FINANCIAL STRINGENCY RESULT OF CONDITIONS.

J. GRIFFIN TALKS ON THE MONE-TARY SITUATION.

J. Griffin, of St. Thomas, a partner in the firm of J. Y. Griffin & Co., is in the ness visit. Speaking yeshaily News reporter Mr at many people seemed under a misapprehension e of the business of his business of the firm had two years ago to Swift & Co., of Chicago. That sale included their house here. The firm was interested in farm lands all over the prairie provinces and in real estate in Fort William, Winnipeg, Nelson and Vancouve Recently they had organized as the Do minion Wholesale and Produce company with headquarters at Winnipeg and branches at Brandon and Calgary. Mr. Griffin is just from Winnipeg and on being queried as to the general prosects in the northwest provinces said: the weather is favorable for the next few days the crops, coupled with the very high prices they are likely to command for wheat, oats and barley, will make returns to the northwest and Manitoba farmers fully equal to those of last year. As to the financial stringency I think the banks are fully justified in husbanding their resources and keeping enough money on call, at New York elsewhere, for any emergency. Of course if there proves to be a good crop it must relieve the monetary stringency but in any event there is no cause for alarm, for the dominion, at no period of its history, was in better financial position than it is at the present moment. Yet, owing to over speculation and, possibly, to extravagance in living there has been caused a stringency in the money market that really should not have occurred. However, it will have the effect probably of teaching people the value of money. I say so because I think credit has been too cheap or, in other words, money has been too easily obtained and you may rest assured that don't make any mistake when I repeat that the banks have been justified in the course they have taken. 'The banks, after all, are but custo dians of the people's money and the public would expect them to keep a restraining hand on the outflow of money under existing conditions. Yet we must not forget that at the rate Canada is now froging ahead we will have quickly recovered our lost position.'

OTTAWA BUDGET OF NEWS

Australia's Preferential Tariff-Valleyfield Arbitration
Ottawa, Sept. 5 — According to advices from J. S. Larke, Canadian commercial agent at Sydney, the government has under consideration a new tariff which in-volves striking changes. The preferential tariff has now been extended to cover a large variety of lines. It will cover nearly all lines now exported to New Zealand from Canada as well as others in which a trade may be done. The Fiji islands are desirous of obtaining a tariff preference in Ausralia for bananas and other products, but Mr. Larke does not think the Common wealth will grant the request. He, however, believes that such an arrangements might be made with Canada applicable to bananas, pineapples and other products. The department of the interior has just issued a new map of the railway belt of British Columbia, an addition which shows all timber limits. Representatives of the workmen and employees on the conciliation board in contion with the Valleyfield strike having failed to agree upon a third party, minis r of labor Lemieux has appointed Hon. Fortin, at one time M.P. for Laval, to act as chairman of the board. A well known resident of Ottawa passed away yesterday at his home, 450 Somerse street, in the person of Thomas Borbridge, who formerly conducted a large dry goods and tailoring establishment on Sparks street. He was 79 years of age. About 12 years ago he went to Brandon to manage the branch there of S. and H. Borbridge, harness manufacturers of this city. was quite well throughout the west. About six years ago he returned to Ottawa and retired from commercial life. For the past five years he has been in declining health week suffered a stroke of parlallys to mourn his loss he leaves a and three sons, Thomas, manager of the Calgary Sadlery Co., Edmund of the Hugh Carson Co. Ottawa and Walter M., commission merchant of Brandon. He was a brother of Henry Borbridge of the S. and H. Borbridge Co.

resenting the government. It was or two many promising mineral claims in this camp have been bought or bonded by the large compenies operating in the Boundary. Especially has this been the case this year, when the Consolidated Mining and Smelting company of Can ada, now operating the Snowshoe group bought the dozen properties of the Phoenix Amalgamated Copper Mines, outrigh and at the same time secured bonds on some score of other claims in this camp. These properties adjoined those of the Granby company, the Snowshoe or the Dominion Copper company and the War Eagle is now being actively developed, a large air compressor having been taken to that property this week, to facilitate

In addition to the above, however, in the last two weeks or a month 15 or 20 more mineral claims have been taken under bond by three or four large concerns already operating in this section. The Consolidated company secured bonds on the Midnight, Joker and Nos 1, 2, 3, and 4 claims, among others,, the Mdinight adjoining the companys' Snowshoe mine. Active work is now going on at the Midnight. on the northeast.

The Granby company secured a bond on the Bullion, Keystone and the Monte group, adjoining its own claims on the north as well as those of the Dominion Copper company. A force of men is now employed on the Bullion opening up the

The prices to be paid for these properties have not been made public yet, but it is known that for the most part several months or a year have been given the company in which to prospect before making considerable payments.

FINE WEATHER ASSURED

MEANS COMPLETE SUCCESS OF COMING FRUIT FAIR.

HENRY WADE HAS TAKEN CHARGE OF MINING EXHIBITS.

Consultation with the weather-wise elicits the prediction that fine weather will prevail during the week of the fair. This is a consummation devoutly desired, and will assure a complete success for the fair from every standpoint. No effort is being spared by the directors to carry out the plans arranged early in the year, and the indications oftime. The number of entires already in the hands of the secretary warrants the assumption that every available inch of space in the buildings will be reugired for the display, and emphasizes the fact that before another exhibition is held additional room will have to be provided. This is as it should be, and should encourage the directors in an endeavor to make provision for the entension necessary. The floral exhibit this year promises to be larger and more magnificent than any heretofore seen in Nelson. All of Nelson's residents are lovers of and engaged in the cultivation of flowers, and many more than usual are taking an interest in the coming fair. Under the able and careful supervision of Mr. H. Selous, ample room has been allotted for the display in this department, and every provision is being made for the proper arrrangement of exhibits, without having to crowd them into a confined space. Professional florists are also taking an interest in the exhibition, and there is promise of some beautiful floral designs from outside points as well as from Nelson. Should the temperature continue mild, and no early frost intervene, this department will no doubt be 2,400 51,800 one of the most admired in the building. Mr. Henry Wade, well known to all the mining men in the district, has undertaken the task of collecting and arranging the mineral exhibits. Mr. Wade's knowledge and experience ensures success in this department, and the direc-tors request that all to whom he may apply for samples will respond cheer-fully and liberally, with the understanding that all samples will be returned if so desired.

The special prize list is worthy the attention of all intending exhibitors. It covers all departments, and the prizes offered are well worthy of competition and will no doubt be a source of pleasure and gratification to the fortunate winners. Some very handsome pieces of cut glass are offered by the Belding Paul Silk Co. for fancy work in silks man-ufactured by that firm. These prizes should appeal to the ladies, and will no doubt result in keen competition. The Corticelli Silk Co. also offer a handsome piece of cut glass for similar work Particulars regarding the work, and the conditions governing these competitions will be cheerfully furnished by the secretary. As a matter of fact the directors appear to have had the ladies well in mind when arranging the special list, as the greater number and most valu-able prizes are offered for exhibits in their lines of labor.

With the view of affording residents on the West Arm and Kootenay lake points an opportunity of attending the fair without having to remain in the city over night, the directors are endeavoring to arrange a special service to reach Nelson in the morning, returning to these points in the even Definite information will be given regarding this as soon as arrangements are completed.

There will no doubt be a large influx of visitors to Nelson during fair week, and as the hotel accommodation is likely to be overtaxed, the directors will residue it a favor if citizens who have consider it a favor if citizens who have vacant rooms, and who are willing to rent the same at reasonable rates, will notify the secretary as soon as possible. Nelson's big fair—September 18-19-20.

TORY FLECTION METHODS

INTERESTING ECHO OF LAST GEN ERAL ELECTIONS.

HUGH GRAHAM'S CONTRIBUTION OF $29,000 FOR QUEBEC DISTRICT.

Leader Borden in his tour of Quebec was met with some interesting reminiscences of tory electoral methods in that province, methods, which according to the sworn testimony of Hugh Gra ham, of the Montreal Star, had the approval of the same Mr. Borden. certainly appropriate that the electors of Canada should have some clear con-ception of what tory leader Borden means by purity in elections. The following synopsis of the documents in the of L'Evenement company versus case of L'Evenement company versus Hugh Graham, of the Montreal Star throw a flood of light upon the standard of electorial purity aimed at by the tory leader. His position was that money for election purposes must not be handled by men in the party in public The other claims adjoin the Granby group life, but by friends acceptable to the

The whole story, as the Montreal Herald remarks, may be accepted as a valuable contribution to the science of winning elections with prayers:

On December 24th, 1904, the L'Evene ment company, of which senator Landry was managing director, took action against Mr. Hugh Graham of the Montreal Star, to recover the sum of $2,-389.33 for certain services rendered to the conservative party during the electoral period which ended on November 3rd, 1904. The first three allegations made in the statement of claim show the nature f these services.

"1.-At the beginning of last October in the city of Quebec the plaintiff agreed to publish and distribute on ac-count of the defendant, his newspaper L'Evenement in eight pages instead of in four pages, and that from October 12th until November 3rd inclusively.

-The defendant agreed to pay for the said publications and distri the sum of $400 a week for the first five housand and $300 for each other additional 5,000, the whole to be paid on No rember 4th.

"3.—The plaintiff had accordingly published in Quebec and had distributed 10,000 copies of L'Evenement in eight pages during three weeks and two days which, on the basis of the price agreed upon, made a total of $2,333.33. Mr. Hugh Graham, the defendant, contested the claims of the "Compagnie de L'Evenement" and, on Feb uary 22nd, 1905, pleaded, among other things, that: "7.—The defendant and Mr. L. P. Pelletier, both belonged to the conservative party and in last September and met each other several times and, in view of the approaching federal elections, busied themselves in organizing the conservative party in the district of Quebec. "8.-As a considerable sum was need ed to organize the struggle in the interest of the conservative party in the district of Quebec, of which the said Mr. Pelletier was the organizer-in-chief and called himself such, the said Mr Pelletier asked the defendant for the funds which he alleged to have needed to organize the election with any chances of success for his party in the district of Quebec.

"9.—The defendant was strongly attached to the conservative party, success he wished to assure and after a number of pourparlers with the said Mr. Pelletier they both drew up a state ment showing the minimum and the maximum needed in each county of the district of Quebec in order to have any chance of success in the struggle,
"10.—The said Mr. Pelletier furnished these figures, very high, for that matter, to the defendant and they included all that was to have been necessary to organize the fight in the district of Quebec, including L'Evenement, the official organ or other expenses of the same nature that he said Mr. Pelletier would deem proper or necessary "11.—As soon as the defendant and the said Mr. Pelletier came to this agreement, the latter began to draw on the defendant and obtained very large sums from him. "12.—Not only did the said Mr. Pelletier receive in this manner the min-imum amount agreed upon, but he exceeded by $3,800 the maximum amount fixed by himself as heretofore mentioned for all the needs of the district of Quebec."

On March 7th, 1905, the "Journal" of Montreal, in taking leave of its readers shot the following shaft among the readers of L'Evenement: "We have not, as has L'Evenement, any claims to make against the conservative party for services rendered others. Where loyalty has a price one must needs be at least Mr. Hugh Graham was examined un-

"Q.—But that is the committee which you mean in your answer? A .- No; the committ—perhaps I better do into a detailed explanation of the matter, because it is a little involved unless it is so. About the 24th of October 24th of October-I received a letter from Mr. Borden, the chief, telling me that moneys must not be handled by any person. I believe-I won't quote the exact words, but to the effect that moneys must not be handled by men in the party, in public life, or words to that effect, and that it was better to have, in each province, persons appointed who were in every way acceptable to the party, locally. I sent a copy of that to all the different provinces where I was giving my assistance. "Q.-What business has Mr. Borden name to do with that? A.—With what:

"Q.—With the committee in question .-Mr. Borden asked persons to be ap pointed who were acceptable to the local friends." "A-In a letter dated 26th of August here with filed, it was intimated by Mr. Pelle tier that the party owed him nine hundred iollars. I called to see Mr. Pelletier early in September, I believe it was, and spoke to him about the work. He referred to his claim against the party. I assured him that in due time this would be righted and said: I believe it was nine hundred dolars. Oh, no, Mr. Pelletier said, drawing a memorandum book from his pocket, it has risen to $1381.70. I understood these were for disbursements, cab hire and such things. Well, I said, certainly you will have it Mr. Pelletier; and on the 8th of October I sent him $1381.20 to cover the $900 and the increase of $481 that had taken place in the following five or six days. On the 10th October $2000 directed to Mr. Pelletier; on the 17th, $3000 to the committee to Mr. Pelletier's committee, through Mr. Biroux; 21st of October, $3000 in same 24th, $4000 in the same way; 25th, $5000 i the same way; 29th, $4000 in same way.

"The main reason why I took that course was because this organization has cost me so far $900 more than I have received and there is one thing I dislike above all others, it is to be asking people for money all the time. CORNISH MINER EARNS NEW V. C tisked Being Blown to Pieces by Dyna mite to Save Comrades It is not unlikely that the first recipie the new order instituted by king Edward for deeds of bravery and self-sacrifice by miners will be William Pooley, shman, who works as a colliery sink r at Treherbert in South Wales.

This man deliberately risked death by dynamite in order that his five comrades might escape the effects of an explosion intended to bring down masses of coal. Pooley was on the early shift in the paft and with his comrades had charged six holes with dynamite and ignited the fuses. The whole party then got into the cage to ascend to the surface. The signal was given to haul up the cage, but the cage for some unexplained reason remained stationary.

Telling his story to an interviewer Pooley said: "I realized that the fuses were being consumed and that the shots would go off shortly, so I shouted, 'For God's sake, chaps, let's pull the primers (which are the means of exploding the dynamite charges) out.

"I jumped out of the cage to the botton of the shaft and commenced extracting the primers. While doing this the cage with the other men inside commenced to ascend and one of them shouted a signal to stop, so that I could jump in. I shouted in reply 'No, go on, I will try and manage,' and went on pulling out the primers. I succeeded in getting five of the six primers to deal with the other one. I crouched up the side of the shaft and threw my oilskins over my face to prevent my face ond eyes being burnt by the explosion.

I had hardly done this when the charge went off and down came a lot of stones some of whch fell on my head and side The primers with the detonator caps which had pulled out, also exploded ab feet. Afte all the noise was over I realized that I had had a marvellous escape with my life, and thanked the Almighty for sparing me to come back to my wife and children."

granted to give the Standard Oil com-pany time to prepare statements from its books and records, which are desired by those in charge of the prosecu-tion. These statements it was claimed would do away with the necessity of bringing all of the books of the various companies to the federal building and would ultimately expedite the hearing. The testimony to be taken in New York will be largely of a documentary character and will be reported back to the United States circuit court in St. Louis where the government's suit to dissolve the so-called 'oil trust" was

IMPROVEMENT NOTICED IN COKE SITUATION MANAGER THOMAS OPTIMISTIC OF

The principal news of the week is of relief in the coke siutation. Manager Chomas of the Dominion Copper company passing through Nelson on his return from a visit to Coleman, says that the coke situation is much improved. He is dealing altogether with the International Coal ompany. Through a series of accidents and through a temporary shortage of labor, which has since been got over, the coke was short and he was forced to blow out two of his three furnaces. Both were blown in again on Friday night. C.P.R. is opening up their coalfields at Hosmer but cannot ship under the old
