

Business of the House

the person providing the statement against him but at least so as to permit him to know in what respect he is charged, in order that he might have an opportunity to meet those statements. Second, having in mind the degree of unanimity necessary to protect the people who are making the statements, surely these witnesses could be subjected to at least some measure of scrutiny or cross-examination either by this tribunal or by an agent of the tribunal. This would not go as far as I would like to go, but if they were adopted we might come a little closer to providing a more equitable system.

May I call it 10.30?

BUSINESS OF THE HOUSE

Mr. Churchill: I should like to ask the acting leader of the house if he can tell us whether the business for Monday and Tuesday remains as a supply motion.

Mr. MacNaught: On Monday the Minister of Finance will move to go into supply. I regret I cannot give any further details of the legislative program for the balance of the week. I understand that talks are going on between the representatives of the various parties and that early in the week a statement will be made concerning the program for the rest of the week.

It being twenty eight minutes before eleven o'clock the house adjourned, without question put.
