man, who was able to spend this out of his own pocket on account of political seal. But he was accompanied by this man who had the money, and money was, I should judge, lavishly spent. One man got $10 where I have for $5. Looking at what I have heard and that Mr. Watson states that he cannot claim the benefit of section 17, knowing the case as he does, I think we can say that we may reasonably suppose that the election has been affected by these transactions. That being so, the result is void with the effect that such costs, unless you agree about the cost, such costs as are occasioned by this action, will be borne by the respondent, and not by witnesses on charges not dealt with being allowed.

Mr. Blackstock asked for the dismissal of the petition, which Mr. Watson agreed to, saying that the evidence did not warrant pursuing the personal charges against Dr. Snider. With regard to the charges against Mr. Watson, Mr. Blackstock said they should not have been put in and he regretted very much that they were in the records.

Editor Donly Does Not Know.
Hal B. Donly, editor and secretary of the Reform Association of North Norfolk at the time of the election, was called. He kept no books for the asso-report of the examination of the respondent for discovery. Mr. Little had sworn that he did not know of anybody but Mr. Donly assisting him in the campaign. He did not know whether there was anything done to elect him other than his speaking at public meetings. From the copy of the examination it appeared that about all Mr. Little knew about the campaign was that he was running and was elected. It probably was a great mystery to him when it was all over.

David Rattenbury was called in connection with the charge. The witnesses were ordered from the court-room at the request of Mr. Watson. Mr. Rattenbury is a Liberal and canvassed for Little. When Peter Schram was called in, Rattenbury said he never saw him before in his life that he knew of.

Mr. Blackstock asked witness to sit down at a table and write, "I would a little rather you vote for Mr. Little than for Dr. Snider. I think Little will have a larger majority than Snider had at the last election."

Witness denied canvassing Schram in the store where he is employed on the night before the election. He did not ask anybody to mark a ballot in a particular way, nor did he promise Schram a slip of paper was produced. Rattenbury said the writing was like his, but he did not write it. Mr. Little then asked Dr. Snider if he ever sold his vote. The witness said he had not. Rattenbury then produced a slip marked ed like a ballot with a cross opposite Little's name and the figures 12 opposite Snider's name. Rattenbury said they had the counting of the ballots, and if they found a ballot marked 12 he would give witness $10. Witness said all right and left the store.

This Case Dismissed.
The chancellor observed that he could not see the object of spilling the ballot, as Rattenbury and Schram had not met each other before. How could Rattenbury tell him how Schram was going to vote? There was nothing said of how he would vote.

Mr. Watson asked witness what he meant by canvassing, and Schram said it was buying votes.

It was asked against oath, said the chancellor, in dismissing the case.

Mr. Blackstock did not ask for a favorable judgment on this charge. James Chambers, a farmer of Windham, said a day or so before the election Charles Baker came to him and offered him $10 if he would stay at home the day of the election. "I said, 'Give me your money,' and he gave me $5 and promised the other $5 the next day."

Arthur Dodd was with the witness and another man was with Baker. Witness did not know who they were.

To Mr. Watson, witness said he always voted Liberal, but did not intend to do so at all that time. He spoke of Baker as a Reformer, and Mr. Justice Teetzel asked him for his definition of that word. He meant, by a word that he voted some times one way and some times another. He was a Conservative, but did not like the man that time and intended to stay at home.

"You're on the fence," suggested Mr. Watson. "Just a trifle of it like whatever side would give you the most money."

The witness said he could neither read nor write, but could tell a $5 bill when he saw it. He never told him, as he did not intend to vote any way.

Mr. Blackstock: "What do you understand by voting Liberal?"

The witness: "For whichever I have mind to."

Another Appearance of Baker.
Then Arthur Dodd told of being with Chambers when Baker called. Baker called Chambers away a short distance, but Dodd did not hear any of the conversation. There was nobody with Baker.

Miss Dodd corroborated her father as to Baker coming to the house. Baker and the old gentleman went to the other end of the room and stood with their backs to the witness. Her father afterwards said that Baker had a slip of paper in his hand, which was the same Charles Baker with an unknown person. Baker asked him how his money was hanging out in the campaign. The stranger offered Waldie ten dollars but he got able to pay it. Waldie took the money. He had noticed on the Reform side, and Chas. Baker knew it. Nothing was said about the election. He had never seen the letter since, but would not go hunting all over Canada for him to repay the ten dollars.

Charles Chambers of Windham said he was cutting wood when Baker came into the bush. He was writing a letter and said, "This is a Christmas present." Baker gave him two dollars one before for voting. He had never seen the letter since, but would not go hunting all over Canada for him to repay the ten dollars.

Walter Grey of Windham was asked concerning the matter, but could not tell if Baker was an active worker or not. Witness met him previous to the election, but did not know how he was getting along in buying votes. Baker said he was not. He offered Grey a present of five dollars if he would vote Liberal.

Mr. Justice Teetzel asked witness if he had seen Baker carrying such an estimate of him that he could buy his vote for $5. Grey said he believed it was all over.

Witness told of Alex. Schram showing him $5 he got from Bte. Schram. He said that Baker gave him $5, remarking, "You know what to do with it." If he would say his name he would give him $5 more. He did not tell him how he would vote, and he voted as he liked. There was not money money by his vote.

Another Offer of Money.
Alva Beemer said Charles Baker offered him $5 for his vote. He told the witness he was not for sale. Then the witness was asked, "Baker's friend asked him if he would drive cattle and he was taken to Tillsonburg, where he was kept till after the election. He did not drive any cattle. The chancellor raised the question that the charge was not admitted. Mr. Blackstock said it was a charge relating to the election and should be admitted. His lordships ruled that the charge could not be admitted, which the other side did not do.

Charles Sovereign could not say positively whether Baker was an active worker in the election.

Mr. Justice Teetzel was one of the active workers in his booth.

Oliver Robertson was testified as to the activity of the party.

William Sutton, who went to the polls with Mr. Little, was called, but did not know Baker, nor did he know the late member.

Mr. Blackstock then asked for more evidence. He had been called to understand that agency would be admitted.

A consultation was held after which Mr. Watson said he would have to concede Baker's indirect connection with the election, although Mr. Little did not engage him. In the absence of Baker he could not present the evidence that had been presented, and he did not feel justified in asking the court to stand the charges against him. He did not know that he would be able to argue that the evidence could not be said to affect the election.

The judges then retired to consider, and returned in five minutes voiding the election.

TEACH CHILDREN TO GIVE.
Sunday School scholars should develop their Missionary Spirit.

The Toronto Baptist Sunday School Association was addressed last night in the Beverley-street church by E. A. Hardy, B.A., provincial secretary, on "Teacher Training."

The speaker said that this was an age of experts and the Sunday school required them as greatly as any other institution. From 10 to 20 per cent of the church people came from the Sunday school, and there it was necessary to give them a missionary spirit and the spirit of giving. If the children were allowed to develop without giving, they would grow up without of stings, which would last through their lives.

W. C. Senior, president, occupied the chair, and on the platform were Rev. T. B. Hyde and W. Mackenzie, the Lyric Male Quartet rendered several selections.

SIR WILFRID IN MONTREAL.
All Signs Point to an Early Dismissal of the House.

Montreal, Sept. 27.—(Special)—Sir Wilfrid Laurier will deliver a short address at Stree to-day, but it is not supposed that the prime minister will make any definite announcement regarding the elections, which are however probably close at hand. Government leaders are not in the habit of receiving country delegations, and few of any kind of party. Sir Wilfrid sent out wires to several senators and members of the house of commons to meet him here this evening, and all of these gentlemen responded. Hon. Charles Hyman and Hon. L. P. Brodeur were asked to meet their constituents, and Sir Wilfrid's remarks indicate that the premier is paving the way for immediate dissolution.

DECLINE TO SIGN COMPANY TOES
Jewelers Get the Limited Tickets, But Photographers Are Not On the List.

Hamilton, Sept. 27.—(Special)—The Hamilton Street Railway Company has apparently almost given up the fight over limited tickets until the matter is finally decided by the courts. To-day conductors were instructed not to be too strict in cases of dispute, and to give passengers the benefit of the doubt. The conductors have been furnished with a list of those who are entitled to limited tickets. According to the list, jewelers, stenographers, window dressers and the like are entitled to limited tickets, while photographers, bookkeepers and salesmen and the like are not.

It begins to look as if the Hamilton Street Railway Company and the Ontario Light Co. were getting ready to make war on each other. The Hamilton Gas Light Co. announced that it would cease to manufacture gas and supply natural gas, and would make use of the Ontario Pipe Line Company. The citizens fear that this may turn out to be a good thing, as it would mean that both concerns will join forces.

Pittsburgh capitalists have secured the lease of five acres of land for a malt house.

The colors will be presented to the drill hall or at the cricket grounds. Lord Asymer will perform the ceremony, and will be entertained in the evening at a dinner that will be given in his honor, and all the officers of the local garrison will be invited. The 12th Regiment will be asked to take part in the presentation ceremonies.

Says He's Front Toronto.
A man who masquerades under the name of Thomas McEwen, and who says his home is in Toronto, was arrested this evening on the charge of theft by Detective Coulter. When arrested the prisoner was carrying some wet clothes that had evidently been stripped from somebody's line.

The 12th Regiment of the militia held the first of its series of fall camps. The drill hall was well filled, and Mr. Martin Murphy was the assisting artist.

G. F. Armstrong, B.A., mathematician, was named as the master of the Royal High School, and Miss Jean H. Slater, youngest daughter of Jas. Slater, 233 South Carleton-st., was married this afternoon.

Willie Tobin, one of a gang of youths who were arrested with sticks and stones, was sent to jail for two months by the magistrate this afternoon.

Geo. Hart confessed to five charges of theft this morning, and was remanded for sentence.

ACTIONS SPEAK LOUDER.
Ottawa Free Press Calls on Mr. Ross to do Something.

Ottawa, Sept. 27.—The Free Press, the local government organ, published a lengthy editorial on the political situation in Ontario which is causing a lot of talk. Under the caption of "The Duty of the Hour," it says that the first question that arises in the intentions of the ministry. Will it bring on the by-elections on the 28th inst. or will it postpone them until there shall be an appeal to the electors? It says that it is an appeal to the electors for the first time since the election of the present government, and that whoever of these courses be adopted, it will be a landmark in the history of the ministry. New men of strength and courage, men of conviction and of capacity, should take the place of some who have fallen into discredit and whose conduct has led to the present state of affairs. An appeal to the consciences of the people was made in the party program, and the awakening to be effected must be preceded by action on the part of the premier, Borden, and the cabinet. Of what use is it to ask the electors, respectable and high-minded citizens, to support a government that is endeavoring to arouse them to a sense of respectability, when they are without representation in the parliament, the corruption that has prevailed the party have revealed in the election records are ended?
