BEYOND THE RIVER

Tim following beautiful lines from the Dublin University Magazine, will remind the reader of the last score in Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress.

Time is a river doop and wide;
And while along its banks we stray.
We see our lov'd ones o'er its tide
Sail from our sight away, away.
When are they sped—they will return
No more to glad our longing eyes?
They've passed from life's contracted bourne
Beyond the river.

'Tis hid from view but we may guess.
How beautiful that realm must be;
For gleamings of its loveliness,
In visions granted oft we see,
The very clouds that o'er it throw.
Their reil uprais'd for mortal sight,
With cold and nursile tinuous glow. With gold and purple tinings glow, Reflecting from the glorious light Beyond the river.

And gentle airs so sweet, so calm, Steal sometimes from that viewless sphere The mourner feels their breath of balm, And soothed sorrow drinks the tear; And sooinct sorte thing oar may gain Entracing sound that hither floats; The ocho of a distant strain, Of harps' and voices blended notes, Boyond the river.

There are our lov'd ones in their rest;
They re cross'd Time's river—now no more
They heed the bubbles on its breast,
Nor feel the storms hat sweep its shore.
But there pure love can live, can last— They look for us their home to share:
When we in turn away have pass'd,
What Joyful greetings wait us there,
Beyond the river.

Sir,—i feel a pleasure and a pride in bearing witness to the wonderful benefit I have derived by the use of your inestimable Olimment and Pills. For eight years I suffered unceasingly from attacks of erysipelas: large purple blotches — me all over my body; in addition to the unpleasant feeling of tiching and burning, which affected me both night and day, rendering life a misery to me, as well as to all around—so severe was the attack. I used several reputed remedies without deriving the least coessation to my misery. At lest, I determined to try yoar Olimment and Pills: after taking them for a few weeks, a visible improvement took place, and I feel considerably betier:—in three months, by continuing with your medicines, I was completely cured, and now enjoy the bess of health. The truth of this statement is well known here, hence there is no necessity for me to request secreey.

I am, Sir, yours respectfully, (Signed) GEO. SINGLAIR.
