St. Patrick's Day Celebration at Holyrood

The Star of the Sea Association held its twenty-fourth annual parade on St. Patrick's Day.

The Star of the Sea Association held its twenty-fourth annual parade on St. Patrick's Day. Conditions were ideal for outdoor celebrations, adding to the joy of the day. The parade was a success, with many people attending and enjoying the festivities.

The members assembled in their hall at 9 o'clock, and the business of the day was conducted. The Rev. Fr. Finn, the spiritual director, presided over the ceremony.

Spiritual Director, Fr. Finn, and the Star of the Sea Association, and the parade was continued to the Hall. Here the President thanked the members for the success of the parade, and was in return complimented by Messrs. Hannon and Dwyer, who felt impressed with the high order of the President's speech, and thought he appeared to possess the gift of public speaking, and would undoubtedly have made his mark as an orator had his inclinations drawn him in that direction.

The new members were welcomed, and the Secretary was ordered to place on record the Association's appreciation of the day's ceremonies at the church and of the whole-hearted reception given them at the Presidency by Fr. Finn. All the members and their friends were encouraged to patronize "An Arizona Cowboy" to be staged by Mr. Hannon's dramatic troupe in the Star of the Sea Hall on St. Patrick's night, and a matinee for the old people and children was announced for the afternoon at 2 o'clock. The morning proceedings then closed.

The dramatic troupe was under the capable management of Mr. J. A. Hannon and comprised the following ladies and gentlemen: Misses Nellie O'Flynn, Rosie Kennedy, Nellie Veitch and Rita O'Neill, and Messrs. J. J. Crawley, T. J. Devereaux, C. R. Kennedy, Patrick Walsh, J. J. Carroll, Robert Kirby, Wm. Byrne, James Hickey and Walter Maloney. Miss Flynn directed the musical portion of the programme, and some specialties between the acts were given by Messrs. Maloney, Kennedy, Kirby and Miss R. Kennedy. A local side line, "We ain't goin' dry no more," was featured and brought down the house.

The stage fittings and scenery lent charm to the surroundings and the incidents inseparable from western life were vividly portrayed to the audience, who showed hearty appreciation of the efforts of the troupe by being present in the largest number ever assembled in the Star Hall and by making the gross proceeds for the night $180.00. This great encouragement to performers to be greeted with a bumper house, and greater still to be the reapers of such a record financial success, and still greater to awaken the enthusiasm of the audience, to have some of their episodes punctuated with rounds of applause, and to hear the praise, loud, hearty and sincere, that was bestowed upon them. At the close Rev. Fr. Finn proceeded to the front of the stage and complimented the manager and performers on their successful presentation and the audience on their appreciation, and he thought their attitude during the progress of the performance confirmed what he felt. It was the best since '09.

The dance that followed was well patronized and fiddler Crawley kept his patrons busy till the early hours.

"Owe my life to Carnol," says Mr. Sinclair

Following a railway accident, after other medicines failed, he got relief from two bottles of Carnol.

The following letter needs no comment from us. We leave it to Mr. Sinclair to tell about his experience in his own words. "I was very much run down and nervous, and I was having a railway accident some years ago. Medicines failed to give me any real help, so I decided to try Carnol. I did not have any faith in patent medicines, but a friend of mine said Carnol was far superior to any other of the so-called patent medicines. 'Give it a trial,' he said, 'and let me know the results.' I am glad to say this wonderful medicine has done for me what no other medicine has done, and it therefore gives me great pleasure to give this evidence in favor of Carnol. I feel, after the strenuous life of the world, that they need a building up tonic, to take Carnol. It is only by giving it a fair trial that they will know its splendid qualities."

After using the first bottle I noticed a marked improvement. My appetite improved and after the second bottle I could eat like a horse, even raw potatoes and onions would be as welcome as apples. I slept like a log and after a refreshing sleep, I was able to take up the strenuous work of the hustling insurance agent. This work calls for considerable nervous energy in closing business, and I can say, with confidence, Carnol has no superior in the medicine line. I would suggest that your company give this letter a most conspicuous place, so that everyone may know what a great medicine is before the public as a restorative tonic and flesh builder. I say, with all confidence, I owe my life to Carnol. Nothing equals this medicine."—Gordon M. Sinclair, Chatham, N.B.

of morning. Messames Butler, Veitch, Byrne, Messes Byrne and Hennessey, who had charge of the supper table, did a thriving business, and this, in addition to some card games, considerably augmented the night's proceeds.

The Star of the Sea Association owes a debt of gratitude to manager Hannon and his troupe for the production and successful presentation of this play, and to the many patrons who journeyed long miles from the South Shore and surrounding settlements to patronize it, not forgetting our own people.

St. Patrick's Day celebration of 1925 will long be remembered in the journals of the Association, and it richly deserves to be so cherished.

Editor Evening Telegram

Dear Sir.—I thought I would write a few lines to let your readers know some of the doings of this place. On Sunday afternoon, March 1st, we met at headquarters and paraded to the C. of E. for the purpose of having our company flag dedicated. The Dedication Service was performed by the Rev. A. Sheppard, Rector of this Parish. A large congregation attended to witness the ceremony. At the close the rector gave us a splendid address. During the winter we have done many good turns visiting the sick and aged of the place, taking with us our baskets.

Two years ago yesterday, March 17th, we celebrated our birthday, on which we spent a very enjoyable evening. We were entertained at the Lecture Hall, at 7.30 p.m., by the ladies of the Local Association. After the Roll had been called we formed a horseshoe for the enrollment, when seven recruits from Forget-Me-Not Patrol, were enrolled, and two from the Red Rose Patrol. Each leader took her patrol and had a knot-tying competition, which the Red Rose Patrol won; the inspectors being Captain Hutchins, Lieut. Hunt and Mrs. Hutchins. Afterwards we indulged in games until dark when the whistle blew, calling the leaders to secure a corner each to their patrol, when the youngest Guide in the company came forward and lighted the candles on the birthday cake. At 11.30 a campfire was rendered by the Captain and the Court of Honor. A most enjoyable evening was closed by singing the National Anthem and Taps.

GIRL GUIDE,
Greenspond, March 18, 25.

GIVING.
Increase the joy of giving and gain your soul's applause, by giving, giving, giving, to every worthy cause.

Perhaps you need the dollars for gas and rubber tires, for farthings and collars, and licorice and lyes; perhaps you need the skillful, the kopeck and the goat, that you may make a killing in long Jim-swinger coat. The more you need the money, the nobler is the deed, when you, serene and sunny, hand out the chicken feed; to put a better steeple upon the village kirk; to help deserving people, oppressed and out of work; to still the bitter wailing of children in distress; to aid the poor and ailing through life's bleak wilderness. I purchase raiment gaudy, an outfit all complete, to decorate my body, my whiskers and my feet. I spend all kinds of plunder each year on Auto Row; I buy the choicest wonder that shows things how to go. The sort of joy that spending imparts so quickly flees! It soon has found an ending, it's transient as a breeze. The joy of giving lingers as long as I'm on deck; it reaches to my fingers, I feel it in my neck. It yields a glowing gladness to know I've carried aid, to some one soaked in sadness, discouraged and afraid. To give and keep on giving, to shovel out the dough! It adds a joy to living that tightness never knew.

Reclamation of the Black Country

If you hear anyone speak of the Black Country correct him, for there is no Black Country to-day. The southern part of Staffordshire, which went for so long under that name, has earned a brighter title now.

The dust and dirt of factory and coal-pit no longer hang like a pall over the Midland area. Strange though it may seem, visibility nowadays is as good in the "Black Country" as it is in Surrey or Hertfordshire.

There are still some acres of ugly, derelict land—pit-mounds, slag-heaps, and toadey dirt—but even these are disappearing. They are being turned into parks and playing fields.

In connection with this work a movement has been initiated by the combined authorities of several townships to launch a £3,000,000 scheme of land reclamation.

Parks For Slag-Heaps.
Under this scheme 3,000 acres of derelict land will be attacked. The land will be mainly pit-mounds and slag-heaps, and the districts most affected will be around Coesley, Willenhall, Bilston, Wednesbury, Tipton and West Bromwich.

It is proposed to level the mounds and convert them into recreation grounds and building sites, whilst re-afforestation is also to be attempted in some parts.

The scheme is quite workable, for flourishing gardens, pleasant groves, and picturesque parks already stand in some places which were once grim and unsightly slag-heaps.

A noteworthy example of this change is Tipton's Victoria Park.

At Hill Top, near West Bromwich, where there was once pit-mounds and spoil-banks, allotments have been dug and 400 allotment holders are growing produce which has gained marked success at local shows.

Other districts have utilised waste ground for building sites, so that the "Brighter Staffordshire" movement is already well launched.

Wolvin Denies Toronto Report

"There is absolutely no foundation whatever for the statement," was the reply of Roy Wolvin, President of the British Empire Steel Corporation, to a report from Toronto, that "English directors are disgusted with Besco management, and will change it at the annual meeting in the near future, and that they desire to bring McDougall back to management."

The report was read to Mr. Wolvin, and he asked that it be given absolute denial.
