INFAMOUS JOHNING .- We cannot, in decency, in conscience, refrain any longer from denouncing the gross and infamous system of jobbing going on in this county. In the midst of the calamity which has fallen upon us, we find the landlords trading upon the miseries of the people. The Board of Works is humbugged, the Government cheated, the poor defrauded. We must speak out; a gigantic tion of the choir books of the period. The cost of swindle is now carried on in the county of Sligo. getting up this work was so great that Schoeffer, The poor are not relieved by the vast grants of money given by a liberal ministry, but the sons of magistrates, of grand jutors, of parsons, rich farmers well to do in the world, comfortable tradesmen, all these are quartered upon the public. We saw, for instance, two men overseeing seven labourers; we have inspectors, paymasters, overseers-officials of all ranks and grades in every locality, not selected for their ability, but because they have interesthecause they can command the voices of the land-lords of the county. The jobbing that heretofore existed was but a joke, a mere trifle to what is now carried on. It exceeds all bounds and all limits. It is monstrous; we proclaim the fact to the world. We proclaim that here in Sligo-the very focus of misery-where famine is the daily guest at the neasant's table-where pestilence and death hold their ghastly revels-we proclaim, openly and publicly, that in this doomed locality, a set of men, removed from want themselves, possessed of means and resources beyond the reach of cheerless penury-are enjoying, and have been, from the commencement, enjoying the fat of the spoil. They get, and have been getting for months, the lion's share. The poor are neglected, plundered, tobbed .- Sligo Champion.

NON CULTIVATION OF THE SOIL IN MAYO. - Up to this moment, we may, without fear, assert that there have not been 100 acres of land prepared for seed in this county (we mean by the poor farmers), nor is there any appearance of a change in this fear ful course. In truth, we cannot blame the majority of the farmers, as they have been dependent on public works for maintenance, while a great numher who could prepare for the spring are either indifferent to consequences, or determined to forsake city and castle had not been commenced, but active this country when public employment ceases. Our preparations were making for it. The disembarkation position is really frightful in the extreme. - Mayo of the troops was safely effected by the vessels of Constitution.

From the locality which we have specified, specimens of the Tellina, Saxicava, Mytilus, Mya, Balanus, Psammobia, and Nucula, have been taken. The blue clay deposit has been observed in this country as high as 500 feet above the level of the sea; the height of the stratum from which the vertebre have been removed, may be safely estimated at about 100 feet above the same level. The Report is too long for the columns of the Berean; an abstract of that which is most interesting is all that we can find room for.
