ELEANOR C. DONNELLY. NEWS FROM IRELAND.

A few figures connected with the lists for the county Dublin will prove that this long-enduring stronghold of reactionary Toryism is doomed to fall next November. This result is placed beyond all doubt. Under the present restricted franchise there are only a little over 5,000 electors on the roll, and of those about 2,200 are Nationalists, 2,600 Tories, and the small remainder Whig-Liberals. The new franchise will, it is estimated, enroll more than 30,000 electors, of whom, at the lowest computation, 25,000 will class as Nationalists.

Kilkenny.

Lord Arthur Butler, in his capacity as agent to Lord Ormonde, has declined to give the use of the Duke's meadows to the Gaslic Athletic Association, for the holding of their sports on the 14th of September, and has referred them to the Marquis.

Mayo's tenants was held in Kill, to seek for a reduction of their rent, payment of the present gale of which is demanded on the 20th. Mr. T. P. Fitzpatrick, P. L. G., Johnstown, was voted to the chair, and, after a brief discussion, the following resolutions were unanizously adopted:

"That we, the Kildare tenants on Lord Mayo's property, stand in need of assistance in our present difficulties, being, in common with all landholders in Ireland, hard pressed to meet our many engagements; that although a liberal reduction of rent has been made on mest properties in Ireland, the tenants of this estate have hitherto got no allowance, and they are, therefore, the more encouraged to hope for practical and just consideration in this great crisis; that this resolution be sent to Mr. Rynd, the agent, to be forwarded to Lord Mayo, from whom we expect a favorable reply. That we hereby call on the tenants on the Kildare property of Lord Mayo to withhold their rents pending his reply to the above resolutions."

the National cause. The latter place had long been preparing for the mighty popular meeting, and the former was en fete because Mr. Davitt and Mr. W. Redmond, M. P., the chief orators thereat, were to stay for a while there on the way. Both at Edgeworthstown and Longford, the popular travellers were welcomed by all the head men, and the great bulk of the population. In the latter town the tokens of rejoicing were profuse, ornate and striking. Besides the floral and bunting decorations, there was a general illumination of the place after duak, and huge bonfires blased in the open space. Addresses, couched in the warmest terms of regard, were presented to the visitora. In his speech in reply, Mr. Davitt gave convincing proof that he is quite aware of the eagerness with which the enemies of Ireland are seeking for traces of dissension, and that so far as he can do it, these malign watchers shall be disappointed. He pronounced heartily in favor of Mr. Parnell's policy in the coming election, and laughed at the absurd stories of dissent which the nounced heartily in favor of Mr. Farnell's policy in the coming election, and laughed at the absurd stories of diasent which the prophets of evil have been so industriously propagating. Mr. Redmond referred elocatemity to the change in the prospects of the country brought about by the political events of the past five years. In its frumters, its ardor, and its accessories, the great meeting held at Lanesborough might well be described as an ovation.

with any factionists who are endeavoring to stir up strife and dissension.

An execution sale took place, on August 18, near Charleville, on the farm of a widow named Dunworth. All the furniture and farm produce were sold by the Sub-Sheriff, and were knocked down to Mr. J. R. O'Gorman, Charleville, who bought them in for the tenant. It is expected that Mrs. Dunworth will shortly be evicted. She still ower about £206 to the landlord. An extraordinary circumstance in connection with the sale was that the woman's son acted as an emergency man, and did everything to thwart his mother. He refused to allow her to move a beaket of potatoes off the land over which he had been appointed caretaker since the seigure. He also bid against Mr. O'Gorman at the sale, with the object of raising the price that would be offered. After the sale young Dunworth was set upon by a number of women, who beat him soundly.

Faithful Cork is doing its duty by its popular member, Mr. Deasy, right real-ously. A collection to defray his Parliamentary expenses was taken up in the rural parishes on August 16, and realized over two hundred pounds. When the city comes to send in its contribution, the amount will not fall short of five hundred, which is munificent, considering all the demands on the people, but does not exceed the deserts of the man for whom it is meant.

Kerry.

Ven. Archdeacon Irwin, P. P., V. F., has accepted the position of President of the Castleisland National League.

On August 17, at Loughill, a party of some thirty men, armed with scythes, entered a farm, from which the tenant had been evicted for non-payment of rent, and cut down all the hay on the holding. The farm is what is known as a boycotted one and was in the possession of a landlord who could not get a tenant for it under the circumstances.

On Aug. 18, Mr. Quinn, who acted for the sub-Sheriff, protected by nine constabulary, proceeded to Kedra, within two miles of Cahir. and evicted Mr. Patrick Mulcaby, of Kedra Castle, for non-payment of rent. The farm contains 231 acres, at an annual rent of £346 4s. 10d. The amount due was £659 9s. 4d. The landlord is Francis W. Lowe. The harvest is on the ground, and this appears to be the chief reason for carrying out the eviction at this time.

Clare.

Between one and two hundred emigrants belonging to the farming class, sailed from Waterford, on Ang. 15, for Plymouth, where they will embark for Adelaide. They were all young men and women, and came from the county Clare.

The death of Peter O'Halloran, Esq, of Sixmilebridge, at an early age, is much regretted by his family and numerous friends in Clare, Limerick, and Tipperary. The funeral of the deceased, on Aug. 16, to the family tomb in the beautiful ancient Abbey of Quin, was attended by his surviving brothers, including the Rev. Father Halloran, C. C., Borrisokane; Rev. Father Frawley, Sixmilebridge, and many other priests, and an immense concourse of sympathisers who deplore his death.

A daring attack was made, on Aug. 14th, on two balliffs of the county substitute of the balliffs were returning to Limerick, late at night, in charge of some horses, seized, when they were waylaid, knocked down and kicked, and assaulted with a loaded whip. The attacking party successfully rescued the property. Warrants have been issued for the arrest of the action of the police in refusing protection.

Antrim.

Armagh.

Sir Richard Wallace has issued a fare-well address to the electors of Lisburn. The old "deadhead" is deeply pained by his inevitable severance from a constitu-ency that he so usefully "represented." A still more emphatic pronouncement comes from the "fossil" member for Armsgh. He will not further prolong his Parlia-mentary life, and Parliament will know him no more. So says Mr. Beresford, the borough member for Armagh. Down.

The tendency to riot on the impulse of excessive loyalty still shows itself as a striking characteristic of ignorant Orangeiam. Prompted by this ardent sense of loyalty, the yellow fraternity of Coagh and neighboring districts, lay in wait for their Nationalist fellow-countrymen returning from the Ardboe meeting, on Aug. 16, and they would doubtless have emptied their revolvers among the crowds had not the Nationalist leaders taken the presention to despatch the different bodies precantion to despatch the different bodies by other routes. No fewer than two hundred and fifty additional policemen were drafted into Coagh from various outlying places, also a troop of Dragoons. The whole of this formidable force was might well be described as an ovation.

Cork.

A National League meeting, announced to take place on August 16th, at Ballylanders, in opposition to the advice of the local branch of the League, and the central branch in Dublin, had to be abandoned by its promoters in consequence of the abence of an audience. The action of the persons who attempted to get up the meeting was condemned from the altar at Mass on the previous day, at Ballylanders, as calculated to create disunion at the critical moment in Irish affairs. A letter from the Central League in Dublin declared they could have no sympathy outlying places, alto a troop of Dragoons. The whole of this formidable force was dorminute voiceless. Totsenham and the drawn up in battle array, and occupied all the approaches to the village from an arely hour. True to their resolve, the National party, coming from Ballinderry, headed straight for Coagh, but were me by the police and soldiers, and informed they must go home by another much more circuitous way. Seeing that it was useless to contend against main force, the National the time the valorous Orangemen were sheltering behind the bayonets, sabres, and muskets of the Land League. It was swelled by men from Roscommon, anxious to again hear Mr. O'Kelly, M. P., addressed thind the bayonets, sabres, and muskets of the assemblage. The counties of Fermanagh, Sligo and Cavan were also represented; and a vast number of bands and banners showed how numerous were the various deputations which they thorns in the most blood-curdling style, to swear like the troops in Flanders, and to fire feux de joie with revolvers. All this sound and fury went on entirely under the noses, nay, under the protection, of the military and police; and the rowdy-iam was under the direct patronage and leadership of the sons of the local snobs. There seems to be no restriction whatever upon the use of gunpowder by the Ulater West Britons. Arms' Acts have no meaning and no terror for these estimable citizens, whose general attitude seems prompted by the most audacious cyniciam regarding public opinion on the subject.

Menaghan.

On Aug. 15, about fifty Emergency men arrived at Castleblayney, from Clones and Brookborough, by train, and proceeded to Mr. McMahon's farm under an escort of police. The day, which was very fine, was occupied in putting the hay into cocks. Mr. McMahon's farm under an escort of police. The day, which was very fine, was occupied in putting the hay into cocks. Mr. McMahon was present, and superintended the work. No incident worthy of notice occurred until the arrival of the Emergency men at the railway station. While they were awaiting the arrival of the train, three of them were searched by the police for arms. Revolvers were found on two, whose names were taken by the police with a view to summonses. At first it appeared that a general search would be made, and the police had plenty of time to do so before the arrival of the train, three of them were searched none but the three already mentioned. The effects of the boycotting are beginning to be severely felt by Nationalist shopkeepers, one of whom was compelled by the "unwritten law" to part with one of his best customers who had assisted in the cutting of McMahon's hay. The local branch of the League has passed a resolution declaring their determination to indemnify Nationalists against losses sustained by them in adhering to the principles of the League. The boycotted farmer has had his flax pulled by Orangemen.

has had his flax pulled by Orangemen.

Derry.

The city of Derry is being treated to its annual farce in the shape of the visitation of the Hon. the Irish Society, with its reception of deputations and begging petitions, its plausible promises, and its high feasting. On Aug. 17th the deputations were from the Corporation and one from each of the two parties of local Episcopalian Protestants, who differ on the questions raised regarding the enlargement of St. Columb's Cathedral. The Society declined to give any grant towards the proposed enlargement until they saw that it would be in accordance with the unanimous opinion of the Protestant citizens. The Corporation, for whom Mayor, Sir Robert McVicker, acted as spokesman, called to tell the Irish Society that the proposed people's park scheme had fallen through, and to ask that the Society made an offer to erect a new city hall. The Society made an offer to erect a new city hall at a cost of £16,000, provided the Corporation consented to pay them 4 per cent. per annum interest on £10,000, or, in other words, £400 a year rent for the building. The Corporation withdrew, and will take some time to consider the offer of the Society.

Galway.

The expiration of the Coercion Act was signalised, on August 15th, at Loughres, in a very fitting manner. Owing to the fact that it was a holiday, and as it was expected that athletic sports would be held, a very large crowd of country people came into town. When the Freman's Journal arrived, the first sentence in the leading article referring to the Crimes Act, "The reign of coercion is over," was wildly shouted through the streets, and cheers upon cheers were given.

successfully recuest the property. Warrants have been issued for the arrest of the action of the police in refusing protection.

Mr. Richard Lalor, having written to Mr. Parnell, intimating that his health will probably necessitate his retirement from the representation of Queen's County, Mr. Parnell, in reply, pays a high tribute to Mr. Lalor's conduct in Parliament under very trying circumstances. He urges Mr. Lalor to consult his constituents immediately, as no time remains to be lost in the selection of a candidate in his place should he finally decide to retire from political life. A county convention will shortly be held to consider the matter.

Longford.

Longford.

Longford and Lanesborough have recently been the scene of great doings in the National cause. The latter place had long been preparing for the mighty popular meeting, and the former was en felts because Mr. Davitt and Mr. W. The sease of poor old Sally McHale is an example of the spirit in which the Mayo landlords and through the streets, and cheers upon cheers were given.

Mayo.

The case of poor old Sally McHale is an example of the spirit in which the Mayo landlords and their mainstays, the land-grabbers, interpret the lessons of charity and class-conciliation. This poor old creature had worked hard like returned as a purty, appears desultance that the remaining and their orders as a party, appears desultance that their action, at least as a party, appears desultance that their action, at least as a party, appears desultance their action, at least as a party, appears desultance that their action, at least as a party, appears desultance their action, at least as a party, appears desultance their action, at least as a party, appears desultance their action, at least as a party, appears desultance their inevitable grabber turned up and got classified to merge in either the National cause. The latter place had long been preparing for the mighty popular meeting, and the former was en felt. her utmost exertions were insufficient to enable her to live and satisfy her landlord's demands. She was evicted from her little holding, at a place called Glenarla, near Ballycastle, last February. The inevitable grabber turned up and got possession of her place, but, being soft of heart, gave her permission to remain within the walls of her old home for the remainder of her days. But Death was too tardy. Poor old Sally continued to live on, and after six months' waiting the grabber, repenting of his generosity, got a decree for possession at the last petty sessions in Ballycastle, and a few days ago, without giving the requisite notice to the relieving officer, got her flung out of her cabin—flung, in fact, on a dung-heap! The poor woman, in her 98th year, was at the time believed to be in a dying state. When the outrage was perpetrated upon her blood guahed from her mouth and nostrila, and she probably would have died from exposure and shock were it not for the action of some sympathetic young men, who constructed for her a temporary shelling. For this outrage against the majesty of "the law" these daring sulprits are to be prosecuted.

The county Sligo has set on foot a movement for worthily repaying the services of Mr. Sexton. Sligo was the pioneer county in giving effect to the principle that the Parliamentary representatives of the people should not be allowed to suffer by their work for the popular cause, and so long ago as 1881 a sum of £550 was subscribed to defray the expenses incurred by Mr. Sexton.

by Mr. Sexton. Leitrim.

Leitrim, which may indisputably claim to be the most unrepresented, or, rather, the most misrepresented, county in Ireland, declared on August 16th, amongst other things, that she would no longer continue voiceless. Totsenham and the tongue-tied O'Beirne she will no longer have; for she considers them a fraud and a blot. This determination the men of the county unmistakably expressed at the

on the Leitrim people to return two good Nationalists at next election.

Bescemmen.

On August 17th, a man named Barney Lyons, a bailiff on the property of Mr. O'Sullivan, of Mount Florence, was proceeding with some others to take meadows on the land from which a tenant named John Murray had been lately evicted. He found the latter cutting hay on the farm, and immediately made a rush for him and endeavored to knock him down. Being unable to effect this object, he ordered Murray off the land, and this request not being immediately complied with, he again ran at the evicted tenant, and seizing him by the breast, struggled violently, though unsuccessfully, to bring him to the ground. Murray's wife, in the meantime, had come on the scene, and seeing her husband a second time assaulted by the bailiff, she ran at Lyons with a grape and wounded him in the body several times. It does not appear that Murray himself at any time assaulted Lyons, but the wounds inflicted on the latter by the woman are severe, if not dangerous. Murray and his wife have been both arrested, and having been brought before a magistrate are detained in custody.

what is this Disease that is Coming Upon Us?

Like a thief at night it steals in upon us unawares. Many persons have pains about the chest and sides, and sometimes in the back. They feel dull and sleepy; the mouth has a bad taste, especially in the morning. A sort of sticky alime collects about the teeth. The appetite is poor. There is a feeling like a heavy load on the stomach; sometimes a faint all-gone sensation at the pit of the stomach which food does not satisfy. The eyes are sunken, the hands and feet become cold and feel clammy. After a while a cough sets in at first dry, but after a few months it is attended with a greenish colored expectoration. The afflicted one feels tired all the while, and sleep does not seem to afford any rest. After a time he becomes nervous, irritable, and gloomy, and has evil forebodings. There is a giddiness, a sort of whirling sensation in the head when rising up suddenly. The bowels become costuve; the skin is dry and hot at times; the blood becomes thick and stagnant; the whites of the eyes become tinged with yellow, the urine is scanty and high-colored, depositing a sediment after standing. There is frequently a spitting up of the food, sometimes with a sweetish taste; this is frequently strended with palpitation of the heart; the vision becomes impaired with spots before the eyes; there is a feeling of great prostration and weakness. All of these symptoms are in turn present. It is thought that nearly one-third of our population has this disease in some of its varied forms. It has been found that medical men have mistaken the nature of this disease. Some have treatedfit for a liver complaint, others for kidney disease, etc., etc., but uone of the various kinds of treatment have been attended with success, because the remedy should be such as to act harmoniously upon each one of these organs, and upon the stomach as well; for in Dyspepsia (for this is really what the disease is) all of these organs partake of this disease and require a remedy that will act upon all at the partake of this disease and require a remedy that will act upon all at the same time. Seigel's Curative Syrup acts like a charm in this class of complaints, giving almost immediate relief. The following letters from chemists of standing in the community where they live show in what estimation the article is held.

Why suffer from weak nerves, want of appetite, and general debility? letting the loss of sleep and rest impoverish the system and thin the blood, when such a really meritorious remedy as Northrop & Lyman's Quinine Wine may be had at any drug store. This article is recommended by the highest members of the medical faculty in cases of indigestion, general debility, loss of appetite, and nervous affections of all kinds. It is also specially beneficial to children and delicate females, and to business men, students, and those who have much brain work. We would say, Never be without it. It will strengthen you, keep your system in regular order, and enable you to successfully grapple with the work you have to do. It is pleasant to the taste, and contains nothing injurious to the most delicate constitution. Remember to ask for the Quinine Wine, prepared by Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, and we are sure you will be satisfied that you have full value for your money. Druggists sell it.

What is Catarrh?

Catarrh is a dangerous disease which thousands are consciously or unconsciously suffering from. It is a muco-purulent discharge caused by the presence of a vegetable parasite in the lining membrane of the nose. The predisposing causes are a morbid state of the blood, the blighted corpuscle of tuberole, the germ poison of sphilis, mercury, toxomosa, from the retention of the effete matter of the skin, suppressed perspiration, badly ventilated sleeping apartments and the germination of other poisons in the blood. Irritated by these, the lining membrane of the nose is ever ready for the reception of the parasite, which rapidly spreads up the nostrils and down the fauces, or back, of the throat, causing ulceration of the throat; up the eustachian tubes, causing deafness; burrowing in the vocal chords, causing hoarseness; usurping the proper structure of the bronchial tubes, ending in pulmonary consumption and death.

Many ingenious specifics for the cure of catarrh have been invented, but without success, until a physician of long standing discovered the exact nature of the disease and the only appliance which will permanently destroy the parasite, no matter how aggravated the case. Sufferers should send stamp at once for descriptive pamphlet on catarrh, to the business manager, A. H. Dixon & Son, 305 King street west, Toronto, Canada.

FIVE-MINUTE SERMONS FOR EARLY MASSES

By the Paulist Fathers.

But when it comes to the soul, many Christians seem to think that everything regarding it may be shifted at their own will: that they may go on for years sowing the seeds of all kinds of abominable vices in their souls, and that, later on, whenever they may desire, all this work can be undone in a moment, and those souls, which sin has rotted through and through, can be put right back where they were as they came from the baptismal font, or even set on a perfect level with those in which the seed of every virtue has been implanted and carefully nurtured from childhood.

Ah, my dear brethren, this is a great and a terrible mistake. Hear the words in which St. Paul continues: "He that soweth in his flesh, of the flesh also shall resp corruption; but he that soweth in the spirit, of the spirit shall reap life everlasting."

"He that soweth in his flesh, of the flesh also shall reap corruption." Here is the great evil of sin, which repentance, however sincere, cannot utterly undo. True contrition will, no doubt, at least if accompanied by the Sacrament of Penance, take away the guilt of sin; but unless it be very intense, and accompanied by an extraordinary love of God, like that of the great saints, it will not wash away the deformity, the corruption, which long-continued habits of vice have worked in the soul. Yes, it may come in such an overflowing torrent as to break down and sweep away all obstacles in its path; but how often does it come so? To have such sorrow for sin is a rare and remarkable grace from God, which the sinser has no right to expect.

All this is specially true, as the words of the Apostle teach us, of the sins of the flesh, such as drunkenness and impurity. The body will hang on to sin after the soul again down with it. Oh, that those who are addicted to these horrible sensual habits would realize their danger, and feel the net which the flesh has been weaving round their spirit! But no; they go on from week to week, from month to month, making, it may be, now and then a feeble effort to esca
