New York, Oct. 22.—A little weakness has developed in the sugar markets, both here and abroad. The estimate of F. O. Licht placing the European beet sugar yield at 6,570,000 tons, compared with 6,954,000 tons last year, did not show the shortage that was generally anticipated. Local refiners were well supplied with raw material and took little interest in such offerings as were reported. Receipts have slightly surpassed meltings for the last week, so that stocks tend to expand, although there still appears a decrease of about 50,000 tons in comparison with holdings at the four principal United States ports a year ago. Refined grades are quiet, wither agont on old orders being light, while there is practically no new business. All concerns now quote the same list prices.

> Marshall, Spader & Co. wired J. G. Beaty, at the close of the market:
> Quite a formidable display of depressing news was developed to-day. The market, after showing inexplicible steadiness and in fact some little strength early, finally responded fully to the unfavorable news. Much of to-day's pressure on the market was from short sellers. Market closel weak and appears to be badly in need of a toric.

> Wheat—There was some Chicago Gossip.

Ent is & Stoppani wired J. L. Antenda as follows:

Wheat—There was some improvement in the wheat tone this morning and local traders were moderate buyers. Dulness followed this and there was little doing ut till the last hour when early buyers became anxious and found the market barrof budders and prices soon lost their early gain and closing figures showed 1/2c loss for the day. The Northwest markets were lower and that contingent were good sellers on the decline. There appears to be no genuine strength in the market and to nating in the present level will necessitate constant support.

Crown Attorney Corley asked to have the information amended so as to have the evidence of Oct. 4 added. The portions of the evidence given in the investigation, upon which the charge of perjury was laid, were then submitted.

The first was the evidence of Alfred J. Clark, and Mr. Robinette objected that perjury could not be proven in that case, as Clark and Lewis were alone at that time, and it was simply a case of oath against oath.

Said Magistrate Kingsford: "Your argument is that it would be only a case of oath against oath?" and in this Mr. Robinette concurred.

"Well, you can only make the objection in law now and a ruling can be given after the evidence is heard," was the reply.

Mr. Armour then proceeded to read
