Rt. Hon. Arthur W. Meighen,
320 Bay Street,
Toronto, Canada.

My dear Mr. Meighen:-

Agreeable with our understanding, I am detailing in the following the story of Eucozone and its dental running mate, "Cinofer"- that is to say, its running mate in name only.

As related. My personal experience with this product, following a paralytic stroke which left me with a dead motor nerve in my left thigh, perhaps tends to make me more than mildly enthusiastic over its healing qualities. It effected a complete cure after electric therapy and continual massaging failed. That fact aside, conclusive evidence both in the United States and Canada is at hand to definitely prove its merit if one views all factors surrounding it with an open mind.

It has been gratifying to note the increased interest in Ozone Therapy by the medical profession both in Great Britain and in Canada.

Nascent or active oxygen is admittedly the peer of all antiseptics. (See Exh. 5C with Summary) Using Eucalyptus Oil as a necessary oil base to trap and retain oxygen in quantities, the sum result is accomplished by condensing its vapor and Ozone under U. S. Patent No. 1,585,602, and Canadian Letters Patent No. 238,266. Its approximate formula is $C_{10}H_{18}O_4$. This antiseptic, thus made, is adapted to many uses for various ills and or complaints.

In Canada the full strength Eucozone is dispensed only upon physician's prescription. It is registered under a Proprietary number as is all of the other preparations described elsewhere. I am informed that the Doctors connected with the Department of Pensions and Public Health who had the opportunity of investigating claims made in the Company's advertising, at the time of its submission were impressed, if not enthused, over its possibilities.

Like many preparations, the commercial marketing of this product was one of pioneering. It was foolishly begun with insufficient capital funds to bring about a sound education thru advertising with the inevitable results. This was as true in the United States as it was in Canada. True enuf money for new ventures was scarce when the campaigns began and conditions did not improve as time went on.
