LIQUOR LAW ENFORCEMENT.

Sheriff J. B. Hawthorne, chief prohibition inspector, arrived in the city this morning from Fredericton to attend to routine matters. He will return this afternoon. Regarding conditions in the province, he said everything was going along favorably. During the last week, in Fredericton, in spite of the crowds that gathered for the races, there was only one case of drunkenness in the province, and there was no sign of liquor courts and there was no sign of liquor. Since the appointment of Frank McClement as sub-inspector at Woodstock, he said, the enforcement of the act had been greatly improved. The chief was at St. Stephen this week and reported that conditions there were excellent.

The novitiate will come under the supervision of the rector, but will be in charge of Rev. Peter M. Costello, C. S. S. R., who will return here from Quebec.

COLLISION NEAR CAMPBELLTON; MAN IS KILLED

Special Agent O. B. Lawson of the C. N. R. Loses Life in Railway Crash.

Moncton, N. B., July 23—(Canadian Press)—C. N. R. special agent O. B. Lawson of Campbellton, was killed on the main line of the Canadian National Railways at Glenenna, twenty-eight miles west of Campbellton, this morning when a rear end collision occurred between the first and second sections of train No. 140. A freight was runned. Special Agent J. B. Floyd of Moncton, formerly of Sydney division, was injured and is now in the Campbellton Hospital. A brakeman, name unknown, was also reported injured. Four cars left the rails. Both trains were moving at the time it is said, and were running on schedule time. Particulars of the accident have not yet been received here.

IN COURT FOR THE 51ST TIME

One man, charged with drunkenness, was before the police magistrate this morning for the fifty-first time. The police found it necessary to bring him to jail in a cart, as the patrol was out of commission. He was remanded. Joseph Elliott, charged with appropriating to his own use goods supplied under mortgage by the S. C. C. R., was again before the court. J. B. Dever appeared for the department, and E. C. Weyman for the prisoner. William Ryan of the D. S. C. R. produced a box of tools previously mentioned in evidence. He said he got them from Mr. Wetmore of Wetmore & Orr. He identified the tools as those he had used in the case. To Mr. Weyman, he said the original amount of the loan was $188.59. This closed the case for the prosecution. On request of Mr. Weyman, the case was adjourned until Friday morning at eleven o'clock.

WERE SEEKING TO EXTRADITE HIM

Maine Report on Youth Who Committed Suicide Here.

The funeral of Fred L. Whidden, who committed suicide by hanging in St. John July 23, was held from the home of his mother in Old Town, Friday afternoon. Rev. Leonard G. March of the Methodist Episcopal church, officiated and the bearers were boys with whom he played or was in school. The internment was at Laventure. An Old Town man says that he escaped from the State Reformatory at South Windham, where he was serving a sentence for robbery and assault, he having been mixed up in a case in the western part of the state, not far from Portland, Maine. He was promptly apprehended by the authorities, tried and convicted. About a year ago he disappeared from the institution and was located after a search, in New Brunswick. The State of Maine was endeavoring to get extradition papers for his return granted by the Canadian authorities, when he was taken in the Musquash case.

PREMIER SPEAKS OF FORESHORES SALE MATTER

Premier Foster, accompanied by Alexander McMillan, J. G. Harrison and C. H. Eason, returned last evening after two weeks' fishing trip on the Nepisiguit. The premier explained to a Times reporter regarding the selling of 238 acres of the foreshore at Courtenay Bay that the government had received an application for the purchase of this land for industrial purposes and had decided to put it up at auction and sell what interest it had in the land, subject to certain restrictions, one of which was that at least $50,000 be spent in industrial development within the first twelve months.

THE STANDARD NOT OUT TODAY

The Standard was not published this morning. Last night the following statement was made to the Canadian Press Association and transmitted to all newspapers in Canada:

"Pending reorganization and the interests publication of the St. John Standard has been temporarily suspended. The expectation is that on re-issue, which is anticipated almost immediately, the Standard will resume its original standing as a straight Conservative paper."

It was said last night that the money required to release a carload of paper and to pay the wages was not available, so the decision to cease publication temporarily was reached. The situation appears to be that if the Conservative party desires an organ in St. John it must finance the Standard. Rumor today says the matter is likely to be arranged and the paper resume publication early next week.

ATMOSPHERE IS HAZY, BUT NO WORD OF FIRES

Fredericton, July 23—The atmosphere is very hazy and smoky, but the department of lands and mines reported this morning that the look-outs in the various parts of the province say that no forest fires are observable in any part. Yesterday was sufficiently clear to enable the observers to have a clear vision and no fires could be seen. The hazy appearance must be a hangover from preceding fires.

Speaking of Practical Things, The KROEHLER DAVEN-O Says a Lot

In these days of conservation the saving of space is one of the aims of the architect in planning a house. This might mean one or two less rooms than a family would demand.

To meet this possible need the Kroehler Daven-O comes in a bed or a couch. In other words, it is a twenty-four hour piece of furniture.

This store prides itself on its showing of the Kroehler in many sizes and finishes. Some are leatherette finish and others in Tapestry. Some long, others short. Some with pillow arm.

See window now in—then come in yourself and see just what we have. No obligation in any way.
