The Brotherhood is firmly established in England, Scotland, Jamaica, Australia, the West Indies, Japan, and there are chapters in South Africa and Mexico.

In 1838 the Brotherhood was established in Canada, and organized in 1890, and there are at the present time 283 chapters with 2,856 members, and 63 junior chapters with 574 members, stretching from Vancouver, B. C., to Sydney, N. S.

Since 1902 a travelling secretary has been working in the interests of the society, with the result that whereas in 1902 there were only 115 senior and junior chapters with 880 members, as a result of 12 years' work on the part of the society in general, now there are 286 chapters with 2,850 members, or an increase of 2,050 members, or an increase of 2,050 members in 12 years.

G. E. Bolt, of Vancouver, made some very happy remarks and thanked the local branch for their hearty welcome. Rev. W. Walsh, of Lindsay, Ont., the last speaker at the meting, spoke—in praise of the old Anglican church of which he was a member, because it was neither altitudinarian, latitudinarian, longitudinarian, nor even platitudinarian, longitudinarian nor even platitudinarian in its tenets. He loved it because of its broad, general principle of comprehensiveness. He further expressed himself delighted with the spirit prevading the meeting of the Brotherhood. In his opinion more than clergymen were wanted in the church. The church wanted men—men of the stamp of the members of St. Andrew's Brotherhood, He concluded his re

The first through the agency of the police, although he was thankful to say this was not often necessary in victoria; and the second was through the agency of a society like that of the St. Andrew's Brotherhood. Through the agency of the policizen to put the right sort of men to handle this very difficult problem of the clitize have at the head of administration. It is the man himself outside of all party politics that is required for municipalities. Laws may be passed, nay, the best men be elected for the purpose of passing them. Then we go and sit down and watch them work! And so far as these laws are concerned we can keep on watching.

"Consider what a law is. A law is have a law is have a law is a law of supply and demand. This law exists in moral centaring it exists in commercial centres. It is exists in commercial centres. It is therefore the duty of every man and the exists in commercial centres. It is therefore the duty of every man a

"The reason young men go wrong," continued the mayor, "is simply because they have not had the right hand of good fellowship held out to them." (Applause.) "Our duty, therefore, is to pick up these young men before they go wrong." In the U. S. A. there were always to be found good people to help in a work like the Brotherhood, and, remarked the mayor, "we cannot have too much of this kind of society in Victoria."

The mayor then tendered a most hearty welcome to the Bishop of Olymand to the conference. The address of welcome was given in the heartlest manner by Rt. Rev. the Lord Bishop of Columbia. The Brotherhood owes its name and origin to the United States of America. On St. Andrew's day, corporate communion of the members of America. On St. Andrew's Brotherhood. The is a corporate communion of the members of the St. Andrew's Brotherhood. The preacher at the cathedral at the 11 o'clock service was Rev. A. E. Bernays, the popular chaplain of the Mission to Seamen. Mr. Bernays, who comes from portland, Oregon, chose for the subject of or post of the two simple rules of daily prayer and weekly effort,' to lead others "nearer to Christ." These have ever since been the sole rules of the Brotherhood. It is essentially an Episcopal Society. For by "nearer to Christ." there is included the duty of each novice or member "to find the outlook of the church's ministrations. Bible classes, etc."

The Bishop then proceeded to give brotherhood would have derived a tronsferd and spread and moral welfare of cities if the subject of man's responsility for the subject of members of the Brotherhood is firmly establish.
