No Withdrawal

A dispatch to the Scott organ from Prince Albert states that The Times has withdrawn the insinuation that a deputy took a ballot box to the Liberal committee rooms on the night of the election.

All through the day the deputy acted absolutely fair and did his duty well, except that in error he dropped a few ballots for both sides in the box that were contested and should have gone into envelopes.

Now, there is no charge against the deputy, but the other men must explain why they took that deputy to the Liberal committee rooms, and when they were accosted they made no reply, but hurried away to the right place in such a manner.

The above is the extent of the charge regarding the taking of the ballot box to the Liberal committee rooms.

Walter's Own

The personal organ of Premier Scott contained yesterday one of the well known screeds under the heading of "A Summing Up," in which he dealt in his "clear as mud" style with the history of the Prince Albert elections.

Rickets. Simply the visible sign that baby's tiny bones are not forming rapidly enough. Lack of nourishment is the cause. Scott's Emulsion nourishes baby's entire system. Stimulates and makes bones. Exactly what baby needs.

Sandy Lake to ensure the delivery of the boxes which had been so thoroughly stuffed by the close friends of the men who had been responsible for sending the police.

The Scott government is strong on such precautions as these, but they never prosecute election crookedness. "They knew that the eyes of the whole country were upon them, and went into wage absolutely clean and honest campaign."—This is Walter's own. It's a joke.

A Crooked Bunch

The most crooked political aggregation in Canada today is the Scott government. By coercion, bribery and stuffing ballot boxes in three constituencies in the general election they obtained a small majority in the house, and in order to even this they had to disfranchise a constituency for two sessions.

In the recent election in Prince Albert city they resorted to every form of political corruption to influence the electorate, but they were prevented from tampering with the ballot boxes. However, there is no credit due to them for that, for they were compelled to retrace their steps on the threshold of their committee rooms where they were taking one of the boxes.

The electors in the northern city gave Mr. Bradshaw a majority of four the night of the election, but there were over three hundred votes challenged. The government at once claimed that the Provincial Rightists tied up the votes to get the first count, which was an absolute falsehood, as was proved by the court of revision returns which would give a handsome majority for Mr. Bradshaw, had not the men who controlled the northern polls outraged in the previous elections, as a last desperate means, appealed over one hundred of Mr. Bradshaw's votes to the judge.

The situation from any standpoint is most ridiculous, for what can the government hope to gain by prolonging their agony. It is certain that no improper votes got through Sam McLeod's sieve at the court of revision, and yet it is from his decision that the appeals are taken.

attorney general's department has protected in their crime. The judgment of the people is something however, from which they cannot escape, but they are prepared to die hard, as the desperate tactics of the Prince Albert city election shows.

The Wolf Cry

The government's mouth piece in this city has ascribed to Mr. Bradshaw's supporters the wolf cry, but that organ cannot mislead the people of the province much less the citizens of Prince Albert with regard to the action of the beaten coercionists, who are trying to steal another seat.

No doubt the paramount issue which Blip MacLean raised in the London election on behalf of the labor candidate was: "Where can the Hired Man Wash his Feet?"

The Ottawa government press devote columns of editorial to the abuse of Mr. Borden for not meeting the expectations of the people of Canada as a constructive statesman.

Mr. Turgeon's Position

By declamation and posing gestures Alphonse Turgeon, standing before an audience of his citizens, asking for their support, stated that he was not in any way to blame for the northern poll outrages.

The Dominion government has just announced a surplus in the post office department of five millions for the past nine months. This is a cruel blow to the settlers in the western provinces who have to endure such an inadequate postal service.

Press Comments. In the early days when much of the land in South Saskatchewan was held by squatters there was, perhaps, little objection to the law which allowed stock to run free after the grain was threshed.

Editorial Notes

Ex-Judge McGuire held up "The West" to the court of revision as a "respectable paper" and cited the certificate of character which was given Magistrate McLeod at Erwood two years ago when he sat with the deputy to adjudicate on the contested ballots.

The Free Press remarks editorially that it will likely be many years before a large proportion of the western people will be able to think in English, which invites the reply that they will never think at all so long as the government officials stand over them with a club as they have been doing since the present government took office.

The bitter feelings engendered in Prince Albert by the Turgeon interests playing a low down game all through the elections and especially their attempt to steal the seat by appealing so many of Mr. Bradshaw's votes, will permeate the social and business life of the city for some time.

As the Canadian senate is not a political body in the party sense of the word, the election of Senator Fete Talbot, therefore, as president of the Alberta Liberal association referred to has no serious party implications, and is merely of the club order with only social features.

Farmers with straw or grain stacks have now to fence them to save them through the open season. Then, too, the carrying of weed seeds from one farm to another by stock, is an injury not fully appreciated.
