from the commander of the British cruiser Rhyalist tell of an extraordinary scene at Rhyalist tell of an extraordinary scene at the New Hebrides, when threenatives were executed by order of the commander for killing and eating a French trader and his son. Immediately after the execution a number of natives asked for the bodies, and the commander, supposing that the relatives wanted the remains for burial, gave them up. The natives retired a short distance and immediately proceeded to cook and devour the bodies of the dead criminals, much to the horror of the British officers and their men, who did not, however, feel justified in interfeging.

deal of satisfaction. Being an insurer in similar Masonic companies in the United States, I had taken considerable interest in this Northwestern Masonic muddle and have been waiting anxiously to see the outcome. Certainly if I heard of anything which I Certainly if I heard of anything which I considered "crooked" being done in any company in which I am insured I would at once become what The Telegram calls an informer and demand an investigation. I look upon the Northwestern Masonic Aid as a company who are working for the purpose of making money, and in reality there is nothing fraternal about it, only in name. Mr. Dixon is quite right in taking this view of it and is deserving of the highest praise from the brotherhood for the expose if he has had anything to do with it. I admire his letter for the calm, dignified manner in which it is written when contrasted with another published in your paper on the 18th inst. He certainly does not evade the subject, which fact more than anything else will carry conviction to the heart of any right-thinking brother.

There is one thing, however, which has not yet been mentioned in any of this correspondance which I would like to call attention to. It is this: The proposer in these assessment companies receives a commission of from $7 to $10 on every thousand dollars of insurance (the references receive nothing) and he would seem to be the first one to be looked up and asked for an explanation. He must know his man personally, and for some fength of time. I am much surprised that the subject has not been already brought up. Now who was the proposer and who got the commission?
