But as yet room, only to be broken by wild shouts of applause when in a clear tone of voice the foreman stated the verdict was not guilty. Immediately the decrum of the court of justice was forgotten, and oheers resounded from all quarters of the crowded room. Mrs. S. W. Dorsey sprang to her feet, clapping her hands, while tears streamed down her oheeks. There were many ladies in court silently weeping. Davidge asked to have the verdict recorded, which was done, while the deputy marshals vainly endeavored to quell the tumult. S. Dorsey and Brady were the recipients of many warm congratulations, and as they left the court room were greeted with renewed cheers by a crowd in front of the city hall.

The jury were discharged with the thanks of the court. In the ante rooms and the hall they were beset by a crowd of interested persons, prominent among them being the defendants and Mrs. Dorsey and Mrs. Peck, who thanked them for the verdict with tears in their eyes. As the foreman reached the sidewalk a large crowd burst into tumulituous cheers, which were renewed as each juror came out of the court. The foreman stated five ballots were taken by the jury.

Ker was the only representative of the prosecution in the court-room when the verdict was returned. Carpenter, Dorsey's conneel, congratulated him as the only one of the government counsel having pluck to show up in the hour of defeat. Ker says he was this morning informed by a court officer that Ingersoll had said the jury would return a verdiet of acquittal. He added that the other indictments against Brady would be pressed. Of course it would be necessary for the court to enter an order setting aside Rerdell's plea of guilty.

a good deal has been said about Toronto collegiate institute and its facilities for teaching classics to girls. As to the general efficiency of the school there can be no question: its roll of thoroughly trained pupils and their record at the university and the other public examinations, are not acqualled by equalled by any other institute in the pro-vince. It is above all things a training school for regular scholars, and if it is re-quired to do special or coaching work for girls the trustees will have to provide addi-Wylle to the orier when the court reassem-bled this morning. The erier soon returned with a message that the jury desired to communicate with the court. If they were to ask bir John he would most likely say that "Though I'm a used-up" un to look at I'm a rare un to go—for some years."

In reply we have to say:

(1) D'Alton McCarthy does not require "booming" at our hands. He is quite able to "boom" himself—and will.

(2) He may not be able to afford it at present, but that disability will not exist ten years hence.

(3) Sir John is "a rare un to go," and the longer he can keep, sing the better pleased we will be. The World is, however, probably aware that there is a limit to human life.

(4) The World will please observe that our prediction is that Sir Charles Tupper will succeed Sir John and Mr. McCarthy succeed Sir Charles. This will allow the latter not only to accumulate the necessary amount of wealth before being called upon to accept office, but leaves plenty of time for "booming." When the time arrives we shall expect The World to support Mr. McCarthy.
