

Was Constantly Troubled With Boils.

HAD NINE ON HIS ARMS AT ONCE.

Boils are caused by bad blood, and unless the blood is made pure you cannot expect to get rid of them.

Ointments and salves will do you no good. You must get at the seat of the trouble by using a good internal blood purifying medicine such as that grand old remedy Burdock Blood Bitters.

Mr. Samuel Buckler, Tatamagouche, N.S., writes: "Last summer I was constantly troubled with boils. I had nine on my arms at once. I thought it was caused from bad blood so I got two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters, and before the first bottle was done I began to feel a great deal better, and before the second one was finished I did not have a boil, nor have I had one since. I cannot recommend B.B.B. too highly."

vanish quickly after applying the powerfully efficient antiseptic liniment Absorbine, Jr. Don't experiment—use Absorbine, Jr., first, which saves time and money—only a few drops usually required to do the work.

Absorbine Jr.
THE ANTISEPTIC LINIMENT

Does everything usually expected of a high-grade liniment and in addition is a positive antiseptic and germicide. Its germicidal properties have been verified time and again by competent chemical laboratories and in actual practice. Being a germicide makes Absorbine, Jr., a better liniment and increases its usefulness.

When applied to cuts, bruises, sores and wounds, it kills the germs, makes the wound aseptic and promotes rapid healing. Acts promptly in allaying pain and reducing sprains and wrenches.

Absorbine, Jr., is purely herbal, and therefore safe to use anywhere. It is a clean, pleasant preparation—does not stain or leave a greasy residue.

Absorbine, Jr., is sold by leading druggists at $1.00 a bottle or sent direct postpaid. A LIBERAL TRIAL BOTTLE will be mailed to your address upon receipt of 10c in stamps. Send for trial bottle or procure regular size from your druggist to-day.

buckets and saving furniture, when suddenly the doubtful whisper became a terrible certainty; Bertie was missing, and the stairs leading to the west wing were now ablaze.

Just as this fact was known, a face appeared at a window on the top floor and a cry of "There he is!" went up from those working below.

A ladder was quickly placed against the house, but, alas! it did not reach high enough to be of use, though Mr. Edwards stood on the summit with outstretched arms. Then the horror of the situation began to dawn upon everyone.

Suddenly the window was pushed open, and a boy's figure, without coat or waistcoat, was seen upon the parapet outside, with something heavy on his back.

"Mossoo! It's little Mossoo! And he's got Bertie!" a number of voices cried, as a bright blaze showed the pale but firm face of Emile perched up in the dangerous position.

Then they saw him peer down over the stonework edge, evidently trying to judge how near the ladder reached. It was seen that Mr. Edwards was telling him what to do, and everybody watched, saying to himself: "But what can be done?"

"It works all right, Bertie," Emile was saying to his friend. "Look not you anywhere, only hold you tight."

Then quickly the boy turned himself round, and, with his human burden hanging on for dear life, lowered himself gently over the parapet toward the anxious father below. The crowd stood motionless.

Would the boy's muscles bear the strain of such a weight. Lower—lower—yes, another moment Mr. Edwards's strong arms were round his son and his preserver, and a loud and prolonged cheer broke from the excited crowd below as, with his double burden, he descended the ladder.

Then up dashed the fire-engine, and streams of water were soon directed upon the flames, and everybody worked with such renewed energy that in a short time the rest of the building was declared safe, and the Dale Hill boys walked home again—all but Emile, who, at Bertie's earnest request, was left behind.

On the Monday morning, however, when our hero appeared hurrying up the drive, the whole school turned out to meet him, and, much to Emile's astonishment, in a twinkling he found himself shoulder high, and then on the backs of the boys, and, amidst real Yankee hurrahs, was carried into the schoolroom. During the morning recess one of the first to come up to our hero was Jagger.

"I should like to teach you baseball if you would let me," he said.

"I would be so glad to learn," replied Emile, looking very pleased, "if you thought I really could."

"Rather!" was all Jagger found himself able to reply—but he thought a deal more than he said.

Our Boys' and Girls

A well-known minister who has been travelling in America says that one day his attention was attracted by a crowd of people, and when he joined the crowd—we never can help running to see what is the matter, can we?—he found that they were closely watching a man in the centre.

And what was he doing? Well, he was seated on a box, and was paring potatoes. Nothing much to see there, you will say. But the minister watched him closely and learned something.

After carefully paring a round, smooth potato, he stuck his knife into one end of it, and slowly moved it around, making a series of curved incisions. Removing the knife, he again inserted it at a different angle, and made another series of cuts. Then he removed his knife, and pulled out a part of the potato. What he had left looked like a white rose. He stuck a toothpick into the base of the artificial rose, tied an imitation green leaf to it, and dipped the carved piece of potato into a pail of red coloring matter. Health Restored by "Fruit-a-tives"

MELIE C. GAUDREAU

Rochon P.Q., Jan. 14th, 1915.

"I suffered for many years with terrible Indigestion and Constipation. I became thin and miserable. I had frequent dizzy spells and became so run down that I never thought I would get well again.

A neighbor advised me to try 'Fruit-a-tives'. I did so and to the surprise of my doctor, I began to improve and I advised me to go on with 'Fruit-a-tives'. I continued this medicine and all my Indigestion and Constipation was relieved. I consider that I owe my life to 'Fruit-a-tives' and I want to say to those who suffer from Indigestion, Constipation or Headaches, try 'Fruit-a-tives'. Give this lovely fruit medicine a fair chance and you will get well the same as I did."
