

WILL TRY TO KEEP CHRISTMAS MERRY

London Theatres To Offer the Usual Pantomimes For the Children.

SOLDIERS' CHEAP FARES

Government Arranging Lower Transportation For Those Home On Leave.

London, Dec. 20.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—In spite of the gloom which has descended on London at night, and the general depression as a result of the war, the more important London theatres will offer their Christmas pantomimes as usual, taking the position that children must not be robbed of their holiday treat because of the war.

Chandell, Jack and the Beanstalk, Sleeping Beauty, and a number of other favorite fancies of childhood are to be revived at Christmas time, with the same brilliancy as in past years. Hotels, which have not attempted to have dancing since the opening of the war, have also announced that they will resume the weekly Saturday evening dinner dances in an effort to throw off the gloom which is settling over England.

Mourning in Evidence.
Mourning is rapidly displacing color in London streets, and windows are adorned with black bays. Belgian and French visitors are heard all in mourning, and few London hostesses are now able to arrange dinners, even very small affairs, without discovering that the war has visited death upon the families of many of their guests. Soldiers on Christmas leave are to be granted a special concession in railway fares. Many of the wounded men, back from the front, as well as men who have been granted a short leave, so they may visit friends in England, desire to make trips which would cost far more than they could afford to pay out of their slight compensation from the government. The government, which now has charge of the railways, therefore is arranging for their accommodation at greatly reduced rates.

Not Free Tickets.
The board of trade actually operates the railway now, so the government will be taking the money out of its own pocket in effect when it reduces fares for the recruits and returning soldiers. But for the sake of accounting, the reduction probably will be charged to the war office.

It has been suggested that soldiers desiring to go to their homes for Christmas should be permitted to ride free on the train which is crowded, but such a concession is unlikely. Fares will be greatly reduced, but not waived.

IN POLICE COURT

Albert King, an Indian, pleaded guilty to the police court today to a breach of the Indian act, that of having secured liquor. He would not tell where he got it.

"Where did you get it?" the magistrate asked him.

"Here in London," the magistrate persisted.

"Down the street."

"Well, who sold it to you?" was the next question.

"I don't know the man," was the enlightening response.

He Sinned.

CONFESSES TO MURDER
According to Police, Detroit Woman Admits Beating Another to Death.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 21.—Mrs. Antoinette Becker, 38 years old, has confessed, according to the police, that she killed Miss Frances Monahan, the aged woman who was found dead in death in her room here last Wednesday. Becker was the motive. Fifteen dollars which Mrs. Becker told the police she took from a drawer in Miss Monahan's room, was found concealed in Becker's home.

Mrs. Becker was a daily caller at the home of Miss Monahan, to whom she sold bread and pastry.

GETS ONE MONTH
Man Who Buried Child's Body Sentenced in Police Court.

Mark Woodbury, who was arrested on Sunday, December 13, for concealing the birth of a child and burying the infant on the bank of the south branch of the river, east of Adelaide street, pleaded guilty to the charge today in police court.

Woodbury is an Englishman, and his excuse for not telling of the birth of his child, which died soon after birth, was that he did not think this was necessary.

"When anything like that happens in the Old Country, they don't need to tell the authorities," he said. "I was misled. I was committing a crime when I buried the baby."

Magistrate Judd sentenced Woodbury to one month in jail. The sentence was a light one, because the magistrate said he believed Woodbury was telling the truth when he said he did not know he had committed a crime.

Christmas Music In Many Churches

Special Anthems, Solos and Duets Mark Services of Yesterday—Others Will Be Given Friday.

Christmas music was rendered in many of the city churches at yesterday's services. In others, anthems and solos in keeping with the spirit of the next will be rendered on that day, and repeated on Sunday.

In the First Methodist Church, the choir under the direction of Mrs. A. D. Jordan, rendered some beautiful numbers. In the morning the anthems were: "Sing O Heavens" (Tours), "The Birthday of the King" (Niedling), and "Holy Night" (Adam), and at night, "Blessed Be the Lord of Israel" (Dr. Williams), "Glory to God in the Highest" (Whitney-Coombs), and "Christmas" (Harris-Rochelle). Miss Litta Layman, contralto soloist, was heard to better advantage than in her selection, "O Rest in the Lord." Mrs. Edward Wyatt, although suffering from cold, also sang to good effect. Other solos were by Mrs. May, Mr. Shult, and Mr. Harding, bass.

At St. Andrew's, special organ numbers, anthems and solos composed a most attractive program of Christmas music. The Carol-Anthem, "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day" (Stevenson), with chorus and soloists, sung at the morning service, was repeated by request at night in place of the "Sanctus," as previously arranged. Mr. Wheeler, organ number, "No Angelina," "Glory to God in the Highest" (Henrich), with ladies' trio singing behind him, was heard to better advantage than in her selection, "March in the Morning" (Goss-Custard). Evening service: "The Birth of a King" (Niedling), Miss Shoebottom solo, "The New-Born King" (L. Espin), "The Field With Their Flocks Abiding" (J. A. West), postlude, "Marche Moderne" (Lemare).

In St. Paul's last night a very beautiful anthem was "Happy and Blest Are They," from Mendelssohn's "St. Paul." A solo in the Nunc Dimittis was rendered by Mrs. C. M. Peckham, who sang expressively. The choir of St. James' Anglican Church, with Charles E. Percy directing, concluded a grand concert, assisted by Miss Helen Macpherson, soprano soloist.

A NEW VOLCANO

Mount Kanaka, California, Apparently Throwing Out Column of Smoke.

Redding, Cal., Dec. 21.—A column of dense smoke yesterday rose from the peak of Mount Kanaka, 30 miles west from this city and fifteen miles north of Lassen Peak. A heavy cap of snow on Mount Kanaka made it improbable that the smoke could have come from forest fires. The forestry officials, who supplied the first accurate information concerning Lassen Peak when it became active, said they believed Kanaka was a volcano. Mount Kanaka is 5,000 feet high.

WAR BRINGS THREE COUNTRIES TOGETHER

Denmark, Sweden and Norway Reach Understanding.

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 21.—King Christian of Denmark, King Gustave of Sweden and King Haakon of Norway, who with their foreign ministers, met in conference at Malmo Friday and Saturday to formulate a plan designed to combine their respective interests during the war, reached an agreement on the special questions raised. The statement is made in an official communication issued here. The communication in substance follows: "The meeting of the three monarchs was inaugurated Friday with a speech by King Gustave, who alluded to the unanimous desire of the kingdoms of the north to preserve their neutrality, and pointed to the desirability of limited co-operation between the kingdoms as a safeguard for their common interests. He said that when he invited the monarchs of Norway and Denmark to meet at Malmo, he was impressed with a deep sense of the responsibility which would be incurred in relation to the present and the future if any measure which would contribute to the welfare of the three peoples were neglected.

"Kings Haakon and Christian replied, testifying to their sincere joy at the initiative of King Gustave and expressing their hopes that the conference would have good and happy results for the three peoples.

"The deliberations of the monarchs and ministers consolidated the good relations among the three kingdoms, and also enabled an agreement to be reached on the special questions raised. It was finally agreed to pursue the co-operation, especially begun, and to arrange, when circumstances should occur, for fresh meetings between representatives of the three governments."

MURDER CHARGE FAILS

Democratic Leader Killed His Son-in-Law.

NEW CITY, N. Y., Dec. 20.—William V. Clear, mayor of Haverstraw, and Democratic leader in Rockland County, was acquitted by a jury in the supreme court here last night of the charge of murder in the first degree, on which he was tried for the killing of Eugene M. Newman, his son-in-law.

Newman was in Clear's office in Haverstraw waiting to tell the town clerk that he had married his daughter. It was there that Newman was killed, offered at the trial, that although he had learned that his daughter was to become a mother, he did not know that Newman had married her. The town clerk declared that driven temporarily out of his mind by his daughter's plight, he had no recollection of events immediately preceding the shooting, or of the tragedy itself.

ALLIES BOMBARDING DARDANELLES FORTS

LONDON, Dec. 21.—1:05 a.m.—An Athens dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company says that the allied fleet bombarded the interior forts of the Dardanelles Saturday.

A Reuter dispatch from Petrograd says that an admiralty statement announces that the cruiser Askold had arrived at Port Said and reports that while reconnoitering the coast of Egypt she captured the German steamer Halia in the harbor of Haifa and sent her to Port Said as a prize. Near Beirut the Askold sank a Turkish steamer.

Taking of Trenches Near St. Georges a Most Brilliant Action.

London, Dec. 21.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail in Northern France telegraphs: "One of the most brilliant actions in the advance that began last week was the taking of the German trenches near St. Georges, the Allies successfully stormed at the point of the bayonet."

"In attacking St. Georges, the Allies struck east as well as north, and they turned the angle of the flooded line. The Germans had dug some catenary trenches, but with the help of guns from the sea these proved much less terrible than they appeared.

REJUVENATION OF GOODS MAKES GREAT BARGAINS

Store in Connection With the Men's Industrial Home Is Real Bargain Counter.

A surprise awaited those who visited the Industrial Home Store, which threw its doors open to the public Saturday in the Salvation Army Citadel on Clarence street. The visitors who had been expecting a disordered and motley array of discarded clothing were amazed at the trim and businesslike appearance presented, the quantity and good condition of the stock, the attractive manner in which it was displayed.

The beginning of the week two officials of the home had canvassed on King street for clothing, boots, magazines, furniture. A wagon was subsequently sent around to cover the very low prices of the goods.

CHARITY CLEARING HOUSE

Churches Recommended to Report All Cases of Need to It.

Rev. W. H. Harvey, chairman of the Ministerial Alliance committee, appointed to report on the overlapping of charity work, has given notice of that association today, that all cases of need and want be reported first to the charity clearing house.

The committee also recommended that the plan of the Presbyterian Church, which had a storehouse for storing gifts to the poor, be followed by all churches. The system of friendly visiting was advocated.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

THE LOCAL MARKET

The local market this morning was an unusually small one, a few loads of hay and oats being the total offering. There is a brisk demand for hay and oats at the prevailing prices quoted below.

The butchers have apparently got all the Christmas pork needed, and it is not expected that there will be a heavy demand for pork this morning. Several dealers declared this morning that they did not intend to ship any live hogs this week.

With the stormy weather Saturday kept a large number of farmers and housewives away from the market, so in consequence, one of the biggest markets in years looked for Tuesday.

It is a fact that most housewives like to have the Christmas turkey a few days before Christmas, and the larger and better the bird, the more they are willing to pay for it. Several dealers declared this morning that they did not intend to ship any live hogs this week.

WHEAT RECEIPTS

Winnipeg, Dec. 19.—The wheat harvest was decidedly strong from the west, local prices opened high, and the market today was very active. The cash situation is firm, few offerings being made, but being put off to the future. A keen demand for export wheat, and while accurate figures on the quantity sold could not be obtained, it was estimated that about 1,000,000 bushels were worked for export. One prominent firm alone shipped over 200,000 bushels, and declared that wheat was easier sold today at present prices than when the market was low.

WHEAT

Chicago, Dec. 21.—Prospects of a big decrease of the stock of wheat in Chicago, and a heavy falling off in the United States visible supply, made the market today very active. At first, however, the market was very quiet, and prices were very low. The market then opened up, and prices rose sharply. SHOT DOWN SEVEN TO CAPTURE GUN

Gallant Act of Private Wilson Wins Him the Victoria Cross.

COMPANION WAS KILLED

Hero Was Formerly a News Vendor in Streets of Edinburgh.

London, Dec. 21.—Particulars as to Private George Wilson's fine feat in winning the Victoria Cross have been given to the London Daily Telegraph from a reliable source. It took place in the severe fighting near the village of Verneuil on September 14, the day on which Lieut. Sir Archibald Gordon Craig, of the 1st Buffs, was killed.

Wilson discovered there was a German machine gun stationed in a wood, and he decided to stop its operation. In his desperate venture he got the co-operation of a private of the Sixteenth King's Light Infantry.

They went out alone and managed to get quite close to the enemy's position, when Wilson's companion was killed.

Undaunted, however, Wilson continued on his perilous mission. One by one he shot the crew and then ran in and took possession of the gun and two cases and a half of ammunition.

Wilson's feat was a very gallant one, and he was awarded the Victoria Cross for his services.

Wilson was a news vendor in the streets of his native city of Edinburgh. He is one of a family of eight orphans, and started life as a news vendor, finding customers for his newspapers among the soldiers stationed at the castle. When he had himself enlisted in the Highland Light Infantry, he was sent to the front for some time he worked in the coal pits at Niddrie, but went back to his first place as news vendor.

Knocked Blind.
In one of his letters to his sister Wilson writes: "Yesterday, you will be surprised to hear, we caught four hens, and I volunteered to take them to a farm under fire to cook them. We are getting shelled with shrapnel. I was knocked blind for about three hours."

The Germans got into the trenches of the Canadian regiment, and they had a proper Saturday night, with hands and feet. We lost seven, and three wounded. The Germans lost 20 and 25 prisoners. If we could do that every night the war should be over by the new year.
