OBITUARIES

Mrs. E. L. Balcom.

The death occurred at the Nova Scotia Hospital on Tuesday, Sept. 18th, of Clara Alberta, beloved wife of Ernest L. Balcom, of Paradise, in the fifty-eighth year of her age. The deceased had been in poor health for about a year, but up until the last few days her condition was not considered serious. The end came suddenly and was a severe shock to her family and friends.

Mrs. Balcom, whose kindly disposition won her many friends, was a member of the Paradise Baptist Church, a Life Member of the W. M. A. S., and was always active in all church work. She was also a valued member of the Women's Institute. In all these societies she will be greatly missed.

The service was held from her late home Friday afternoon, at 2 p.m., and was very largely attended. Her pastor, Rev. W. S. Smith, spoke comforting words to the bereaved family. The music was provided by the Autumn Leaf Rebekah Lodge, of which the deceased was a member.

The remains were laid to rest in Fairview Cemetery, Lawrencetown. At the grave the Rebekah Lodge performed their impressive service.

The deceased leaves to mourn, the husband, four sons and two daughters, Fred, Ralph, Harry and Marion.

Mrs. K. Cosman, of Riverdale—all of whom were present at the funeral—also five grandchildren, besides many relatives and friends. An aged mother and sister, Mrs. H. B. Bowles, of Truro, were unable to be present.

The floral tributes were many and beautiful: "Mother," wreath and circle, family; "Mother" wreath, Frank and Gladys; Spray "Grandma," Lorris and Gordon; Wreath, mother and sister Minnie; Wreath, Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Balcom and family; Wreath, Mrs. Drew and Mrs. Stoddart; Wreath, Rebekah Lodge; Three Links, Oddfellows; Willow, Women's Missionary Aid Society; Wreath, Miss Bridge and Institute members; Pansy Cross, Church Aid Society; Cross, Mrs. M. C. Daniels; Heart, Mrs. C. E. Darling and Bessie; Circle, Mrs. F. W. Bishop and Mrs. Baird; Pillow, Mrs. A. C. Charlton.

Albert D. Phinney.

One of Paradise's well known and highly respected residents in the person of Albert D. Phinney, passed peacefully away on Saturday, Sept. 28th inst., at the age of 73 years. He was born at Paradise, N.S., May 15th, 1856. He was the last surviving member of his family and his passing away after a long lingering illness of many years was borne with Christian fortitude. A man noted for his upright dealings and for his kindly welcome to each and every one. He will be greatly missed, not only by his immediate family circle, but by his many friends. In early life he was a successful contractor and builder.

The funeral service was held at his residence on Tuesday afternoon, the 11th inst., and was conducted by the Rev. W. Steadman Smith, of Paradise, who spoke from John 14-2nd verse and was assisted by the Rev. A. H. Whitman, of Lawrencetown.

Appropriate music was rendered by the male quartette: "Abide With Me," "The Homeland," "Face to Face." The pall bearers were Messrs. H. A. Longley, J. O. Elliott, F. W. Bishop and R. S. Leonard.

He is survived by his widow, four daughters and one son, Mrs. Ida P. O'terson, Bridgetown, N.S.; Mrs. John A. Denison, Longmeadow, Mass.; Miss Minnie R. Phinney, Springfield, Mass.; Jennie and Spurgeon, residing at home, and one grand-daughter, Mary Elizabeth Denison, Longmeadow, Mass.; also one nephew and two nieces.

Interment was at Fairview cemetery. The floral tributes were beautiful, showing the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

NEW CONCERN TAKES GORTON-PEW COMPANY

Gloucester.—At closing time today, there passed officially from Gloucester's business life, the Gorton-Pew Fisheries Company. Into their place, on Monday, steps the Gorton-Pew Fisheries, Limited, this organization having taken over the assets of the former concern, for the purpose of carrying on the fishing business previously engaged in by the old company.

The wharves, buildings, machinery, stock, and good will of the old company are included, these assets having been purchased by the Gorton-Pew Fisheries Limited, with the understanding that the business be carried on as formerly.

The Gorton-Pew Vessels Company, a subsidiary Company of the Gorton-Pew Fisheries Company, is also taken over by the new company in its operations.

VENIZELOS BIDS FAREWELL

One of the World's Greatest Statesmen Retires From Political Conflict.

The man who has been called the greatest statesman in Europe bids farewell, a final farewell to Greece and her public service. Eleutherios Venizelos made Hellas great. She flung away her greatness by following Constantine the Little. Eastern Thrace, Adrianople, Karagach and Smyrna have fallen from her hands since she renounced the wise leadership of Venizelos. Yet see how much she still retains of what he won for her. Epirus, Macedonia, Western Thrace and the most valuable of the Aegean islands are hers, because that noble Cretan of Athenian descent devoted the best of his life to the building of a greater Greece. Not until 1911 did he form his first government at Athens. By 1920 Greece had become territorially twice what she was at the time he began his administration—and that, too, in spite of the hostility of the sovereign and the withdrawal of support by the changeable electors.

What would have been the fate of Greece at the Lausanne conference if Venizelos had not gone there to plead her cause? The respect in which he was held by all the national representatives, besides his own acute mentality and rare persuasiveness, had much to do with saving Greece from payment of an indemnity to Turkey and shaping a treaty that permitted his country an honorable peace. His service was not only patriotic, but magnanimous, considering how the Constantinian faction of his country had treated him. With that he had ended his service and definitely withdrawn from Greek politics. He will not be sorry that he announced his retirement before the shame of the Epirote assassination of the Italian commissioner on the Albanian boundary fell upon Greece. Since the military execution of former cabinet ministers the Hellenic state has been no place for a statesman. Bitter, indeed, is the feud between the two principal factions, still calling themselves Royalist and Venizelist. Says the Athens correspondent of the Times:

"This feud is no mere matter of words, it is something vital, responsible for the wrecking of many Greek homes, for the breaking off of betrothals, and for the dissolution of business partnerships. Families find themselves so divided in political thought that father and son are estranged. Civil and trade organizations exist only within party lines. Even in the world of music and art the two factions quarrel. The press, which undoubtedly exercises great influence in Greece, behaves in a manner which appears shameless to the average observer, adding fuel incessantly to the flames of hatred."

That is a deplorable picture. It seems to indicate the crazy degradation of a people on the way to national suicide. Venizelos stands high above the ignoble strife. He may well bid good-bye to Greek politics, in his parting message he offers true advice. There must, he says, be only one watchword throughout Greece: "Cessation of civil strife and restoration of the normal functioning of the constitution." That cannot be done without a general election carried out freely under a government capable of securing a national coalition. Such a government is not in sight. Yet Venizelos will not despair of his country. He adds: "If only we manage to keep down our political passions, if each one of us Greeks ceases to be a Meleia, who was perfectly conscious of the evils she was going to commit, but whose passion was master of her reason, we may look forward to the future with confidence." These are big changes to turn upon the little "if." Yet it is right that the farewell word should end in the tone of hope. All is not lost. Above today's derangement is better, greater Greece may rise.—Boston Herald.

SEVEN YEARS OF TORTURE

Headaches and Indigestion Ended By "Fruit-a-tives"

The Marvellous Fruit Medicine Like thousands and thousands of other sufferers, Mr. Albert Varner of Buckingham, P.Q., tried many remedies and went to doctors and specialists; but nothing did him any good. Finally a friend advised him to try "Fruit-a-tives"—now he is well. As he says in a letter: "For seven years I suffered terribly from Headaches and Indigestion. I had belching gas, bitter stuff would come up in my mouth, often vomiting, and was terribly constipated. I took Fruit-a-tives and this grand fruit medicine made me well." 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At dealers or sent by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

GOVERNOR WALTON APPEALS TO STATE IN WAR ON KLAN

Declares That If Necessary He Will Arm Every Man in State Who is Opposed to "Invisible Empire."

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Sensational testimony exposing the alleged inner workings of the Ku Klux Klan in Oklahoma City and designed to show that the secret organization has directed mob violence, was made public by Governor J. C. Walton. The testimony was taken by the military court sitting here and was given out by the Governor "so that the people may know the purposes of the Klan." In a preface, Governor Walton declared the burden of the fight against the Klan had fallen upon himself and upon Aldrich Blake, his Councilor, making it necessary for him to appeal for financial aid.

"Every effort is being made to cripple us financially so that we cannot continue the fight," the Governor said, "I call upon the people who believe in a representative form of government immediately to assist us financially and to make all remittances to Mrs. Aldrich Blake, Oklahoma City, Okla."

"So far as I am concerned," Governor Walton declared, "I have crossed the rubicon and it is a fight to the finish." "Jewett (N. C. Jewett, Grand Dragon of the Oklahoma Realm of the Klan) and his crowd have turned the right over to the Klan newspapers and members of the Legislature. "Jewett and his 'Invisible Empire' shall not pass in this State. "If necessary I shall arm every man in this State, who is opposed to his Empire."

Walton will not despair of his country. He adds: "If only we manage to keep down our political passions, if each one of us Greeks ceases to be a Meleia, who was perfectly conscious of the evils she was going to commit, but whose passion was master of her reason, we may look forward to the future with confidence." These are big changes to turn upon the little "if." Yet it is right that the farewell word should end in the tone of hope. All is not lost. Above today's derangement is better, greater Greece may rise.—Boston Herald.

YOUR GROCER HAS IT

CENTENARIAN HAS OUTLIVED CHILDREN

Digby.—Mrs. Matilda Olivia Haines, of Freeport, celebrates the hundredth anniversary of her birth on August 28th. In the 150 year old story of Long Island, on which the town of Freeport is situated, this is the only instance of its kind.

Mrs. Haines was born in the third year of the reign of King George IV, and has lived through the reigns of William IV, Victoria, Edward VII., and thus far into the reign of George V. She has occupied the house in which she now resides for the long term of 78 years. Her eyesight is excellent, her mental powers alert and her physical resources are remarkable. She does her own baking, washing and most of the general work of the home. She follows current events in the daily papers and until recently read and enjoyed the Geographic Magazine. On her birthday a large number of letters and greetings were received from friends in various places, and at her home it was celebrated with valuable and appropriate presents.

Mrs. Haines was twice married. Her first husband was a Mr. Steadman, and of this marriage only two grandchildren survive—Dr. Gordon Sterdison, of Minnesota, and Mrs. M. Israel, of North Sydney. In 1855 she married Augustus Haines. Her son, Roland Haines, was married in 1885 to Miss Matilda Prime, of Freeport, and their son, Clarence, is a lumber merchant in Massachusetts.

None of Mrs. Haines' children lived

D. A. R. AGENTS IN ANNUAL MEETING

Weymouth.—The annual meeting of the D. A. R. station agents, members of the O. R. T., was held in Harkinson's Hall, Sunday afternoon. Thirty-five delegates were present from practically every station along the line, arriving in the early morning train and returning in the evening. They were guests at dinner and supper at the Goodwin Hotel. Senator G. D. Robertson, first vice president of the O. R. T., addressed the convention on business principles.

In the evening the delegates were guests at the home of the local agent, George P. Comeau, where they were treated to several musical selections by Mrs. J. D. Rice.

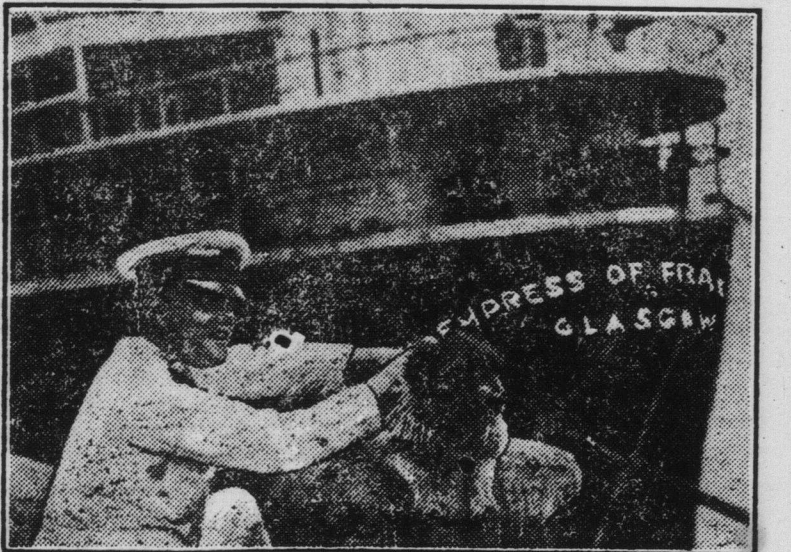

The following were present: Senator Robertson, S. Taverner, F. A. Pearson, John McDonald, W. V. Jones, S. B. Hicks, J. B. Waley, C. G. Coombs, W. W. Bent, G. P. Comeau, R. G. Winchester, K. S. "Billy" Finds His Master

"BILLY" is home at last; after years of travel in foreign lands, and long months spent in the mud, rain and water of the Canadian front in Flanders Billy has at last arrived at home—and his homecoming is a thing of romance. "Billy" is a dog, but a wise little dog and a friendly little dog. He was quite willing to make friends with all nice people, but there he stopped. No one could take the place of his rightful master, and for four long years "Billy" sought his lost best friend on the docks at Quebec. It was there Billy lost his master the day he arrived in Canada in company with a regiment of returning soldiers that came home on the "Empress of France," and since that day never an ocean ship has come to the Canadian Pacific wharf but that "Billy" was there to welcome it and to inspect every passenger that came off in the hope of finding his long lost owner. Everybody liked "Billy", and time and again a comfortable home was offered him, but back he came to the dock in search for the lost unknown, and seemed content to spend the rest of his life in that occupation. "Billy" became a public figure—his picture and his story got into the papers, and thus he found his home. Major W. C. Lamson, of the 28th New Brunswick Battalion, read the story and believed that "Billy" was "Don", a wire-haired terrier that had attached himself to the 28th, and had been accepted as a regimental mascot and personal friend by the entire battalion. So "Billy" was sent to Minto, N.B., and on his arrival the recognition between him and Major Lamson was mutual and enthusiastic. Billy's troubles and travels are over and he again answers to the name of "Don" as the soldiers of the old 28th knew him. Before him lies an honored age of restful ease as befits one who has ended his quest successfully.
