Extending Over a Quarter of a Century

-The Annual Meeting-Gratifying

For the past quarter of a century the Women's Christian Association of this city has carried on charitable works of constantly increasing importance. The Aged People's Home, the Home for Incurables and the Woman's

Refuge and Infants' Home are all conducted by the association, which, in many other ways, makes brighter and happier the lives of indigent and unfortunate citizens. The 25th annual meeting of the association was held yesterday afternoon in the parlors of the Young Wemen's Christian Association. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Robert Reid, sen., the chair was taken by Mrs. J. A. Murray, second vice-president. Among the others present were: Mesdames Perrin, Kent, Gibson, St. John Hyttenrauch, Ward, Hopkins, Mitchell, Merchant, Cox, Ingram, Meek, Winnett, Cline and Jackson; Misses Fraser, Lougheed, Boyle, Hopkirk, Kennedy, Robinson and Mc-

The secretary, Mrs. M. M. Pattullo, presented an excellent report, pointing out that additional room was much needed in the Home for Incurables. Many who had applied for admission had been reluctantly turned away. To the Woman's Refuge and Infants'

Home 21 adults and 17 infants have been admitted during the year, and 9 adults and 15 infants remain. At the Aged People's Home 101 aged people have been cared for, 10 deaths have occurred, 8 were discharged, 5 left and 78 remain-42 men and 35 women. In the Home for Incurables, on Oct. 1, 1898, there were 20 patients. During the year 9 more have been admitted; 4 deaths took place, 2 have been discharged and 23 remain. The relief committee have, as usual been indefa-

Before taking them I was troubled at night by having to rise, but can now sleep, and do not feel weary in the morning. I hope that this may induce other sufferers from kidney or urinary troubles to give Doan's Kidney Pills a faithful trial, for I know that no other remedy could have acted so well as they did in my case."

HOMESICKNESS

Considerations Which Operate to the Promotion of Nostalgia.

There is a malady which boasts of a learned appeliation compounded of two great words, but which is better known by a homlier and far more expressive name in the vernacular, and yet, although this binominal disorder is described in the dictionaries as "a vehement desire * * affecting the physical health," it has not been assigned a place in the "Nomenclature of Diseases," for which the Royal College of Physicians of London is responsible. The fact, too, that home-sickness is impervious to drugs, is nevertheless in the highest degree amenable to treatment, might credibly seem to still further justify its Inclusion in the official glossary of the 1,053 natural shocks which flesh is heir to. With regard to the etiology of this unqualified complaint there still remains several points requiring elucidation, albeit in its genesis no bacillus is concerned, nor for its adequate diagnosis is there any need of either microscope or test tube. Shortly stated, the essential factor in the production of nostalgia is an invironment differing from that amid which the affected persons pass his or her early days. When this is the case some intangible influence is generated, which reacts upon the victim, but, just as happens, in many official maladies, there must be innate receptivity or preparedness of soil on the part of the individual who succumbs. This receptive state is favored by at least three separate things—race, edu-cation and temperament; but of these predisposing causes the last possesses less power than either of the other. Caeteris paribus, phlegmatic subjects are more likely to experience homesickness than their sanguine compeers. A tendency to despond without suffi-cient cause undoubtedly subserves toward nostalgia, but ardent, enthusiastic people, who continually look for-ward—who never are, but always to be-have the advantage, if advantage it be, of remaining immune. Education, or rather the want of it, is more potent than temperament, the trend of civilization, which is equivalent to education, being distinctly in the direction of cosmopolitanism. The deeper the ignorance the ruder the conditions of life under which a hu-man being exists, the greater the probability when exposed to its influence of his acquiring nostaglia. If an islander from Terra Del Fuego, for instance, were to be transported to the comparative paradise of the Gilbert Islands, in the Pacific Ocean, which have been described as "a cluster of pearls hung upon the equator," he would very likely bewail his hard lot, and pine for his own inclement and inhomitable wilderness. inhospitable wilderness; and if in like manner a Pacific Gilbertian were to be promoted to, say, Pall Mall-which, without wishing to speak disrespectfully of the equator, we maintain to be the more desirable abode of the two he also would no doubt soon break his heart longing for the delights of his sweltering hut in Micronesia.

19,601 13 But of the three predisponents' race it is which is the strongest and most inconsequential. Anglo-Saxons and their Celtic brethren yary their manners and customs while abroad to a less extent probably then people of less extent probably than people of any other nationality, and yet, in spite of this, they make the best colonists. Total disbursements......$10,584 38 who can appreciate the charm of a There is no human being in existence Balance on hand ...... 9,016 75 home more exquisitely that the Celtic-Miss F. Lougheed, on behalf of the cospital committee, reported the disloves his own native place beyond words, but he can endure enforced expatriation without giving in to nostalgia. The fact is he recognizes the futility of kicking against the pricks, and so makes his mind up to sacrifice a portion of his life, or even, if the worst comes to the worst, the whole of it. For nostalgies we must turn to some other tribe. When all is said they remain a narrow-minded crew, whose mental processes run in grooves. They may call their failing by the high-sounding name of patriot-tom, but such it is not. Nostalgia is the cat's complaint, a purely selfish disorder, whereas love of country can flourish anywhere and takes no account of self. And so, after all, our masters in medicine are perfectly right. Nostalgia is righteously excluded from a list of shocks that Anglo-Saxon flesh is heir to.

a New Woman. The people of St. Anthony, Kent county, N. B., have lately been inquir-ing of Mrs. Clara J. Dupay, of that place, how she came to have such good health after suffering so long from weakness of the heart that she was scarcely able to get around. So that all might know how she was cured she gave the following statement for publication: "I had been troubled with palpitation of the hart and weakness for some time, till at last I could hardly drag myself about. I heard of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills curing so many people that I thought I would try them. I must say that they did me good from the outset and have so improved my health in every way that I feel like a new woman.

"I do not know what I would have done had it not been for Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which cured me when I was in a serious condition.' If one were to canvass almost any of the towns or cities of the Maritime Provinces he would find many cases of cures made by these wonderful pills. They are indicated in such cases as palpitation, weak or irregular pulse, smothering, dizzy or fainting spells, paralysis, nervousness, sleeplessness, pale and sallow complexion, weakness, lack of vitality and female complaints.
