Notoriety.
By H. L. RANN.

Notoriety is a fictitious form of advertising which some men are willing to contract for at scale rates, while others attempt to sully it by jilting their property with the plaintiff.

There are several kinds of notoriety, any one of which will pursue a man to the edge of the grave and fresco his memory with slander. If a member of the church in good standing orders a case of malt extract for the sole use of a sick wife, the expressman won't be peddling down the street before his neighbours will be willing to make an affidavit that he returned home late before last in a tangle-footed state and tried his night key on the outside cellar door. This kind of notoriety is harder to live down than a reputation for frequenting church suppers in the company of a devastating squire.

Another popular brand of notoriety is that which a man gains by walking down the street with somebody else's wife. By doing this twice in succession an esteemed citizen will establish to the perfect satisfaction of all concerned that he is a desperate and hardened flirt and should be labored with by the vestry.

An easy and inexpensive method of securing notoriety is to own the only pair of white duck pants in town and spring them with an apologetic look upon an outraged community. It requires more moral courage to perform this simple act than to walk up to the cannon's mouth and die in small fragments for one's country. If the white duck pants that now lie buried in cedar chests, after one timid sally on Main street, could be brought to life and beauty, they would form a limp procession that would reach from coast to coast.

Newspaper notoriety consists of a large, plain spoken scare head, followed by a column and a half of agile guessing on the part of the reporter staff. Sometimes the reporters guess so close to the facts that the accused is glad to compromise by serving six months in the county jail and paying the attorney fees.

Two Birds One Stone.

Norah had arrived from Erin's Isle but a week, and was with difficulty being "broken in" to the routine of an English household. Cleanliness was not a very strong point with her, and her cooking, apart from "spuds" was hardly all that could be desired.

"If you are not quite sure on any point, come and ask me at once," said her mistress.

Dinner was just about to be served, when there was a clatter along the hall, and the breathless Norah poked her head round the dining-room door.

"Please, ma'am," she asked, "an will I be knowin' when the pudding is done enough?"

"Stick a knife into it," said her mistress, with a resigned air. "If the knife comes out clean, the pudding is ready to serve."

"Yes, ma'am," said Norah; "and I'll be after that crathur that's bollin' over!"

"And, oh, Norah"—the mistress had an afterthought—"if the knife does come out clean, you might stick all the rest of the knives into the pudding!"

C. E. I. Defeat St. Bon's

The St. Bon's and C.E.I. were the contestants in last night's football match. There was a fair attendance but the high wind that prevailed made it unfavorable for a good exhibition. Shortly after the opening the St. Bon's scored and after some fast play the Institute boys sent in the equalizer. After changing ends a better game was witnessed. During a scrimmage the St. Bon's notched up their second goal. The C.E.I. then became aggressive and added two more goals to their score. The game ended—C.E.I. 3 goals; St. Bon's, 2. The players were:

C.E.I.—Goal, Volsey; backs, Stick, Hussey; halves, Drover, Fox, Churchill; forwards, Bartlett, Evans, James, Oliver, Churchill.

St. Bon's—Goal, St. John; backs, Rennie, Byrne; halves, Ryan, Higgins, Cleary; forwards, Templeman, Robertson, Kent, Keating, Callahan.

What Did He Mean?

Last year, when the time for his annual holiday came, Mr. Hounsell retired with his wife and family to a little farmhouse down in Dorset, where quiet and rest seemed likely to be assured.

Close by, however, was a pig-sty, a very piggy sty, the presence of which was indicated unmistakably under certain wind conditions. When planning, therefore, to revisit the farm, again this year, Mr. Hounsell wrote to the landlord, saying that he would take the place once more, but only on condition that the piggery was first attended to.

The farmer's reply was concise and to the point:

"Can accommodate you easily. There have been no pigs on the place since you left!"

Had Rabbit Sold.

A Matter for the Game Board.

Complaint is being made that some of the canned rabbit that is marketed is unfit for consumption. A few days ago a city grocer who bought a shipment of the stuff, found that the contents of twelve tins in one case only were in a bad state of preservation, with a strong odor from them, hence they could not be retailed to customers. In the first place the owner of the goods has been victimized as the number of tins containing the poisonous food are left to remain unsold without any returns whatever. The grocer referred to intends to report the matter, we understand, to the Game and Inland Fisheries Board for investigation. All that is known at present is that the article was put up some where on the West Coast of the Island, but the matter of bringing the violation home to the right party is a question that will probably remain unsettled. Whilst the packers of rabbit were granted permission by the Game Board to carry on business yet their tins are not labelled for the protection of the purchasers, nor are the packers names registered numerically as in the case of the salmon and lobster industries which are controlled by the Marine and Fisheries Department and are so stamped that in the event of infractions of the law being reported, the guilty parties are easily traced. It is now up to the Game Board to do something.

Rifle Shooting.

The following clipping is from a New Westminster contemporary. The N. Rice mentioned is well known to C. L. B. and Rifle Club men, his local standing in both associations being excellent. It will be seen that his training on our local Rifle Range has borne good fruit in his new home in British Columbia, and that he came second in the rifle competition.

AND ANOTHER CENTURY.

Member of Civilian Rifle Club Hangs up Hundred.

The third century of the season was notched on the Brownsville range on Saturday afternoon when William J. Sloan, a member of the Civilian Rifle Association, came through and incidentally took down two silver spoons for the performance.

Sloan's score, however, does not tie with that made by George Burr a week previous, as on that occasion Burr made a possible along with the century. (R. at 500).

Two new members of the Association, N. Rice, who recently came from Newfoundland, and W. H. Oliver, tied for second place with 91 each. The following are the scores:—

W. J. Sloan	200	500	600	Ttl
N. Rice	33	34	33	100
W. H. Oliver	30	31	30	91
H. Perkins	30	30	30	90
G. Burr	30	31	29	90
H. Lindahl	29	31	27	87
C. A. Dadds	25	31	28	84
L. Davis	30	30	20	80
A. F. Menzies	27	30	22	79
E. W. Jewhurst	29	33	17	79
J. H. Vidal	28	25	23	76

All scores under 75 not published.

Advantage of The Red Indian.

Most people have one leg shorter than the other, and this is proved by the fact that people when they are lost in a fog wander round and round in a circle, said Dr. Oxley, in giving evidence in a workmen's compensation case in Bow County Court recently.

"Don't they attribute this to the development of the brain?" asked his honor. "Red Indians can walk straight in a fog."

Dr. Oxley explained that the Red Indians walked with the feet flat and the toes straight, while civilized people turned their toes outward.

Brigade Match.

To-night's match between the C.L.B. and C.C.C. is being looked forward to with interest, as a fast game is expected. The players will be:

C.L.B.—Goal, F. Marshall; backs, Bradbury, Ryall; halves, Newman, Whiter, Trebble; forwards, Keats, Readell, Andrews, Hunt, R. Marshall.

C.C.C.—Goal, H. Phalen; backs, J. Walsh, Thompson; halves, Christie, W. Hart, Kavanagh; forwards, Reardon, Hart, F. Phalen, Evans, Woods.

Big Price For A Liqueur.

What is probably a record price for a liqueur was obtained recently when a parcel of yellow Chartreuse, the product of the ancient monastery in France, was sold under the hammer by Mr. H. E. King, of the firm of auctioneers, Messrs. Bashfords, Limited, at the London Commercial Sale Rooms, at 30s. per dozen—London paper.

Not Stuck-on Itself.

The built-in—not stuck-on—tire like Dunlop Traction Tread is the only successful Anti-Skid. Manufacturers of the stuck-on type dare not make the corrugations big enough to prevent skidding without fearing to make them so big that they will destroy resiliency.

The Cheapness of Satisfaction.

The cost of the safety which you obtain by purchasing Dunlop Traction Tread tires is insignificant in comparison with the price of neglect.

Takes a Grip on the Road.

Dunlop Traction Tread grips the road. It doesn't matter where the road is or what it is made of.

Success is Always in Evidence.

We predict that Dunlop Traction Tread will become the standard Anti-Skid tire of this country. Watch the tires as the cars go by.
