

HAMILTON v WINNIPEG.

Played at Hamilton on July 26th and 27th. Owing to rain the match was left a draw in anyone's favour. The large score of Hamilton in the second innings was chiefly due to loose fielding, as Hope was let off more than once. Score:

TORONTO v. WINNIPEG.

Winnipeg played their fifth match at Toronto on the two last days of the week just ended. A somewhat dead wicket was ready for them, which played very well until the bowling had hacked it up. The Winnipeggers were given the advantage of this by being sent in by the Toronto captain. Dundas was caught at short leg each innings, but not before he had rattled up a good score in the second innings, composed chiefly of leg hits. Wright was run out the first innings in an extraordinary way. Stratford drove Foy hard back to him, which the umpire, Judge Millar, received on his leg; Foy picked up the ball and took off the bails, thus running Wright, who had only followed up, out. In the second innings he secured a good total by hard low hitting. He was bowled by a shooter. Stratford, who is by far the best bat on the team, played a faultless innings: his defence was impregnable, and his hitting always safe. He gave no chances in the second innings; he was easily caught at mid-off. Jephson showed good form all through. His defence is good, and his drives always go between deep long on and square leg. He was bowled off his foot the first innings, but in the second he was caught finely on one of his favourite drives. Jukes exhibited a want of defence. Mitchell was well taken behind the wickets the first innings without scoring; in the second he made use of his admirable forward play, and played a good innings. Hood was easily bowled the first innings, in the second he played freely. The ball Foy bowled him on ticked the leg wicket, but knocked off the outer bail. Wylie helped Hood's stand greatly the second innings. Holloway was given out l b w by the relentless "Gasometer." The first ball took him the second. Hamilton showed no batting form. Neither the bowling nor the field were well managed. Smith bowled the most steadily, and Helmcken did the best work. Donaldson was not given a proper chance the first innings, and it would have been well had Daly, Merritt and Godfrey all been tried. Sproule should never bowl. He defended his wickets weakly and was easily bowled both innings. Merritt ran up 15 very nicely the first innings; something went wrong the second. Daly fumbled Jukes, so did Morrison the first innings, but the second he rattled up his score even more quickly than usual. Boulton played exceedingly well the first innings; in the second he lifted a ball which got up over his head and was caught by the wicket keeper. Godfrey hit hard both innings, and had several narrow escapes. Smith played excellent cricket both innings, and his style was very much admired. Brown got out first ball each innings. Donaldson was also unfortunate. Foy ran himself out, and Helmcken made a plucky stand the second innings. The bowling of Jukes was very effective, and that of Stratford had a tremendous break. The bowling was changed about a great deal, and no bowler was kept on for many overs at a time. Stratford had a little too much of it, and Blanchard not enough. The following is the score:
