REAL-LIFE ROMANCE; MCST AMAZING' STORY

WENT TO PRISON TO SAVE A WOMAN'S HONOR.

The dreams of dramatists and novelists were surpassed the other day in New York when a lawyer divulged an amazing story of hew a young man of wealth and position a year or so ago exchanged a co.lege career and the brightest part of his life for a term in sing Sing prisoner as a burglar that the honor of a woman's name might be preserved inviolate. The woman declared to her lawyer that only her servants knew of it, and that some of them have since blackmailed her out of $86,000.

Although the names of the principals were kept secret, this fact does not detract from the intense dramatic interest of the tale. It is told by Carl rish-r-hansen, lawyer and philanthropist.

In brief, there is now in Sing Sing, serving a three-year sentence, and un der an assumed name, a youth who suddenly disappeared from one of the greatest colleges in the east. This boyhe is understood to be scarcely past his teens—loved, and was loved by, a woman who is descended from one of New York's oldest and most respected

The young man, scion of a house whose name is familiar to even the casual follower of events, was in the apartments of this woman when her thi shand entered and caught him. In order that no evil suspicion might be entertained against the woman, the college man told her husband he was a Lurglar and had entered the flat to 10b it, which he had tried to do after int midating the wife.

The apparent intruder was arrested, tried and convicted under an assumed name. The nusband gled recently, and now the one for whom a coilege career and several years of life were sacrificed is trying, without notoriety, to obtain from the governor pardon for the prisoner. Mr. Fischer-Hansen, whose office is at No. 246 Broadway, vouches for the remarkable story. Probably it would never have become known to the public had not the lawyer telephoned con-

BARONESS BURDETIT-COUTTS The World's Greatest Woman Philanthropist Angela Georgiana, Baroness Burdett-Coutts, the lady bountiful of England, one of the partners in the great banking house of Coutts-second only, in wealth, to the Bank of England-and one of the richest peeresses in the kingdom, has had a romantic and remarkable career in her ninety-one her: "Next to my mother, she is the most wonderful woman in England." She was the daughter of Sir Francis Burdett and Sophia Coutts: her maternal grandfather, Thomas Coutts, died ignoring his children, and leaving his great fortune to his second wife, who was Miss Mellon, a well-known actress. The widow later married the Duke of St. Albans, whose relatives treated her with ridicule and contempt for her verbal inaccuracies, her quaint speeches and her inability to master the social code of her set. Her will revealed her revenge when it was found that every penny of her fortune went to her step-granddaughter, Angela Burdett, then twenty-three, with the years. She was a close friend of Queen Victoria, and Edward VII. said of understanding that she should add a hyphen and Coutts to her name.

Then Miss Burdett-Coutts, in 1837, the year Victoria became Queen, began her life of benevolence and beneficence, limiting herself to no one phase of helpfulness; but wherever she could benefit humanity her heart and her purse were open. She built and endowed St. Stephen's Church, Westminster; endowed three colonial bishoprics, secured the government adoption of traveling inspectors of schools, gave funds for the topographic survey of Jerusalem, aided emigrants on a large scale, established a home for women, fitted out hundreds of boys for the navy, suggested the formation of the East London Weavers' Association, erected model tenements, aided Sir Thomas Brooke in his work in Sarawak, helped the starving fishermen of Cape Clear Island and the poor of London and Scotland, organized the Turkish Compassionate Fund to help the peasantry during the Russo-Turkish war, and for nearly seventy years has devoted herself to charities.

In 1871 the Queen made Miss Coutts a peeress, and ten years later, when she was sixty-seven years of age, she married W. L. Ashmead-Bartlett, a young American—now a member of Parliament—thirty-seven years her junior, settling on him an annuity of $250,000 a year. Surprise became consternation, and, later, genuine hostility, when it became known that the Baroness, after nursing young Bartlett through a long illness incident to his work on her Turkish charity, had married him.
