pishy Village, largely through the very kind help of the proprietors of the first named estate, who gave us control of the school, free quarters for the catechist and a grant of $10 per month towards his support. Already results are being seen from this new venture. Two other estates in the district have during the year, given us free quarters for the catechists in their districts, as well as free medicine for the people. Open air work has been vigorously carried out throughout the year and in several districts, as yet without any catechist.
The late Mr. Scrimgeour said:

Sunday school work has been well carried on. Mr. Pungley and the boys of the training of the department of the High School have been responsible for several schools near New Amsterdam. There are now seventeen schools with an enrollment of 600.

The six day schools of the district have been maintained as usual. The school at No. 15 Village (Cassidy's Coast), has most abundantly proved the wisdom of its opening. It has given a very strong touch with the people of the coast, such as we could not have otherwise obtained for a long period of evangelistic work. One large school has been opened at our list at Plantation Abiton as above noted.
It is, indeed, the largest school on our list.

Perhaps the finest evidence of growth and interest was the opening in August of the new church at Cotton Tree, where the people have now a neat and well lighted place of worship costing in all $807, of which only $250 was from the people, the rest being raised by free will offerings in two years of the sum of $557, an average of over $3 per person, and this was not at the expense of the regular offerings in which they stood second to none among the districts.
The school at No. 15 Village and this was not at the expense of the regular offerings in which they stood second to none among the districts.

HON. F. B. CARVELL
HELD CONFERENCE

Met Mayor and Commissioner of Harbor Saturday Morning in Matter of Harbor Commission.

Hon. F. B. Carvell, Minister of Public Works, held a conference with Mayor Hayes and Commissioner Sul-lock, of Harbor lands and ferries Saturday morning, and it is said that the prospects of completing the harbor in commission are much brighter than they were in the office of the Minister of the Marine and Fisheries department.

The estimate of value of the harbor facilities, prepared by the city engineers, was placed before Mr. Carvell, and many matters on which he was not clear were explained to him. The minister appeared favorably impres-sioned with the city's case and asked the major plan down on McCartney's plan at Ottawa when he and the minister of marine could go into the matter more fully. He promised to arrange for the conference of his return to Ottawa, soon after the New Year.

it is now up to the Halifaxians to

REV. DR. MORISON
AT ST. MATTHEWS

Special Sermon Last Evening Suited to Closing Hours of Year—"The Things Eternal" Was the Subject.

He took as his subject, "The Things Eternal," and pointed out—But if a man desires to live the religious life, even if apart from religion (specifically so-called) he should desire to live a high and noble life, he must have his thoughts fixed upon the unseen world—the world of spiritual goodness, and spiritual beauty—which lies immediately outside the range of flesh and blood, but which is ever open well to the vision of the soul.

Continuing his discourse the doctor reasoned then, in a very real sense, it was true that the things not seen are the real things of life. As he observed the things which are seen as forms, the things unseen the essence.

This idea the reverend speaker illustrated by referring to the natural life, and the sequences which followed. And concluded he "when all the outward glory is swept away by storms and frosts of winter beauty of the unseen remained."

He then alluded to the perseverance, industry and integrity of man, and finally to the utter loss of all his endeavors in this material world without that necessary, and requisite quality, companionship among men with the Great and the Giver of all things.

Dr. Morison delivered a most powerful sermon and his remarks were worthy of much favorable comment. Special music was rendered by the choir.

alluded to the great co-operative spirit being at all times exercised among its numerous members. The other to renovate the rooms of the society,

REV. FR. FRASER
DWELT ON CHARITY

Sermon in Cathedral Listened to by Large Congregation Yesterday.

A feature of the late mass in the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception yesterday was the pleasing and instructive sermon given by Rev. Pa-ther Robert B. Fraser, who was ordained to the Holy Priesthood last June.

Father Fraser dwelt on "Charity," and his discourse was indeed well listened to. His sermon yesterday was his initiative before the congregation of the Cathedral. The large numbers, who had the extreme pleasure of hearing him all voiced that Father Fraser is indeed a beautiful speaker, and handled his subject with great ease, possessing a flowing voice his remarks reached the utmost corners of the large edifice without the least attempt on his part. His hearers hope to hear the reverend priest in the near future again.
