Destroying Gun Positions and Cutting Wire

Soldier Kicks a Shell and Causes a Catastrophe

(By Stewart Lyon, Special Corre-spondent of the Canadian Press) Canadian Headquarters in France (via London) May 29.—Our heavy howitzers continue their work of destroying the enemy's gun positions to the southwest of Lens, while trench destruction and wire-cutting proceed all along the front. The wire-cutting young or old. Tolerant and considerate of the viewpoint of his fellowstructed, as the Maricourt-Oppy line undoubtedly was. It takes about ten shells per linear yard where the belt or wire is 30 feet wide or more to insure a passage for the infantry When the stretch of wire and trenches under treatment extends for miles along the front the purely physical work involved is very great even if the enemy's retaliation is on ly half-hearted:

Dangerons Chalk-line From a position on Vimy Ridge yesterday I watched the wire-cutting and trench destruction. Across the plain there ran a tell-tale chalk-line showing the enemy trench. Standing alone this might indicate only a dummy trench, constructed to draw fire, while the real trench was placed some distance back, but a belt of rusty wire in front proves that the chalk line is really a trench, representing the Maricourt-Oppy defence system. Into the rusty streak and chalk line beyond the shells from our batteries rain with remorseless precision, throwing up geysers of the brown surface of the earth mingled vith the underlying chalk. In all the wide expanse there is not a man Struck by the Huns to Com- in sight. With the shells passing high overhead from our batteries concealholding the trench in any strength he is having a hard time of it. . Foe's Guns Cleverly Hidden
The Boche is exceedingly clever in concealing these gun emplacements. A small haystack, left in a field, as the custom is here, may have beneath it an elaborate concrete emplacement for a nest of machine guns. I have seen such emplacements with reinforced walls over four feet thick. They can be destroyed only by the dithe wire. There is nothing romantic critical periods of life.
