

CAMPBELLTON HAS BUILDING BOOM IN YEAR

Over Thirty-Five Buildings Erected During Year. Just Closed.

OUTLOOK FOR THE COMING YEAR GOOD

Many Fine Residences and Business Blocks Add to Beauty of Town.

Special to The Standard.

Campbellton, N. B., Jan. 9.—Considering the after-war conditions on the high price of labor and material few towns have shown the progress of Campbellton in the last year. On Water street a large two-story concrete store has been erected by a very neat brick, hardware, mercantile, costing in the vicinity of $25,000.

Opposite this a large wholesale store will be continued during the winter. This is now being used for the storage of groceries, confectionery and ice cream. The second story will be added to this building. It has already cost $12,000.

Mr. Shepard has erected a one-story brick building, which is now occupied as a tailor's outfitting establishment; the whole building is up-to-date in every respect. The front show windows are novel and considered perhaps superior to any town and equal to any city store. This building cost in the vicinity of $15,000.

Soldiers' Hospital.

To the west on the highlands, there is under construction the Soldiers' Memorial Hospital, which is a very large four-story building, built of brick and reinforced concrete, strictly fireproof. The roof is put on and work will be continued during the winter. Already nearly $50,000 has been expended on this beautiful structure, which will be creditable and a splendid monument to our town, and the brave heroes of Rossignac. It is contemplated that it will be ready for occupancy this year.

Many Fine Residences.

There has been a number of very fine residences built, perhaps the most expensive and up-to-date in the one now nearing completion at the west end of Rossignac street, owned by J. I. Boudreau (proprietor of the St. Louis Hotel); this fine residence is built and situated commanding a view of the river and harbor. Built of imported bricks and lined with granite the wall, and the interior is finished with imported chestnut. This beautiful residence is up-to-date in every respect. Cost upwards of $15,000.

Two very fine residences have been built on the highlands, one owned by S. S. Harrison, the other by Dr. McNichol; these two beautiful residences are large and roomy, built of wood, modern in every respect; few, if any, have a more commanding view of the famous Rossignac river and harbor. These fine residences have cost in the vicinity of $7,000 each.

Thirty-five Buildings Erected.

Upwards of 35 buildings, cottages and homes have been built last year, with all conveniences, such as town water, electric lights and sewerage systems. These buildings cost in the vicinity of from $2,500 to $4,000. Most of these are built under the Government Loan plan for I. C. R. employees.

BOILS SO BAD HAD TO GIVE UP WORK.

From the days of Job, up to the present time, boils have been one of the afflictions of the human race. All the positing and lancing you may do will not prevent them from breaking out again.

Boils are simply caused by the bad blood coming out; and the bad blood must be made pure before the boils will disappear.

Burdock Blood Bitters, which has been on the market for over forty years, is well known as the greatest blood medicine procurable.

It purifies the blood by removing every particle of foul matter from the system, and when this is done the boils vanish, and you should never be troubled again.

Mr. James Pugh, Newport Island, Que., writes:—“I was troubled with boils on my back and neck, so bad that I was obliged to give up work. I tried several remedies, but got no relief. Finally I went to a doctor, and he treated me for several weeks, and all without benefit. At last a friend told me of Burdock Blood Bitters, so I decided to give it a trial. I got three bottles, but before I had taken two the boils were all gone. It is eight months now, and I have had no return of the old trouble, and have never felt so well.”

B.B.B. is put on only by The T. M. B. Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

English Family Find No Difference

Returned to St. John from Upper Canada Because of the Cold.

What a city is one week it may not be the next. This is a fact which was discovered recently by a family from Great Britain, who arrived at St. John during the mild weather which prevailed just before Christmas. They passed through St. John on their way to an Upper Canadian city but stayed here long enough to enjoy a delightful day.

Two Organization Meetings Are Held

A re-organization meeting of the Junior Auxiliary of St. John's church was held yesterday afternoon at the close of the Sunday school session. Mrs. H. B. Patterson and Mrs. C. F. Francis addressed the Juniors. The Senior girls were also organized into a Senior Girls' Auxiliary. Many members joined these divisions of the church's Missionary Society. Miss Odia Aronson was in charge, assisted by Mrs. Patterson and Mrs. Francis.

FUNERALS.

The funeral of Captain James Adams was held Saturday afternoon from the Chapel of the Messiah, Hampton Station, after the arrival of the Halifax train from St. John. The body was brought to Hampton on the early train in the morning from Halifax and was taken to the church where it remained until the funeral service Saturday afternoon. The service was conducted by the rector Rev. C. Gordon Lawrence, and the church was filled with those who came to pay their last respects to their friend who was taken so suddenly and in the prime of life. Interment was in the Hampton rural cemetery and members of the Masonic Lodge, Columbian No. 12, with which the late captain was once affiliated, marched to the grave.

Besides his wife and son, James Adams, who arrived from Saskatchewan on the noon train, were his brother, Charles Arthur Adams, of New York, and George Lawry, of the Western Union system, Halifax who accompanied the body to Hampton.

The tributes included: Wreaths, sent by the Western Union office, St. John; officers and crew of the cable ship, Mackay Bennett; officers and members of Birton Lodge, A. F. and M. E. Halifax; Western Union cable system, Halifax; G. N. York of the Western Union, New York, and the Halifax Club.

“STARS” FIGHT TOO MUCH

Chicago, Jan. 9.—The resignation of Gino Marinuzzi, operative conductor and composer as artistic director of the Chicago Grand Opera Co. was announced today. He will resume his former position as one of the conductors.

“I could not stand the wrangling of the stars any longer,” he said. “They have given me nothing but sleepless nights. Their voices have been in my ears twenty-four hours a day—each one with a grievance, each one objecting to a role I have assigned to some one else. I cannot listen to their talking any longer.”

The Puzzle.

Janet, aged four, had only been in London two or three times (says the London Morning Post), and the journey was always the same—you took the electric train and you changed trains and you went up an enchanting magic staircase that climbed, and lo! you found yourself suddenly among the shops whose all the best clothes come from. But when a friend of Janet's mother promised to take them up to town in her car one day, Janet was troubled rather than elated. “Mummy,” she said just then, “they will Mrs. Brown's motor up the fairies' staircase!”

Went With Girls And Lost Money

Metropolitan New York has nothing on this city when it comes to modern doings such as have made the “Red Light” district the American metropolis talked about. The Loyalist City, in proportion to its population, has performers who are up and doing, and two young men, recent visitors from a nearby town, tell a story equal to any that comes from the big burg.

Singing the Sights.

They blew into town one day recently to see the sights. They were “road fellers” and each had a money roll of some sizeability. Entering a restaurant for their evening repast, they soon became interested in two men slingers. Goo goo eyes were soon working and the young men proved good “mashers.” They flashed that roll several times and it surely did look inviting. They were not long in finding out when the two damps were off duty, and at the hour named were on hand to keep a date.

When the two girls appeared at the door of the restaurant they gave the high sign, each threw out a wing, eagerly grabbed by the young men, and away they went.

They gathered at a resort recommended by a friend where wine and music were the order of the evening. When the young men came to the next day, they discovered their rolls were gone and they hadn't even the price of a car fare. They sought their friends of the evening, before and made a “holler,” demanding the return of their money, threatening arrest if they did not get it.

“Go on,” they said, “you make too much noise around here, we will tell your wives that. That settled it. There was nothing more said, only a complaint to the proprietor of the restaurant, who found no fault with the young men, minus their rolls, but wiser, returned home and the girls in the case bought tickets for the States.

ON SERIOUS CHARGE

On Saturday Kenneth Whelan was arrested on a warrant charging him with obtaining money on false pretenses. One drunk was also arrested.

A clean sheet was recorded for Sunday.

AS A WOMAN THINKETH

By HELEN ROWLAND (Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.) A Spinster's Views on Marriage

“What an OLD-MAID THINKS ABOUT MARRIAGE” That was the title of a little sketch in one of those popular magazines, to which all life is either a euphemism or a joke.

And, of course, the “old-maid's” views were all very caustic and scintillating and bitter according to the author.

Which is quite right—except for two things. First, there are no longer any such things as a dynastor, or hoop-skirts, or wiches, or hanches, or “old-maid's”—in the antique sense.

There are just married folk, and spinsters, and bachelors. And, of the three, I honestly think that the old bachelor is the most pitiable and unappy.

Second, a spinster does NOT think bitterly of marriage. She thinks of it—just as a bachelor does—a little wistfully, a little regretfully, a little longingly, a little shudderingly, a little doubtfully. But, she still has her sweet illusions. For “in order to be really disappointed in love, you must have been married, at least once.”

Third, then, according to all the spinsters I have known, is what a spinster thinks about marriage.

“Of course, if I had married the man I wanted and couldn't get (or lost or quarrelled with) I might have been divinely happy. IF—but what's the use of talking about THAT?”

“Perhaps I should have been happier, if I had married the man I could have gotten—and didn't take, or one of those I might have gotten, if I had tried.”

“But then, again, I might have been wretchedly miserable, tied to the wrong man, and longing for the right one.”

“Sometimes, when I meet a newly-married pair of young lovebirds, and look into their happy eyes, I know—oh, I KNOW!—what I have made of my life.”

“Home, and children, and somebody to ‘belong’—to care for, to love me!”

“And the building of the little love-nest—and the glory of the wedding!”

“And the working out of ambitions, hand-in-hand!”

“And the dreaming of dreams—together!”

“And, then again, when I meet a bitter, disenchanted wife, or a flirtatious husband, or hear a pair of old ‘human parakeets’ squabbling over their dinner in a restaurant, or squabbling behind the palms at a reception, I think of what I have ESCAPED!”

“And I am quite content, and glad, to go back to my nice, remunerative job, and my cozy den; and not to have to ask a man, ‘How do you like life very lonely—sometimes. And a little empty.’”

“And yet, it's very peaceful.”

“Perhaps I SHOULD have married, IF—but—and yet—I wonder!”

That is what a spinster thinks of marriage—

When she isn't listening to some married woman's wail of woe, or patching up a domestic quarrel, or playing Lady Bonnell to some other woman's kiddies.

Vigilance Over Whiskey Cargo

In Addition to Other Guards Local Police Are Protecting 40,000 Cases at Sand Point

A vigilance greater than was ever accorded the Banks of England is being maintained at the bright shed on the west side, when the cargo from the Cabotia is being housed. The 40,000 cases of whiskey, the brands that have made the Scotch distillers famous, look inviting and are tempting to the fellow willing to take a chance.

Local Police Employed

Recalling the experience of last year when the Cabotia brought over 50,000 cases and many were stolen from the shed, an extra guard has been engaged to watch the goods on this occasion. City police are employed inside the warehouse, six being on duty yesterday, to keep a careful watch, but a case or two is stripped away from the lot.

Special Watch Cars

The special police of the C. P. R. keep an eternal eye on the loading into cars. An officer stands at the loading car, and two patrol the track on the outside of the shed in an endeavor to prevent boxes being hand-carried out from inside the car.

When the car is loaded with liquor and moved out to the train, it is carried to the west, C. P. R. police still follow it and keep close guard on the precious liquid.

Lifting Goes On

Despite all this vigilance on the part of the faithful officers, many boxes of the contraband have been stolen, Saturday being a particularly disastrous day. The company responsible for the liquor while in transit. A special hunt was made by officers in an effort to locate several boxes that disappeared, but to no avail. The boys will have some mysterious way of securing it, especially when a cargo such as the Cabotia strikes port.

Perils of Hunting The Wild Heifer

Special to The Standard. Lunenburg, N. S., Jan. 9.—After two days and part of one night spent on Trear's Island, Joseph Collins and Charles Sprague succeeded in rounding up and capturing the last of the half-wild cattle left on the island—a heifer that had eluded all efforts at a roundup. The heifer swam back and forth between Trear's and Lion's Island, and when finally nearly exhausted, turned on her pursuers, butting Collins to the ground. Recovering his balance he struck the animal sufficiently hard to bring her to her knees after which she was hoisted and brought to Lunenburg by Gifford Groux in his motor boat, and delivered to the owners, J. M. Pike, Jr. & Company.

GEORGE MARGETTS RECEIVES PROMOTION

George Margetts the manager of the Canadian Universal Film Company's local office is to be promoted.

New Manager Comes To St. John

H. L. Craig Will Take Over Management of Canadian Universal Film Co.

H. L. Stern, general sales manager for Canada of the Canadian Universal Film Co., and H. L. Craig, who is to take over the management of the local office, arrived in the city last evening.

Mr. Craig is a native of Perth, N. B., and one of New Brunswick's pioneers in the film game who has made good in what is fast becoming an important industry.

Much Impressed

Mr. Stern who was formerly with the Universal company's headquarters in New York, expressed himself as much pleased with St. John and especially with the open manner and sociability of its residents. He is to begin today a coast to coast trip.

Mr. Stern is much impressed with the Canadian motion picture business in his opinion they compare very favorably with those across the line. He finds that the Canadian public have a very good idea of what they want in the form of films. They ask for the best and patronize the houses which show them.

In the larger theatres particularly he has observed that careful attention is given to providing the very best of music.

The British Films

Speaking of British films, Mr. Stern was of the opinion that they compare very favorably with those of America. He anticipates that the bigger companies in a very few years will establish studios in Canada to meet the competition fast being established by the English film companies.

Ten Years' Absence

Mr. Craig expressed himself as more than pleased to get back to the old homeland after an absence of nearly ten years. He takes great pride in the progress of the province. He first started out with Torrie Brothers of Moncton touring the country. He then went to Carleton Place, where he bought a moving picture theatre and ran it for three years. After that he came to this city with the General Film Co. later going to the Parthe exchange in Denver. In 1918 he joined the ranks of the Universal Film Company in the capacity of city salesman in Kansas City and has now been promoted to the management of the Canadian company's St. John office. Mr. Craig intends continuing the Universal company's policy of giving St. John and the very best pictures that money and brains can produce.

The new manager is planning a very interesting contest in connection with the Universal's latest production “Outside the Law” which stars beautiful Priscilla Dean in a most appealing role.

Girls who cannot sing the old songs would be loved better if they also declined to tackle the new ones.

Most of man's hero worship is based on himself.

If Hair Is Turning Gray, Use Sage Tea

Here's Grandmother's Recipe to Darken and Beautify Faded Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance and restores it to its natural color and lustre of youth.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture, you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses “Wyeth's” Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it restores so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustreous.

British Stars To Come To America

Producers Are Inducing English Players to Cross Atlantic—Popular in U. S.

By M. H. TILTMAN. (Copyright, 1921, By Cross-Atlantic.) London, Jan. 9.—British film producers are trying to circumvent an attempt on the part of America to induce rising film stars here to cross the Atlantic as soon as their present contracts are completed and appear in American productions.

Since the armistice, British films have made rapid strides, in many cases with the help of technical experts from California, and as a result there are today in the studios around London twenty or thirty players who are clearly destined to become public favorites.

It is these coming actors and actresses that the large film corporations across the Atlantic are relying on to replace recent losses in the ranks of American stars and make good the setback the American film suffered on the English market when the standard of home-made productions improved.

The firm that is taking the principal part in this raid on British studios is the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, whose agents here have made tempting offers to at least three leading players.

Another factor which is operating in favor of the offer is the popularity here of the British stars who are now appearing in American films. Players have discovered that you are just as popular with English “fans” if you play in Los Angeles as when the picture is produced in London. Thus the great fear of the first stars to cross the Atlantic is that they would lose popularity by their action, no longer assist.
