RAMAH

B. PAUL NEUMAN, IN THE SPECTATOR

Sons of the exile and the bitter scorning, Children of sorrow and the martyr pang, Still waiting in the darkness for that morning, Of which your prophets sang.	Still in the valley of humiliation, The servant of Jehovah bows his head. Still in the wilderness the chosen nation Must lay their cherished dead.
Lo! in the East, what portent cleaves asunder The solemn shadows of your clouded night? Is this the radiant star of dawn, whereunder The land lies red and bright?	But thou, forget now how thy heavy burden, Hath lightened for the cruel world its load. Nor deem thy martyr-crown a meaner guerdon Than any man bestowed.
Nay, but with flames of ruined shrine and dwelling, Have Lust and Murder stained the guiltless sky, And from that land once more the cry comes telling Of Rachel's agony.	Not Asshur's sword or Edom's malediction, Shall rob thee of thy birthplace, O mine own! Over the stoney ways of thine affliction Move onwards to thy throne.
