

DEW DROPS

Vol. IV.

TORONTO, DECEMBER 15, 1900.

No. 50.

OFF FOR THE CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS.

Hurrah! it's nearly Christmas time, just one week more. This little boy and girl are so filled with the prospect of a holiday visit to grand-mamma's that almost every day in their play they pretend they have started on their journey. Arthur bundles up his papa's cane and umbrella in the shawl-strap and packs the things he wants to take in the valise, and then says he is ready to start. While little Dora takes up her work-basket and a big bundle of dollies' clothes, and with her doll in her arms says she is ready, too. Let us wish them a merry holiday.