

The Harvard Club of New York,
New York, May 14, 1919

The Honourable T. G. Mathers,
Chairman of the Commission on Industrial Relations,
C/o The Department of Labour,
Ottawa, Canada.

Dear Sir:

I regret that, as I am sailing for England tomorrow, I shall not have an opportunity of appearing before the Commission on Industrial Relations, recently appointed by the Government, to present certain views which I think are deserving of consideration in connection with the purposes for which the Commission has been appointed.

The substance of what I should like to have said is, fortunately, embodied in concrete and concise form in an address which I delivered before the Empire Club of Toronto on March 13th last. As I have had this address published in printed form, I have thought that perhaps the Commission would allow me the privilege of presenting its members with copies of the address, and would be agreeable to regarding the views therein expressed as those which I should like to have had of record in its proceedings.

I am to-day writing the Hunter Rose Company of Toronto, who have published the address in printed form, to send you ten copies in care of the Deputy Minister of Labour, Ottawa. Would you kindly accept one of these copies with my compliments, and give a separate copy, also with my compliments, to each of your colleagues on the Commission. I should be very pleased to have one of the copies retained by the Secretary for purposes of record.

Yours very truly,

W L M K

Address in England:
C/o The High Commissioner for Canada,
19 Victoria Street,
London, S.W.