Mrs. Charles Hall died at Beaconsfield last Thursday, aged 73 years. The funeral took place Saturday afternoon. She leaves two sons, Lansdowne, on the homestead, and Loran, in Bridgetown.

Rev. E. B. Moore, of Wolfville, who is chaplain of the 69th Battalion, was in town Friday last to meet the other officers of our county militia. Mr. Moore is asking the militia department for a room for a recreation room for the camp ground, where games and amusements may be carried on under his direction. The reverend gentleman spent Friday visiting his many friends in town.

Mr. Umhah died at the residence of T. Troop Messenger, at Centerville, Sunday evening, aged 89 years. Mrs. Messenger is a daughter. Mr. Umhah was a native of Halifax county and for many years was an official in the old Halifax penitentiary and afterwards at Dorchester. For the last twelve years he made his home with his daughter. Funeral took place today, Rev. Mr. Underwood officiating.

We notice by the St. John papers that Miss George Starratt, of Port Lorne, Annapolis Co., N. S., now stenographer for Alex. Watson, St. John, is the owner of a fine gold watch given by the United Typewriter Co. for the best work done in the shorthand department of the Saint John Business College during the year 1906. Miss Starratt is a sister of Miss Beatrice Starratt who obtained the highest marks in grade examination at Bridgetown school last summer.

Rev. W. H. Warren met with a painful accident on Sunday resulting in a fractured collar bone, which will lay him up for some weeks. He was starting on a trip to Granville Centre and at the corner of the Bay road attempted to drive on to the sidewalk to avoid the rough road. The horse turned up the Bay road and in bringing him back rather sharply the carriage collided with a telephone post throwing the reverend gentleman out. He landed on his right shoulder in the icy ditch. After the accident he, with wonderful pluck, walked to his home where his injuries were attended to by Drs. DeBois and Armstrong.

The Lord's Day Alliance.

To the Editor of the Monitor.
Sir,—In your last issue a contributor is advocating the Lord's Day Alliance. He says that they are taking action to preserve the Sabbath for the purpose for which God made it. He says that it was made for universal man in all ages. I agree with him in that particular. I will go further. God never abrogated the Sabbath. He said nothing about keeping the Lord's day as a day of rest. Six days shall thou labor and the seventh is a day of rest. We are keeping the first day of the week, or the venerable day of the sun—the day that Constantine the Great worshipped the sun before he embraced Christianity. Our Savior had respect for God's Sabbath and spoke of it forty years after the cross. Sunday is not in the Bible, the Lord's day only once. John, on the late of Palm Sunday, was in the spirit on the Lord's day, but he did not rest much on that day. I affirm that we dishonor God by not keeping his Sabbath. How often do we read in the good book, Keep my commandments; keep my Sabbath; keep my Holy Day. We read in the last chapter in the Bible that they that do his commandments have a right to the tree of life and may enter through the gates into the city.
CONTRIBUTOR NO. 2.

(Although the Monitor has given space to the above, we do not invite discussion of any religious subjects. The one thing we feared in starting our weekly sermons was that there would be some people disagreeing with the thoughts expressed, would desire to give their views. A newspaper goes to all classes of people and must cater to its readers. We would ask those who have any desire to enter into discussion to do so in the matter over in the light that although they do not hold with the views of the contributor, they can write with interest, and then—tear up their contribution to save it from the Monitor's waste paper basket).

The Debating Society.

Though this first meeting from various unavoidable causes was not as well attended as could have been wished, the debate itself was very satisfactorily carried on.
Rev. W. W. Warren was on motion put in the chair and after a few words of introduction, remarks prompted by an experienced which it is hoped and believed will be of considerable use to the young society he gave the subject, "Is Wealth More Beneficial to a Young Man than Education?"
Mr. O. S. Miller had undertaken to show the superior advantages of the first, but a previous engagement detained him during the earlier part of the evening, it fell to Mr. Shipton to open the debate on behalf of education. This he proceeded to do by discriminating between training and mere knowledge, claiming that education is a personal and inalienable possession, while wealth in the hands of a young man has all the disadvantages of an untried weapon.
In the interests of Mr. Miller's contention this position was ably assailed by Mr. Daniels and the attack was supported with a wealth of argument and illustration by Mr. Fay and Mr. Otterson, while before the close the old guard came up to their Waterloo in the person of Mr. Miller himself. For those rallied to the cause of education. Mr. Ralph Messenger, Mr. E. Craig, Mr. Wm. Burns and Mr. W. F. Reason gave a very apt illustration supporting his views drawn from our allies in the Far East.
When it came to the final test the side of education scored by a majority of one vote.
The question to be debated at the next meeting is "Is Prohibitory Legislation the Best Method of Dealing with the Liquor Traffic?" Mr. Otterson taking the affirmative, Dr. Armstrong on Mr. F. E. Fay the negative.
There were about fifty present at the Y. M. C. A. debating society last evening when the subject of "Prohibition" was debated. After speeches by Mr. A. Otterson, F. E. Fay, E. A. Craig, O. W. Shipton, W. S. Reason, Dr. Armstrong, O. T. Daniels, R. J. Messenger, W. H. Burns and Rev. Dr. J. A. J. it was decided by a large majority that prohibition was the best method of dealing with the liquor traffic.

Next week the subject for discussion is "Should Women Vote?" Dr. J. A. J. took to Mr. McDonald to respond. A resolution of sympathy with the Rev. Mr. Warren and a wish for his speedy recovery was moved by Mr. Fay and unanimously carried.
