A SOLDIER'S DISCHARGE.

There is a showcase in the British Museum that is proving very interesting to soldiers who are waiting for their discharge certificates. It is a case in the Roman British section containing the discharge certificates given to soldiers in Britain at the time of the Romans. The bronze certificates are quaintly worded, and record the fact that the holders, "discharged honourably after twenty-five years of service," are granted Roman citizenship if not already held, "and the recognition of their marriage with those who are their wives, or, in case of unmarried, any wives they may subsequently marry, provided they only have one each."

CAUSE FOR THANKFULNESS.

A certain old Connemara farmer, waking up in the night, saw an apparition at the foot of the bed. Reaching for his gun, he promptly perforated the ghost with a bullet. To his surprise, the following morning he discovered that it was his own shirt of which he had made a target.

He was relating the experience to a friend, who asked him: "What did you do when you discovered what it was?"

"Oh," replied the farmer, "I just knelt down and thanked God that I hadn't been inside it."

A CHIROPODIST.

Two Yorkshiremen who were visiting London for the first time noticed a doorplate on which was engraved the word, "Chiropodist" "Hi, Geordie," said one, "what is a 'churropodist'?" "Why," was the reply, "don't you know that a 'churropodist' is a man that teaches canaries to whistle?"

Miss Softleigh (watching revolving lights of the lighthouse)—How patient sailors are! Coast Guard—How, indeed? Miss Softleigh—They must be. The wind has blown out the light six times and they still keep lighting it again.—Marine News.
