KENT.

A great overhanging cleft of rock of many tons weight at the rear of Mr. Sutherland's lime kiln, Wiarton, came crashing down the other day. It struck a large rock below and broke, which checked it in its descent, or it would have rolled straight through the kiln; as it was it lodged behind it. A large piece of the broken rock was driven through the roof of the fireman's shed, were Messrs. McKay and Wilkinson were sitting. The former was badly injured, and is in a precarious state; the latter escaped unhurt.
