Anniversary of the Discovery of the Lake Bearing That Name.

New York, Vermont and Canada Join in Celebration.

Indian Drama Enacted and Dress Parade of U. S. Troops.

Port Henry, N. Y., July 5 .- With the ing ruins of Forts Amherst and Frederick forming a historic setting, the first of a series of events celebrating the three hundredth anniversary of the discovery of Lake Champlain by the famous French explorer, navigator and colonizer, Samuel De Champlain, took place to-day at Grown Point, where Champlain with his Canadian and Indian allies of the Huron and Algonquin tribes, first met the Iroquois in battle. The celebration was arranged jointly between the States of New York and Vermont, and will continue throughout the week, representatives of France, England, Canada and the Indian aborigines joining with those of the States and of the federal Government in the exercises commemorative of the history making struggles throughout the Champlain Valley.

The discovery of Lake Champlain in July, 1609, antedates the discovery by the whites of any other portion of the territory now comprised in the State of New York, and deeming it an event worthy of commemoration in the annals of the State and nation.

The Indian drama Hiswatha, which formed a picturesque part of the day's programme, was produced by 150 In.

the State and nation.

The Indian drama Hiawatha, which formed a picturesque part of the day's programme, was produced by 150 Indians—original descendants of the Aigonquins and Iroquois who participated in Champlain's battle—under the direction of L. O. Armstrong, of Montreal, on a floating island constructed on barges. The island, which is several hundred feet in length, depicts among other scenic effects a stockade, the point of attack in the battle by the besieging bands of Indians who reached the beach in cances. Late in the day there will be a dress parade of the Tenth Regiment, following which the gubernatorial party will leave on a steamer for Ticonderoga, which will be the scene of tomorrow's observances. Wednesday at Plattaburg will be the big day of the celebration. Thursday Burlington, Vt., will be the centre of interest; and Friday exercises will be held at Isle La Motte, in the northern part of the lake, A. each of these places Indian pageants will be presented, the floating, island having been so constructed that it can be towed-from place to place on the lake.

MAKING PROGRESS.

Commissioners Will Not be Able to Deliver Power Till Long After Time Set.

While Hon. Adam Beck is telling Loudon people that they will be penalized at the rate of $200 per day for their share of cost and maintenance of the ready to take power by March 19, there good evidence that things are not moving as fast behind the scenes as the Hydro-Electric champions would have the municipalities believe. It is doubtful if London or any other place will get Niagara power before a year from the date fixed, if even then. The Toronto Star, which has been very friendly to the project, on Saturday printed the following:

The work so far done, so far as car The work so far done, so far as can be learned, consists of laying foundations for towers in the neighborhood of Rymal. This is a point south of Hamilton, and from there to the Falls the line is now in progress of construction, a process which is still at the tower-foundation stage. The June report of construction will soon be available, and this will show accurately exactly what has been done. Nothing was done during May. It is claimed at the contractors' office that there is no hitch so far as they are concerned, and that there is no hitch so far as they are concerned, and that material is being delivered to different points on the line as fast as it can be secured.

The centre of telephone operations is Oakville, where about a mile of poles have been erected and strung, extending each way from the village.

The Power Committee on Saturday afternoon decided to engage the firm of Holman, Drayton & Mouchen, of Toronto, to against City Solicitor Waddell in protecting the city's interests in the injunction proceedings brought by Robert S. Morris to restrain Hamiton from entering into a contract with the Hydro-Electric Commission. When the committee met the Mayor explained that no word had been received from W. E. Middleton, who was the choice of some members of the committee. In conversation over the telephone with Corporation Counsel Fuderton the latter highly recommended Mr. Drayton, who is sp. en of as likely to be Foronto's new City Solicitor. A resolution to engage Mr. Fullerton was moved by Ald. Anian and seconded by Ald. Peregrine. Ald. Morris moved in amendment, seconded by Ald. Cooper, that Mr. Middleton be engaged. This should be done, he thought, because they knew exactly where Mr. Middleton stood. BURNED OUT.

Woolverton Block at Grimsby Desiroyed This Morning.

Fire of unknown origin did consider able damage at Grimsby this morning. The Woolverton block, on Main street, was badly gutted. The fire started about 9.45 in rear of the men's furnishing store of W. F. Maddox. It worked its way into a Chinese laundry adjoining; into Schwab & Gilmore's barber shop, and into the Grimsby Club, and also scorched Culp's harness shop. The also scorched Culp's harness shop. The building was a long one, having a front-age of about 150 feet. It was of frame, with a covering of sheet iron. Mr. Maddox's stock was greatly damaged by fire, and the contents of the other places suffered by water. By 11.30 the fire was out. The loss has not yet been estimated.

GOOD SWIMMER'S BOAT DRIFTED.

Charles Green, a Fine Young Man, Lost His Life In Lake Ontario.

A sad fatality occurred near Burlington Beach on Saturday afternoon, whe: Charles Green was drowned in the lake about a quarter of a mile out from shone, while swimming from a boat. The drowning happened about 4 o'clock and ad one eye-witness, Miss Isabel Camer on, a nurse employed by Mr. Ernest La zier, who, unfortunately, did not see the young man's predicament in time to send assistance to him. Green wa imployed by the Cataract Power Comany as a metre reader, and after finpany as a metre reader, and after finishing his work at noon on Saturday he went to the Beach, where he resided with his mother. After lunch he did some work in the garden and then decided to go for a row. Borrowing a boat from a friend named. Frock, he asked his nother if she would like to go with him. She replied that she was not feeling well and would rather stay at home. Green did not prees her, and taking his bathing suit, jumped in the boat and went alone. Bowing out until he was about a mile from shore, he changed his blothes for his bathing suit and detinto the water. Whether the lake was too cold for him and he became distressed with cramps or whether he swam too far from the heave whether he swam too the former was the second successive the heave whether he swam too the former was the lake was too cold for him and he became distressed with cramps or whether he swam too for from the heave whether he swam took and the second successive whether he was more than the second successive the heave whether he was not the former than the same than the second successive the second successive the second successive whether he was not to the second successive the second suc with cramps or whether he swam too from the boat and could not reach i ed with cramps or whether he swam too far from the boat and could not reach it again will never be known, but it is thought that as there was a high wind blowing the boat might have drifted a considerable distance and caused him to become exhausted and sink before he could reach it. This latter theory is the most probable, as, according to an experienced man, who wat watching the boat, it was drifting almost as fast as a man could swim. It was just before the unfortunate young man sank that that time he was swimming towards the boat and seemed to be in difficulty. She immediately gave the alarm and Mr. Ackland got his boat out to assist him. Refore he had gone a dozen feet, however, the struggling man had disappeared, and was not seen again. Mr. Ackland, on being unable to find any trace of the young man, secured the boat and a hat were found in the bottom.

There was no chance to cross ahead; the only thing left to do was to take to the deep ditch on the north side of the road, and this was done. The auto struck the opposite bank like a battering ram, throwing Mrs. Thompson clean over the glass protection, and tumbling all except Mr. Thompson in wild chaos. Mrs. Thompson probably received the most severe injuries to her back and limbs, and the other occupants had such a bruising experience that they will likely remember the accident for some time to come. All the injured were taken back to the city on the electric car. The machine had come within an ace of turning turtle in the ditch.
